WHEREAS, the Legislature finds that delays in licensing board responses to complaints of misconduct by licensees and unlicensed practice that result in frustration on behalf of the public, licensees, and boards is caused by a lack of personnel to assist with compliance issues; and

WHEREAS, licensing boards collect and accumulate sufficient funds from the fees charged to licensees to meet the cost of compliance and enforcement personnel, but these same boards often lack the authority to expend the funds that they collect; and

WHEREAS, the delayed processing and the accumulating complaint backlog have a deleterious effect on the productivity and reputation of the licensees; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature finds that certain licensing boards need to be granted temporary spending authority to address the delayed processing and accumulated complaint backlog; and

WHEREAS, a uniformly flexible approach to license renewal scheduling would also reduce frustration on the part of licensees and the public that they serve; and

WHEREAS, inflexible examination dates for license applicants in the plumbing and electrical fields have caused undue hardship with no discernable public benefit; and

WHEREAS, the Committee on Business and Labor desires to alleviate these and other related problems by appropriating funds for certain professional and occupational boards that need additional compliance specialists, by allowing the Department of Commerce to establish license renewal dates by rule, and by allowing electrical and plumbing apprentices to take the examination required for licensure before the apprenticeships expire.

~~(c)~~(a) Vehicles subject to the provisions of 61-3-313 through 61-3-316 must be assessed as of the first day of the registration period, using the ~~average trade-in or wholesale value as of January 1 of the year of assessment of the vehicle as contained in the most recent volume of the Mountain States Edition of the National Automobile Dealers Association (N.A.D.A.) Official Used Car Guide, the National Edition of N.A.D.A. STATEMENT OF INTENT

The legislature intends that the Montana Supreme Court's decision in In the Matter of the Application for Beneficial Water Use Permit Nos. 66459-76L, Ciotti, 64988-g76L, Starner; and Application for Change of Appropriation Water Right No. G15152-s761, Pope, 53 St. Rep. 777 at 784, 923 P.2d 1073, be negated by the passage and approval of this bill. The legislature further intonds that the portion of tlie district court decision in United States v. DNRC (1st Judicial District, Montana, June 15, 1987), No. 50612, (see also the concurring opinion in the Montana Supreme Court's decision in In the Matter of the Application for Beneficial Water Use Permit Nos. 66459-76L Ciotti, 64988-g76L, Starner; and Application for Change of Appropriation Water Right No. G15152-s761, Pope, 53 St. Rep. 777 at 784, 923 P.2d 1073), determining that in the absence of a quantification of existing water rights, the department of natural resources and conservation does not have the authority to issue a permit for a new wator application when questions of senior conflicting claims are raised, be negated by the passage and approval of this bill, specifically by the passage and approval of the amendments to 85-2-311. A statement of intent is desired for this bill in order to provide guidance to the department under 85-2-311 concerning implementation and interpretation of the physical availability of water and reasonable legal availability of water criteria. To find tbat water is available for the issuance of a permit, the department shall require a three-step analysis involving the following factors: identify physical water availability, identify existing legal demands on the source of supply, and compare and analyze the physical water supply at the proposed point of diversion with the existing legal demands on the source of supply.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Declaration of policy and purpose. (1) Pursuant to Article IX of the Montana constitution, the legislature declares that any use of water is a public use and that the waters within the state are the property of the state for the use of its people and are subject to appropriation for beneficial uses as provided in this chapter.

(2) A purpose of this chapter is to implement Article IX, section 3(4), of the Montana constitution, which requires that the legislature provide for the administration, control, and regulation of water rights and establish a system of centralized records of all water rights. The legislature declares that this system of centralized records recognizing and establishing all water rights is essential for the documentation, protection, preservation, and future beneficial use and development of Montana's water for the state and its citizens and for the continued development and completion of the comprehensive state water plan.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2790 1997

(3) It is the policy of this state and a purpose of this chapter to encourage the wise use of the state's water resources by making them available for appropriation consistent with this chapter and to provide for the wise utilization, development, and conservation of the waters of the state for the maximum benefit of its people with the least possible degradation of the natural aquatic ecosystems. In pursuit of this policy, the state encourages the development of facilities ~~which~~ that store and conserve waters for beneficial use, for the maximization of the use of those waters in Montana, for the stabilization of ~~stream flows~~ streamflows, and for ground water recharge.

(4) Pursuant to Article IX, section 3(1), of the Montana constitution, it is further the policy of this state and a purpose of this chapter to recognize and confirm all existing rights to the use of any waters for any useful or beneficial purpose.

(5) It is the intent of the legislature that the statutory determinations for issuing new water use permits and authorizing changes do not require the adjudication of all water rights in the source of supply. The legislature recognizes the unique character and nature of water resources of the state. Because water is a resource that is subject to use and reuse, such as through return flows, and because at most times all water rights on a source will not be exercised to their full extent simultaneously, it is recognized that an adjudication is not a water availability study. Consequently, the legislature has provided an administrative forum for the factual investigation into whether water is available for new uses and changes both before and after the completion of an adjudication in the source of supply. To allow for orderly permitting in the absence of a complete adjudication in the source of supply, permits issued under this chapter are provisional. A provisional permit is subject to reduction, modification, or revocation by the department as provided in 85-2-313 upon completion of the general adjudication.

(6) It is the intent of the legislature that the state, to fulfill its constitutional duties and to exercise its historic powers and responsibilities to its citizens living on and off reservations, comprehensively adjudicate existing water rights and regulate water use within the state. It is further the legislature's intent that the state, to the fullest extent possible, retain and exercise its authority to regulate water use and provide forums for the protection of water rights, including federal non-Indian and Indian water rights, and resolve issues concerning its authority over water rights and permits, both prior to and afier the flnal adjudication of water rights. In furtherance of this legislative intent:

(a) all permits issued are provisional, and it is the intent of the legislature that this status provide enforceable legal protection for existing rights; and

(b) any judicial determination of the state's authority to issue provisional permits on or off reservations should be decided in the appropriate state forum."

Section 6. Section 85-2-309, MCA, is amended to read:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2798 1997

"85-2-309. Hearings on objections — jurisdiction. (1) If the department determines that an objection to an application for a permit or change approval under 85-2-402 states a valid objection, it shall hold a public hearing on the objection within 60 days from the date set by the department for the filing of objections, after serving notice of the hearing by certified mail upon the applicant and the objector, unless the department certifies an issue to the district court for determination by a water judge under subsection (2). The department may consolidate hearings if more than one objection is filed to an application. The department shall file in its records proof of the service by affidavit of the department.

(2) (a) At any time prior to commencement or before the conclusion of a hearing as provided in subsection (1), the department may in its discretion certify to the district court all factual and legal issues involving the adjudication or determination of the water rights at issue in the hearing, including but not limited to issues of abandonment, quantification, or relative priority dates. Certified controversies must be given priority by a water judge over all other adjudication matters.

(b) If the department fails to certify an issue as provided in this section after a timely request by a party to the hearing, the department shall include its denial to certify as part of the record of the hearing.

~~(b)~~(c) Upon determination of the issues certified to it by the department, the court shall remand the matter to the department for further processing of the application under this chapter.

(3) Subsection (2) does not apply in the case of a matter considered at a hearing under this section pursuant to 85-2-316 or 85-2-322."

Section 7. Section 85-2-311, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-311. Criteria for issuance of permit. (1) A permit may be issued under this part prior to the adjudication of existing water rights in a source of supply. In a permit proceeding under this part there is no presumption that an applicant for a permit cannot meet the statutory criteria of this section prior to the adjudication of existing water rights pursuant to this chapter. In making a determination under this section, the department may not alter the terms and conditions of an existing water right or an issued certificate, permit, or state water reservation. Except as provided in subsections (3) and (4), the department shall issue a permit if the applicant proves by a preponderance of evidence that the following criteria are met:

(a)(i) there ~~are unappropriated waters in the source of supply~~ is water physically available at the proposed point of diversion:

~~(i) at times when the water can be put to the use proposed by the applicant;~~

~~(ii)~~ in the amount that the applicant seeks to appropriate; and

~~(iii) during the period in which the applicant seeks to appropriate, in the amount requested and that is reasonably available;~~

(ii) water can reasonably be considered legally available during the period in which the applicant seeks to appropriate, in the amount requested, based on the records of the department and other evidence provided to the department. Legal availability is determined using an analysis involving the following factors:

(A) identification of physical water availability;

(B) identification of existing legal demands on the source of supply throughout the area of potential impact by the proposed use; and

(C) analysis of the evidence on physical water availability and the existing legal demands, including but not limited to a comparison of the physical water supply at the proposed point of diversion with the existing legal demands on the supply of water.

(b) the water rights of a prior appropriator under an existing water right, a certificate, a permit, or a state water reservation will not he adversely affected. In this subsection (1)(b), adverse effect must be determined based on a consideration of an applicant's plan for the exercise of the permit that demonstrates that the applicant's use of the water will be controlled so the water right of a prior appropriator will be satisfied;

(c) the proposed means of diversion, construction, and operation of the appropriation works are adequate;

(d) the proposed use of water is a beneficial use;

~~(e) the proposed use will not interfere unreasonably with other planned uses or developments for which a permit has been issued or for which water has been reserved;~~

~~(f)~~(e) the applicant has a possessory interest, or the written consent of the person with the possessory interest, in the property where the water is to be put to beneficial use;

~~(g)~~(f) the water quality of a prior appropriator will not be adversely affected;

~~(h)~~(g) the proposed use will be substantially in accordance with the classification of water set for the source of supply pursuant to 75-5-301(1); and

~~(i)~~(h) the ahility of a discharge permitholder to satisfy effluent limitations of a permit issued in accordance with Title 75, chapter 5, part 4, will not he adversely affected.

(2) The applicant is required to prove that the criteria in subsections ~~(1)(g)~~ (1)(f) through ~~(1)(i)~~ (1)(h) have been met only if a valid objection is filed. A valid objection must contain substantial credible information establishing to the satisfaction of the department that the criteria in subsection ~~(1)(g)~~ (1)(f), ~~(1)(h)~~ (1)(g), or ~~(1)(i)~~ (1)(h), as applicable, may not be met. For the criteria set forth in subsection ~~(1)(h)~~ (1)(g), only the department of environmental quality or a local water quality district established under Title 7, chapter 13, part 45, may file a valid objection.

(3) The department may not issue a permit for an appropriation of 4,000 or more acre-feet of water a year and 5.5 or more cubic feet por second of water unless the applicant proves by clear and convincing evidence that:

(a) the criteria in suhsection (1) are met;

~~(b) the rights of a prior appropriator will not be adversely affected;~~

~~(c)~~(b) the proposed appropriation is a reasonable use. A finding must be based on a consideration of the following:

(i) the existing demands on the state water supply, as well as projected demands, such as reservations of water for future beneficial purposes, including municipal water supplies, irrigation systems, and minimum streamflows for the protection of existing water rights and aquatic life;

(ii) the benefits to the applicant and the state;

(iii) the effects on the quantity and quality of water for existing beneficial uses in the source of supply;

(iv) the availability and feasibility of using low-quality water for the purpose for which application has been made;

(v) the effects on private property rights by any creation of or contribution to saline seep; and

(vi) the probable significant adverse environmental impacts of the proposed use of water as determined by the department pursuant to Title 75, chapter 1, or Title 75, chapter 20.

(4) (a) The state of Montana has long recognized the importance of conserving its public waters and the necessity to maintain adequate water supplies for the state's water requirements, including requirements for federal non-Indian and Indian reserved water rights held by the United States for federal reserved lands and in trust for the various Indian tribes within the state's boundaries. Although the state of Montana also recognizes that, under appropriate conditions, the out-of-state transportation and use of its public waters are not in conflict with the public welfare of its citizens or the conservation of its waters, the criteria in this subsection (4) must be met before out-of-state use may occur.

(b) The department may not issue a permit for the appropriation of water for withdrawal and transportation for use outside the state unless the applicant proves by clear and convincing evidence that:

(i) depending on the volume of water diverted or consumed, the applicable criteria and procedures of subsection (1) or (3) are met;

(ii) the proposed out-of-state use of water is not contrary to water conservation in Montana; and

(iii) the proposed out-of-state use of water is not otherwise detrimental to the public welfare of the citizens of Montana.

(c) In determining whether the applicant has proved by clear and convincing evidence that the requirements of subsections (4)(b)(ii) and (4)(b)(iii) are met, the department shall consider the following factors:

(i) whether there are present or projected water shortages within the state of Montana;

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2801 1997

(ii) whether the water that is the subject of the application could feasibly be transported to alleviate water shortages within the state of Montana;

(iii) the supply and sources of water available to the applicant in the state where the applicant intends to use the water; and

(iv) the demands placed on the applicant's supply in the state where the applicant intends to use the water.

(d) When applying for a permit or a lease to withdraw and transport water for use outside the state, the applicant shall submit to and comply with the laws of the state of Montana governing the appropriation, lease, and use of water.

(5) To meet the preponderance of evidence standard in this section, the applicant, in addition to other evidence demonstrating that the criteria of subsection (1) have been met, shall submit hydrologic or other evidence, including but not limited to water supply data, field reports, and other information developed by the applicant, the department, the U.S. geological survey, or the U.S. natural resources conservation service and other specific field studies.

(6) An appropriation, diversion, impoundment, use, restraint, or attempted appropriation, diversion, impoundment, use, or restraint contrary to the provisions of this section is invalid. An officer, agent, agency, or employee of the state may not knowingly permit, aid, or assist in any manner an unauthorized appropriation, diversion, impoundment, use, or other restraint. A person or corporation may not, directly or indirectly, personally or through an agent, officer, or employee, attempt to appropriate, divert, impound, use, or otherwise restrain or control waters within the boundaries of this state except in accordance with this section.

(7) The department may adopt rules to implement the provisions of this section."

Section 8. Section 85-2-313, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-313. Provisional permit. A permit issued prior to a final determination of existing water rights is provisional and is subject to that final determination. ~~The~~ Upon petition, the amount of the appropriation granted in a provisional permit ~~shall~~ must be reduced ~~or~~, modified, or revoked by the department following a show cause hearing ~~where~~ in which it is determined that reduction, modification, or revocation is necessary to protect and guarantee existing water rights determined in the final decree. Because a provisional permit is issued on a reasonable determination of legal availability under 85-2-311(1)(b), in a show cause hearing under this section, legal availability must be determined on a consideration of the final decree in the affected basin or subbasin. A person may not obtain any vested right to an appropriation obtained under a provisional permit by virtue of construction of diversion works, purchase of equipment to apply water, planting of crops, or other action where the permit would have been denied or modified if the final decree had been available to the department."

Section 9. Section 85-2-316, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-316. ~~Reservation~~ State reservation of waters. (1) The state, ~~or~~ any political subdivision or agency of the state, or the United States or any agency of the United States may apply to the department to ~~reserve waters~~ acquire a state water reservation for existing or future beneficial uses or to maintain a minimum flow, level, or quality of water throughout the year or at periods or for a length of time that the department designates.

(2) (a) Water may be reserved for existing or future beneficial uses in the basin where it is reserved, as described by the following basins:

(i) the Clark Fork River and its tributaries to its confluence with Lake Pend Oreille in Idaho;

(ii) the Kootenai River and its tributaries to its confluence with Kootenay Lake in British Columbia;

(iii) the St. Mary River and its tributaries to its confluence with the Oldman River in Alberta;

(iv) the Little Missouri River and its tributaries to its confluence with Lake Sakakawea in North Dakota;

(v) the Missouri River and its tributaries to its confluence with the Yellowstone River in North Dakota; and

(vi) the Yellowstone River and its tributaries to its confluence with the Missouri River in North Dakota.

(b) A state water reservation may be made for an existing or future beneficial use outside the basin where the diversion occurs only if stored water is not reasonably available for water leasing under 85-2-141 and the proposed use would occur in a basin designated in subsection (2)(a).

(3) Upon receiving a correct and complete application, the department shall proceed in accordance with 85-2-307 through 85-2-309. After the hearing provided for in 85-2-309, the department shall decide whether to reserve the water for the applicant. The department's costs of giving notice, holding the hearing, conducting investigations, and making records incurred in acting upon the application to reserve water, except the cost of salaries of the department's personnel, must be paid by the applicant. In addition, a reasonable proportion of the department's cost of preparing an environmental impact statement must be paid by the applicant unless waived by the department upon a showing of good cause by the applicant.

(4) (a) The department may not adopt an order reserving water unless the applicant establishes to the satisfaction of the department by a preponderance of evidence:

(i) the purpose of the reservation;

(ii) the need for the reservation;

(iii) the amount of water necessary for the purpose of the reservation;

(iv) that the reservation is in the public interest.

(b) In determining the public interest under subsection (4)(a)(iv), the department may not adopt an order reserving water for withdrawal and transport for use outside the state unless the applicant proves by clear and convincing evidence that:

(i) the proposed out-of-state use of water is not contrary to water conservation in Montana; and

(ii) the proposed out-of-state use of water is not otherwise detrimental to the public welfare of the citizens of Montana.

(c) In determining whether the applicant has proved by clear and convincing evidence that the requirements of subsections (4)(b)(i) and (4)(b)(ii) are met, the department shall consider the following factors:

(i) whether there are present or projected water shortages within the state of Montana;

(ii) whether the water that is the subject of the application could feasibly be transported to alleviate water shortages within the state of Montana;

(iii) the supply and sources of water available to the applicant in the state where the applicant intends to use the water; and

(iv) the demands placed on the applicant's supply in the state where the applicant intends to use the water.

(d) When applying for a state water reservation to withdraw and transport water for use outside the state, the applicant shall submit to and comply with the laws of the state of Montana governing the appropriation, lease, use, and reservation of water.

(5) If the purpose of the state water reservation requires construction of a storage or diversion facility, the applicant shall establish to the satisfaction of the department by a preponderance of evidence that there will be progress toward completion of the facility and accomplishment of the purpose with reasonable diligence in accordance with an established plan.

(6) The department shall limit any state water reservations after May 9, 1979, for maintenance of minimum flow, level, or quality of water that it awards at any point on a stream or river to a maximum of 50% of the average annual flow of record on gauged streams. Ungauged streams can be allocated at the discretion of the department.

(7) After the adoption of an order reserving waters, the department may reject an application and refuse a permit for the appropriation of reserved waters or may issue the permit subject to terms and conditions that it considers necessary for the protection of the objectives of the reservation.

(8) (a) A person desiring to use water reserved to a conservation district for agricultural purposes shall make application for the use with the district, and the district, upon approval of the application, shall inform the department of the approved use and issue the applicant an authorization for the use. The department shall maintain records of all uses of water reserved to conservation districts and be responsible, when requested by the districts, for rendering technical and administrative assistance within the department's staffing and budgeting limitations in the preparation and processing of the applications for the conservation districts. The department shall, within its staffing and budgeting limitations, complete any feasibility study requested by the districts within 12 months of the time that the request was made. The department shall extend the time allowed to develop a plan identifying projects for using a district's reservation as long as the conservation district makes a good faith effort, within its staffing and budget limitations, to develop a plan.

(b) Upon actual application of water to the proposed beneficial use, the authorized user shall notify the conservation district. The notification must contain a certified statement by a person with experience in the design, construction, or operation of project works for agricultural purposes describing how the reserved water was put to use. The department or the district may then inspect the appropriation to determine if it has been completed in substantial accordance with the authorization.

(9) Except as provided in 85-2-331, the priority of appropriation of a state water reservation and the relative priority of the reservation to permits with a later priority of appropriation must be determined according to this subsection (9), as follows:

(a) A state water reservation under this section has a priority of appropriation dating from the filing with the department of a notice of intention to apply for a state water reservation in a basin in which no other notice of intention to apply is currently pending. The notice of intention to apply must specify the basin in which the applicant is seeking a state water reservation.

(b) Upon receiving a notice of intention to apply for a state wator reservation, the department shall identify all potential state water reservation applicants in the basin specified in the notice and notify each potential applicant of the opportunity to submit an application and to receive a state water reservation with the priority of appropriation as described in subsection (9)(a).

(c) To receive the priority of appropriation described in subsection (9)(a), the applicant shall submit a correct and complete state water reservation application within 1 year after the filing of the notice of intention to apply. Upon a showing of good cause, the department may extend the time for preparing the application.

(d) The department may by order subordinate a state water reservation to a permit issued pursuant to this part if:

(i) the permit application was accepted by the department before the date of the order granting the reservation; and

(ii) the effect of subordinating the reservation to one or more permits does not interfere substantially with the purpose of the reservation.

(e) The department shall by order establish the relative priority of state water reservations approved under this section that have the same day of priority. A state water reservation may not adversely affect any rights in existence at that time.

(10) The department shall, periodically but at least once every 10 years, review existing state water reservations to ensure that the objectives of the ~~reservation~~ reservations are being met. When the objectives of ~~the~~ a state water reservation are not being met, the department may extend, revoke, or modify the reservation. Any undeveloped water made available as a result of a revocation or modification under this subsection is available for appropriation by others pursuant to this part.

(11) The department may modify an existing or future order originally adopted to reserve water for the purpose of maintaining minimum flow, level, or quality of water, so as to reallocate the state water reservation or portion of the reservation to an applicant who is a qualified reservant under this section. Reallocation of ~~reserved~~ water reserved pursuant to a state water reservation may be made by the department following notice and hearing if the department finds that all or part of the reservation is not required for its purpose and that the need for the reallocation has been shown by the applicant to outweigh the need shown by the original reservant. Reallocation of reserved water may not adversely affect the priority date of the reservation, and the reservation retains its priority date despite reallocation to a different entity for a different use. The department may not reallocate water reserved under this section on any stream or river more frequently than once every 5 years.

(12) A reservant may not make a change in a state water reservation under this section, except as permitted under 85-2-402 and this subsection. If the department approves a change, the department shall give notice and require the reservant to establish that the criteria in subsection (4) will be met under the approved change.

(13) A state water reservation may be transferred to another entity qualified to hold a reservation under subsection (1). Only the entity holding the reservation may initiate a transfer. The transfer occurs upon the filing of a water right transfer certificate with the department, together with an affidavit from the entity receiving the reservation establishing that the entity is a qualified reservant under subsection (1), that the entity agrees to comply with the requirements of this section and the conditions of the reservation, and that the entity can meet the objectives of the reservation as granted. If the transfer of a state water reservation involves a change in an appropriation right, the necessary approvals must be acquired pursuant to subsection (12).

(14) Nothing in this section vests the department with the authority to alter a water right that is not a state water reservation.

(15) The department shall undertake a program to educate the public, other state agencies, and political subdivisions of the state as to the benefits of the state water reservation process and the procedures to be followed to secure the reservation of water. The department shall provide technical assistance to other state agencies and political subdivisions in applying for reservations under this section.

(16) Water reserved under this section is not subject to the state water leasing program established under 85-2-141."

Section 10. Section 85-2-321, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-321. Milk River basin — suspension of action on permits — proposal — priority in adjudication process. (1) (a) In order to balance the need for the continued development of Montana's water and for protection of existing rights in the Milk River basin, the department may suspend action on a class of applications or may close a source in the basin and refuse to accept a class of applications, or both, for a permit under this part to appropriate from that source in the basin.

(b) Suspension or closure, or both, may only be proposed by the department.

(c) The proposal must state the source in the basin and class of applications for which suspension or closure, or both, is being proposed and any of the following allegations:

(i) that the frequency of occurrence of unappropriated waters is such that:

(A) any new appropriation from the source for the class of applications will adversely affect the rights of a prior appropriation from the source; or

(B) any new appropriation from the source for the class of applications will interfere unreasonably with another planned use or development for which a permit has been given or for which water has been reserved pursuant to this part in the source; or

(ii) that significant disputes or enforcement problems regarding priority of rights or amounts or duration of water in use by appropriators are in progress or will arise.

(2) After April 8, 1985, the chief water judge shall make issuance of a temporary preliminary decree in the Milk River basin the highest priority in the adjudication of existing water rights pursuant to Title 85, chapter 2, part 2."

Section 11. Section 85-2-329, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-329. Definitions. Unless the context requires otherwise, in 85-2-330 and this section, the following definitions apply:

(1) "Application" means an application for a beneficial water use permit pursuant to 85-2-302 or a state water reservation pursuant to 85-2-316.

(2) "Ground water" means water that is beneath the land surface or beneath the bed of a stream, lake, reservoir, or other body of surface water and that is not immediately or directly connected to surface water.

(3) "Nonconsumptive use" means a beneficial use of water that does not cause a reduction in the source of supply and in which substantially all of the water returns without delay to the source of supply, causing little or no disruption in stream conditions.

(4) "Teton River basin" means the drainage area of the Teton River and its tributaries above the confluence of the Teton and Marias Rivers."

Section 12. Section 85-2-331, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-331. Reservations within Missouri River basin and Little Missouri River basin. (1) The state, ~~or~~ an agency or political subdivision of the state, or the United States or an agency of the United States that desires to apply for a state water reservation ~~of water~~ in the Missouri River basin or in the Little Missouri River basin shall file an application pursuant to 85-2-316 no later than:

(a) July 1, 1989, for reservation of water above Fort Peck dam; or

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2807 1997

(b) July 1, 1991, for reservation of water below Fort Peck dam and in the Little Missouri River basin.

(2) Subject to legislative appropriation, the department shall provide technical and financial assistance to other state agencies and political subdivisions in applying for state water reservations within the Missouri River basin and the Little Missouri River basin.

(3) (a) The department shall make a final determination in accordance with 85-2-316 on all applications filed before July 1, 1989, for state water reservations ~~of water~~ in the Missouri River basin above Fort Peck dam.

(b) The department shall make a final determination in accordance with 85-2-316 on all applications filed before July 1, 1991, for state water reservations ~~of water~~ in the Missouri River basin below Fort Peck dam and in the Little Missouri River basin.

(c) The department shall determine which applications or portions of applications are considered to be above or below Fort Peck dam.

(4) ~~Water~~ State water reservations approved by the department under this section have a priority date of July 1, 1985, in the Missouri River basin and a priority date of July 1, 1989, in the Little Missouri River basin. If the department issues a permit under Title 85, chapter 2, part 3, prior to the granting of a state water reservation under this section, the department may subordinate the state water reservation to the permit if it finds that the subordination does not interfere substantially with the purpose of any state water reservation. The department shall by order establish the relative priority of applications approved under this section."

Section 13. Section 85-2-336, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-336. Basin closure — exception. (1) As provided in 85-2-319 and subject to the provisions of subsection (2) of this section, the department may not process or grant an application for a permit to appropriate water within the Upper Clark Fork River basin.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) do not apply to:

(a) an application for a permit to appropriate ground water;

(b) an application filed prior to January 1, 2000, for a permit to appropriate water to conduct response actions or remedial actions pursuant to the federal Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980, as amended, or Title 75, chapter 10, part 7, at sites designated as of January 1, 1994. The total flow rates for all permits issued under this subsection (2)(b) may not exceed 10 cubic feet per second. A permit issued to conduct response actions or remedial actions may not be used for dilution and must be limited to a term not to exceed the necessary time to complete the response or remedial action, and the permit may not be transferred to any person for any purpose other than the designated response or remedial action;

(c) an application for a permit to appropriate water for stock use;

(d) an application to store water; or

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2808 1997

(e) an application for power generation at existing hydroelectric dams. The department may not approve a permit for power generation if approval results in additienal consumption of water.

(3) Applications for state water reservations in the Upper Clark Fork River basin filed pursuant to 85-2-316 and pending as of May 1, 1991, have a priority date of May 1, 1991. The filing of a state water reservation application does not provide standing to object under 85-2-402.

(4) Tbe department may not process or approve applications for state water reservations ~~of water~~ in the Upper Clark Fork River basin filed pursuant to 85-2-316."

Section 14. Section 85-2-340, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-340. Definitions. Unless the context requires otherwise, in 85-2-341 and this section, the following definitions apply:

(1) "Application" means an application for a beneficial water use permit pursuant to 85-2-302 or a state water reservation pursuant to 85-2-316.

(2) "Ground water" means water that is beneath the land surface or beneath the bed of a stream, lake, reservoir, or other body of surface water and that is not immediately or directly connected to surface water.

(3) "Jefferson River basin" means the drainage area of the Jefferson River and its tributaries above the confluence of the Jefferson and Missouri Rivers.

(4) "Madison River basin" means the drainage area of the Madison River and its tributaries above the confluence of the Madison and Jefferson Rivers.

(5) "Nonconsumptive use" means a beneficial use of water that does not cause a reduction in the source of supply and in which substantially all of the water returns without delay to the source of supply, causing little or no disruption in stream conditions."

Section 15. Section 85-2-341, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-341. Basin closure — exceptions. (1) As provided in 85-2-319 and subject to the provisions of subsection (2) of this section, the department may not process or grant an application for a permit to appropriate water or for a state water reservation to reserve water within the Jefferson River basin or Madison River basin.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) do not apply to:

(a) an application for a permit to appropriate ground water;

(b) an application for a permit to appropriate water for a nonconsumptive use;

(c) an application for a permit to appropriate water for domestic, municipal, or stock use;

(d) an application to store water during high spring flows; or

(e) temporary emergency appropriations as provided for in 85-2-113(3)."

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2809 1997

Section 16. Section 85-2-342, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-342. Definitions. Unless the context requires otherwise, in 85-2-343 and this section, the following definitions apply:

(1) "Application" means an application for a beneficial water use permit pursuant to 85-2-302 or a state water reservation pursuant to 85-2-316.

(2) "Ground water" means water that is beneath the land surface or beneath the bed of a stream, lake, reservoir, or other body of surface water and that is not immediately or directly connected to surface water.

(4) "Upper Missouri River basin" means the drainage area of the Missouri River and its tributaries above Morony dam."

Section 17. Section 85-2-401, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-401. Priority — *recognition and confirmation of changes in appropriations issued after July 1, 1973. (1) As between appropriators, the first in time is the first in right. Priority of appropriation does not include the right to prevent changes by later appropriators in the condition of water occurrence, such as the increase or decrease of streamflow or the lowering of a water table, artesian pressure, or water level, if the prior appropriator can reasonably exercise ~~his~~ the water right under the changed conditions.

(2) Priority of appropriation made under this chapter dates from the filing of an application for a permit with the department, except as otherwise provided in 85-2-301 through 85-2-303, 85-2-306, 85-2-310(3), and 85-2-313.

(3) Priority of appropriation perfected before July 1, 1973, ~~shall~~ must be determined as provided in part 2 of this chapter.

(4) All changes in appropriation rights actions of the department after July 1, 1973, are recognized and confirmed subject to this part and any terms, conditions, and limitations placed on a change in appropriation authorization by the department."

Section 18. Section 85-2-402, MCA, is amended to read:

"85-2-402. (Temporary) Changes in appropriation rights. (1) The right to make a change subject to the provisions of this section in an existing water right, a permit, or a state water reservation is recognized and confirmed. In a change proceeding under this section, there is no presumption that an applicant for a change in appropriation right cannot establish lack of adverse effect prior to the adjudication of other rights in the source of supply pursuant to this chapter. An appropriator may not make a change in an appropriation right except, as permitted under this section, by applying for and receiving the approval of the department or, if applicable, of the legislature. An applicant shall submit a correct and complete application.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2810 1997

(2) Except as provided in subsections (4) through (6), the department shall approve a change in appropriation right if the appropriator proves by a preponderance of evidence that the following criteria are met:

(a) The proposed ~~use~~ change in appropriation right will not adversely affect the use of the existing water rights of other persons or other perfected or planned uses or developments for which a permit or certificate has been issued or for which ~~water has been reserved~~ a state water reservation has been issued under part 3.

(b) Except for a lease authorization pursuant to 85-2-436, a temporary change authorization for instream use to benefit the fishery resource pursuant to 85-2-408, or water use pursuant to 85-2-439 when authorization does not require appropriation works, the proposed means of diversion, construction, and operation of the appropriation works are adequate.

(c) The proposed use of water is a beneficial use.

(d) Except for a lease authorization pursuant to 85-2-436 or a temporary change authorization pursuant to 85-2-408 for instream flow to benefit the fishery resource, the applicant has a possessory interest, or the written consent of the person with the possessory interest, in the property where the water is to be put to beneficial use.

(e) If the change in appropriation right involves salvaged water, the proposed water-saving methods will salvage at least the amount of water asserted by the applicant.

(f) The water quality of an appropriator will not be adversely affected.

(g) The ability of a discharge permitholder to satisfy effluent limitations of a permit issued in accordance with Title 75, chapter 5, part 4, will not be adversely affected.

(3) The applicant is required to prove that the criteria in subsections (2)(f) and (2)(g) have been met only if a valid objection is filed. A valid objection must contain substantial credible information establishing to the satisfaction of the department that the criteria in subsection (2)(f) or (2)(g), as applicable, may not be met.

(4) The department may not approve a change in purpose of use or place of use of an appropriation of 4,000 or more acre-feet of water a year and 5.5 or more cubic feet per second of water unless the appropriator proves by a preponderance of evidence that:

(a) the criteria in subsection (2) are met; and

(b) the proposed change is a reasonable use. A finding of reasonable use must be based on a consideration of:

(i) the existing demands on the state water supply, as well as projected demands for water for future beneficial purposes, including municipal water supplies, irrigation systems, and minimum streamflows for the protection of existing water rights and aquatic life;

(ii) the benefits to the applicant and the state;

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2811 1997

(iii) the effects on the quantity and quality of water for existing uses in the source of supply;

(iv) the availability and feasibility of using low-quality water for the purpose for which application has been made;

(v) the effects on private property rights by any creation of or contribution to saline seep; and

(vi) the probable significant adverse environmental impacts of the proposed use of water as determined by the department pursuant to Title 75, chapter 1, or Title 75, chapter 20.

(5) The department may not approve a change in purpose of use or place of use for a diversion that results in 4,000 or more acre-feet of water a year and 5.5 or more cubic feet per second of water being consumed unless:

(a) the applicant proves by clear and convincing evidence and the department finds that the criteria in subsections (2) and (4) are met; and

(b) the department then petitions the legislature and the legislature affirms the decision of the department after one or more public hearings.

(6) The state of Montana has long recognized the importance of conserving its public waters and the necessity to maintain adequate water supplies for the state's water requirements, including requirements for federal non-Indian and Indian reserved water rights held by the United States for federal reserved lands and in trust for the various Indian tribes within the state's boundaries. Although the state of Montana also recognizes that, under appropriate conditions, the out-of-state transportation and use of its public waters are not in conflict with the public welfare of its citizens or the conservation of its waters, the following criteria must be met before out-of-state use may occur:

(a) The department and, if applicable, the legislature may not approve a change in appropriation right for the withdrawal and transportation of appropriated water for use outside the state unless the appropriator proves by clear and convincing evidence and, if applicable, the legislature approves after one or more public hearings that:

(i) depending on the volume of water diverted or consumed, the applicable criteria and procedures of subsection (2) or (4) are met;

(ii) the proposed out-of-state use of water is not contrary to water conservation in Montana; and

(iii) the proposed out-of-state use of water is not otherwise detrimental to the public welfare of the citizens of Montana.

(b) In determining whether the appropriator has proved by clear and convincing evidence that the requirements of subsections (6)(a)(ii) and (6)(a)(iii) will be met, the department and, if applicable, the legislature shall consider the following factors:

(i) whether there are present or projected water shortages within the state of Montana;

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2812 1997

(ii) whether the water that is the subject of the proposed change in appropriation might feasibly be transported to alleviate water shortages within the state of Montana;

(iii) the supply and sources of water available to the applicant in the state where the applicant intends to use the water; and

(iv) the demands placed on the applicant's supply in the state where the applicant intends to use the water.

(c) When applying for a change in appropriation right to withdraw and transport water for use outside the state, the applicant shall submit to and comply with the laws of the state of Montana governing the appropriation and use of water.

(7) For any application for a change in appropriation right involving 4,000 or more acre-feet of water a year and 5.5 or more cubic feet per second of water, the department shall give notice of the proposed change in accordance with 85-2-307 and shall hold one or more hearings in accordance with 85-2-309 prior to its approval or denial of the proposed change. The department shall provide notice and may hold one or more hearings upon any other proposed change if it determines that a change might adversely affect the rights of other persons.

(8) The department or the legislature, if applicable, may approve a change subject to terms, conditions, restrictions, and limitations as it considers necessary to satisfy the criteria of this section, including limitations on the time for completion of the change. The department may extend time limits specified in the change approval under the applicable criteria and procedures of 85-2-312(3).

(9) Upon actual application of water to the proposed beneficial use within the time allowed, the appropriator shall notify the department that the appropriation has been completed. The notification must contain a certified statement by a person with experience in the design, construction, or operation of appropriation works describing how the appropriation was completed.

(10) If a change is not completed as approved by the department or legislature or if the terms, conditions, restrictions, and limitations of the change approval are not complied with, the department may, after notice and opportunity for hearing, require the appropriator to show cause why the change approval should not be modified or revoked. If the appropriator fails to show sufficient cause, the department may modify or revoke the change approval.

(11) The original of a change approval issued by the department must be sent to the applicant, and a duplicate must be kept in the office of the department in Helena.

(12) A person holding an issued permit or change approval that has not been perfected may change the place of diversion, place of use, purpose of use, or place of storage by filing an application for change pursuant to this section.

(13) A change in appropriation right contrary to the provisions of this section is invalid. An officer, agent, agency, or employee of the state may not knowingly permit, aid, or assist in any manner an unauthorized change in appropriation right. A person or corporation may not, directly or indirectly, personally or through an agent, officer, or employee, attempt to change an appropriation right except in accordance with this section.

(14) The department may adopt rules to implement the provisions of this section. (Terminates June 30, 1999—sec. 4, Ch. 740, L. 1991.)

85-2-402. (Effective July 1, 1999) Changes in appropriation rights. (1) *The right to make a change subject to the provisions of this section in an existing water right, a permit, or a state water reservation is recognized and confirmed. An applicant shall submit a correct and complete application.

(2) Except as provided in subsections (4) through (6), the department shall approve a change in appropriation right if the appropriator proves by a preponderance of evidence that the following criteria are met:

(b) Except for a temporary change authorization pursuant to 85-2-408 or for water use pursuant to 85-2-439 that does not require appropriation works, the proposed means of diversion, construction, and operation of the appropriation works are adequate.

(c) The proposed use of water is a beneficial use.

(d) Except for a temporary change authorization pursuant to 85-2-408 for instream flow to benefit the fishery resource, the applicant has a possessory interest, or the written consent of the person with the possessory interest, in the property where the water is to be put to beneficial use.

(e) If the change in appropriation right involves salvaged water, the proposed water-saving methods will salvage at least the amount of water asserted by the applicant.

(f) The water quality of an appropriator will not be adversely affected.

(g) The ability of a discharge permitholder to satisfy effluent limitations of a permit issued in accordance with Title 75, chapter 5, part 4, will not be adversely affected.

(3) The applicant is required to prove that the criteria in subsections (2)(f) and (2)(g) have been met only if a valid objection is filed. A valid objection must contain substantial credible information establishing to the satisfaction of the department that the criteria in subsection (2)(f) or (2)(g), as applicable, may not be met.

cubic feet per second of water unless the appropriator proves hy a preponderance of evidence that:

(a) the criteria in subsection (2) are met; and

(b) the proposed change is a reasonable use. A finding of reasonable use must be based on a consideration of:

(i) the existing demands on the state water supply, as well as projected demands for water for future beneficial purposes, including municipal water supplies, irrigetion systems, and minimum streamflows for the protection of existing water rights and aquatic life;

(ii) the benefits to the applicant and the state;

(iii) the effects on the quantity and quality of water for existing uses in the source of supply;

(iv) the availability and feasibility of using low-quality water for the purpose for which application has been made;

(v) the effects on private property rights by any creation of or contribution to saline seep; and

(vi) the probable significant adverse environmental impacts of the proposed use of water as determined by the department pursuant to Title 75, chapter 1, or Title 75, chapter 20.

(5) The department may not approve a change in purpose of use or place of use for a diversion that results in 4,000 or more acre-feet of water a year and 5.5 or more cubic feet per second of water being consumed unless:

(a) the applicant proves by clear and convincing evidence and the department finds that the criteria in subsections (2) and (4) are met; and

(b) the department then petitions the legislature and the legislature affirms the decision of the department after one or more public hearings.

(6) The state of Montana has long recognized the importance of conserving its public waters and the necessity to maintain adequate water supplies for the state's water requirements, including requirements for federal non-Indian and Indian reserved water rights held by the United States for federal reserved lands and in trust for the various Indian tribes within the state's boundaries. Although the state of Montana also recognizes that, under appropriate conditions, the out-of-state transportation and use of its public waters are not in conflict with the public welfare of its citizens or the conservation of its waters, the following criteria must be met before out-of-state use may occur:

(a) The department and, if applicable, the legislature may not approve a change in appropriation right for the withdrawal and transportation of appropriated water for use outside the state unless the appropriater proves by clear and convincing evidence and, if applicable, the legislature approves after one or more public hearings that:

(i) depending on the volume of water diverted or consumed, the applicable criteria and procedures of subsection (2) or (4) are met;

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2815 1997

(ii) the proposed out-of-state use of water is not contrary to water conservation in Montana; and

(iii) the proposed out-of-state use of water is not otherwise detrimental to the public welfare of the citizens of Montana.

(b) In determining whether the appropriator has proved by clear and convincing evidence that the requirements of subsections (6)(a)(ii) and (6)(a)(iii) will be met, the department and, if applicable, the legislature shall consider the following factors:

(i) whether there are present or projected water shortages within the state of Montana;

(ii) whether the water that is the subject of the proposed change in appropriation might feasibly be transported to alleviate water shortages within the state of Montana;

(iii) the supply and sources of water available to the applicant in the state where the applicant intends to use the water; and

(iv) the demands placed on the applicant's supply in the state where the applicant intends to use the water.

(c) When applying for a change in appropriation right to withdraw and transport water for use outside the state, the applicant shall submit to and comply with the laws of the state of Montana governing the appropriation and use of water.

(7) For any application for a change in appropriation right involving 4,000 or more acre-feet of water a year and 5.5 or more cubic feet per second of water, the department shall give notice of the proposed change in accordance with 85-2-307 and shall hold one or more hearings in accordance with 85-2-309 prior to its approval or denial of the proposed change. The department shall provide notice and may hold one or more hearings upon any other proposed change if it determines that such a change might adversely affect the rights of other persons.

(8) The department or the legislature, if applicable, may approve a change subject to such terms, conditions, restrictions, and limitations as it considers necessary to satisfy the criteria of this section, including limitations on the time for completion of the change. The department may extend time limits specified in the change approval under the applicable criteria and procedures of 85-2-312(3).

(9) Upon actual application of water to the proposed beneficial use within the time allowed, the appropriator shall notify the department that the appropriation has been completed. The notification must contain a certified statement by a person with experience in the design, construction, or operation of appropriation works describing how the appropriation was completed.

(10) If a change is not completed as approved by the department or legislature or if the terms, conditions, restrictions, and limitations of the change approval are not complied with, the department may, after notice and opportunity for hearing, require the appropriator to show cause why the change approval should not be modified or revoked. If the appropriator fails to show sufficient cause, the department may modify or revoke the change approval.

(11) The original of a change approval issued by the department must he sent to the applicant, and a duplicate must be kept in the office of the department in Helena.

(12) A person holding an issued permit or change approval that has not been perfected may change the place of diversion, place of use, purpose of use, or place of storage by filing an application for change pursuant to this section.

(13) A change in appropriation right contrary to the provisions of this section is invalid. An officer, agent, agency, or employee of the state may not knowingly permit, aid, or assist in any manner an unauthorized change in appropriation right. A person or corporation may not, directly or indirectly, personally or through an agent, officer, or employee, attempt to change an appropriation rigbt except in accordance with this section.

(14) The department may adopt rules to implement the provisions of this section. (Terminates June 30, 2005—sec. 6, Ch. 322, L. 1995.)

The budget for each following year in which any portion of the principal of and interest on the obligation is due must provide for payment of that principal and interest.

(4) The proceeds of the obligation may not be used to acquire real property or construct a facility unless:

(a) the acquisition or construction project does not constitute more than 20% of the square footage of the existing real property improvements made to a facility containing classrooms;

(b) the 20% square footage limitation may not be exceeded within any 5-year period; and

*(c) the electors of the district approve a proposition authorizing the trustees to apply for funds through the board of investments for the construction project. (6) The obligation may bear interest at a fixed or variable rate and may be sold to the board of investments at par, at a discount, or with a premium and upon any other terms and conditions that the trustees determine to be in the best interests of the district.

(7) The principal amount of the obligation, when added to the outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, may not exceed the debt limitation established in 20-9-406."

(5) A utility in the state of Montana may not be advantaged or disadvantaged in the competitive electricity supply market, including the consideration of the existence of universal system benefits programs and the comparable level of funding for those programs throughout the regions neighboring Montana.

(b) If requested by the utility in the utility's application for a financing order, fixed transition amounts must include nonbypassable rates or charges to recover federal and state taxes in which the transition cost recovery period is modified by the transactions approved in the financing order.

(12) "Functionally separate" means a utility's separation of the utility's electricity supply, transmission, distribution, and unregulated retail energy services assets and operations.

(13) "Local governing body" means a local board of trustees of a rural electric cooperative.

(22) "Transition costs" means:

(a) a public utility's net verifiable generation-related and electricity supply costs, including costs of capital, that become unrecoverable as a result of the implementation of [sections 1 through 31] or of federal law requiring retail open access or customer choice;

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2851 1997

(b) those costs that include but are not limited to:

(i) regulatory assets and deferred charges that exist because of current regulatory practices and can be accounted for up to the effective date of the commission's final order regarding a public utility's transition plan and conservation investments made prior to universal system benefits charge implementation;

(27) "Universal system benefits charge" means a nonbypassable rate or charge to be imposed on a customer to pay the customer's share of universal system benefits program costs.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2852 1997

(28) "Universal system benefits programs" means public purpose programs for:

(a) cost-effective local energy conservation;

(b) low-income customer weatherization;

(c) renewable resource projects and applications, including those that capture unique social and energy system benefits or provide transmission and distribution system benefits;

(e) market transformation designed to encourage competitive markets for public purpose programs; and

(f) low-income energy assistance.

(29) "Utility" means any public utility or cooperative utility.

Section 4. Pilot programs. (1) Except as provided in [sections 5(4) and 20], beginning July 1, 1998, utilities shall conduct pilot programs using a representative sample of their residential and small commercial customers. A report describing and analyzing the results of the pilot programs must be submitted to the commission and the transition advisory committee established in [section 29] on or before July 1, 2000.

(2) Utilities shall use pilot programs to gather necessary information to determine the most effective and timely options for providing customer choice. Necessary information includes but is not limited to:

(a) the level of demand for electricity supply choice and the availability of market prices for smaller customers;

(b) the best means to encourage and support the development of sufficient markets and bargaining power for the benefit of smaller customers;

(c) the electricity suppliers' interest in serving smaller customers and the opportunities in providing service to smaller customers; and

(d) experience in the broad range of technical and administrative support matters involved in designing and delivering unbundled retail services to smaller customers.

Section 5. Public utility — transition to customer choice — waiver. (1) A public utility shall, except as provided in this section, adhere to the following deadlines:

(a) On or before July 1, 1998, all customers with individual loads greater than 1,000 kilowatts and for loads of the same customer with individual loads at a meter greater than 300 kilowatts that aggregate to 1,000 kilowatts or greater must have the opportunity to choose an electricity supplier.

(b) Subject to subsection (2), and as soon as is administratively feasible but before July 1, 2002, all other public utility customers must have the opportunity to choose an electricity supplier.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2853 1997

(2) (a) Except as provided for in subsection (3), the commission may determine that additional time is necessary for customers identified in subsection (1)(b); however, the implementation of full customer choice may not be delayed beyond July 1, 2004.

(b) A determination by the commission that additional time is necessary for subsection (1)(b) customers must be made at least 60 days in advance of the scheduled date and must be based on one or more of the following considerations:

(i) implementation would not be administratively feasible;

(ii) implementation would materially affect the reliability of the electric system; or

(iii) Montana customers or electricity suppliers would be disadvantaged due to lack of a competitive electricity supply market.

(3) Except as provided in [sections 22 and 34 through 44], a public utility currently doing business in Montana as part of a single integrated multistate operation, no portion of which lies within the basin of the Columbia River, may:

(a) defer compliance with [sections 1 through 31] until a time that the public utility can reasonably implement customer choice in the state of the public utility's primary service territory, except that the public utility shall file a transition plan pursuant to [section 6] to provide transition to customer choice on or before July 1, 2002, and must have completed the transition period to customer choice by July 1, 2006; and

(b) petition the commission to delay the public utility's transition plan filing until July 1, 2004.

(4) Upon a request from a public utility with fewer than 50 customers, the commission shall waive compliance with the requirements of [sections 4, 6 through 12, 22, and this section].

Section 6. Public utility — transition plans. (1) All public utilities, pursuant to [sections 1 through 31], shall submit a transition plan to the commission. Plans must be filed with the commission not later than 1 year before the date by which any customers of the public utility are entitled to choice of electricity supplier pursuant to [section 5]. The commission may develop a schedule for public utilities that are required to file plans. The transition plan must demonstrate that the public utility meets all the requirements of [sections 1 through 31].

(2) The commission shall develop a procedural schedule that includes:

(a) a preliminary transition plan determination including the commission's findings on whether the plan is complete and adequate subject to the requirements of [sections 1 through 31]; and

(b) an opportunity for a public utility to file a revised plan based on the preliminary determination.

(3) Unless waived by the public utility, the commission shall issue a final order approving, modifying, or denying the transition plan before 9 months after the date a public utility files a plan. All parties are afforded an opportunity for hearing before issuance of the final order.

(4) The commission shall process a request for approval of a transition plan pursuant to the contested case procedures of the Montana Administrative Procedure Act, Title 2, chapter 4, part 6.

(5) On approval of the plan, the commission shall enforce the public utility obligations as incorporated in the plan and in the commission's final order.

Section 7. Public utility — customer choice — continued service — education of customers. (1) A customer is permitted to choose an electricity supplier pursuant to the deadlines established in [section 5]. Public utilities shall propose a method for customers to choose an electricity supplier.

(2) If a customer has not chosen an electricity supplier by the end of the transition period, a public utility shall propose a method in the public utility's transition plans for assigning that customer to an electricity supplier.

(3) A public utility may phase in customer choice to promote the orderly transition to a competitive market environment pursuant to the deadlines in [section 5].

(4) Public utilities shall educate their customers about customer choice so that customers may make an informed choice of an electricity supplier. This education process must give special emphasis to education efforts during the transition period.

Section 8. Public utility — functional separation, divestiture, and nondiscrimination. (1) To the extent that a public utility is vertically integrated, a public utility shall functionally separate the public utility's electricity supply, retail transmission and distribution, and regulated and unregulated retail energy services operations in the state of Montana, upon application to and approval from the commission.

(2) The commission may not order a public utility to divest itself of any generation assets or prohibit a public utility from divesting itself voluntarily of any generation assets.

(3) Public utilities shall:

(a) prevent undue discrimination in favor of their own power supply, other services, divisions, or affiliates, if any;

(b) prevent any other forms of self-dealing that could result in noncompetitive electricity prices to customers; and

(c) grant customers and their electricity suppliers access to the public utility's retail transmission and distribution system on a nondiscriminatory basis at rates, terms, and conditions of service comparable to the use of the retail transmission and distribution system by the public utility and the public utility's affiliates.

(4) The provisions of this section are satisfied if the public utility adopts and complies with a code of conduct consistont with federal energy regulatory commission approved code of conduct pursuant to 18 CFR, part 37. The commission shall promulgate rules relating to the codes of conduct.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2855 1997

Section 9. Public utility — distribution services. (1) A public utility's distribution services provider shall:

(a) file tariffs that make distribution facilities available to all electricity suppliers, transmission services providers, and customers on a nondiscriminatory and comparable basis;

(b) build and maintain distribution facilities; and

(c) be an emergency supplier of electricity and related services.

(2) When a distribution services provider acts as an emergency supplier of electricity and related services to customers, the electricity supplier that should have provided the electricity shall reimburse the distribution services provider at the higher of a multiple of the cost or a multiple of the then-existing market rate for that electricity. The commission shall determine and authorize the multiple used. The market rate is the highest published rate for electricity purchased within the local load control area at the time that the distribution services provider provided the emergency supply. A distribution services provider is not required to purchase any reserve supply of electricity to fulfill this obligation.

Section 10. Public utilities — transmission services. For transmission services regulated by the commission, public utilities, through filed tariffs, shall make transmission services available for nondiscriminatory and comparable use by all electricity suppliers, by distribution services providers, and by customers.

Section 11. Public utilities — electricity supply. (1) On the effective date of a commission order implementing a public utility's transition plan pursuant to [section 6], the public utility shall remove its generation assets from the rate base.

(2) During the transition period, the commission may establish cost-based prices for electricity supply service for customers that do not have a choice of electricity supply service or that have not yet chosen an electricity supplier.

(3) If the transition period is extended, then the customers' distribution services provider shall:

(a) extend any cost-based contract with the distribution services provider's affiliate supplier for a term not more than 3 years; or

(b) purchase electricity from the market; and

(c) use a mechanism that recovers electricity supply costs in rates to ensure that those costs are fully recovered.

(5) If a public utility intends to be an electricity supplier through an unregulated division, then the public utility must be licensed as an electricity supplier pursuant to [section 24].

Section 12. Public utilities — transition costs and charges — rate moratorium. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, the commission shall allow recovery of the following categories of transition costs:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2856 1997

(a) the unmitigable costs of qualifying facility contracts, including reasonable buyout or buydown costs, for which the contract price of generation is above the market price for generation;

(b) the unmitigable costs of energy supply-related regulatory assets and deferred charges that exist because of current regulatory practices and that can be accounted for up to the effective date of the commission's final order regarding a public utility's transition plan, including costs, expenses, and reasonable fees related to issuing of transition bonds;

(c) the unmitigable transition costs related to public utility-owned generation and other power purchase contracts, except that recovery of those costs is limited to the amount accruing during the first 4 years after the commission enters an order pursuant to [section 6(3)]; and

(d) other transition costs as may qualify for recovery under this section.

(2) Transition costs as determined by the commission upon an affirmative showing by a public utility must meet the following requirements:

(a) Transition costs must reflect all reasonable mitigation by the public utility, including but not limited to geod faith efforts to renegotiate contracts, buying out or buying down contracts, and refinancing through transition bonds.

(b) The value of all generation-related assets and liabilities and electricity supply costs must be reasonably demonstrable and must be considered on a net basis, and methods for determining value must include but are not limited to:

(i) estimating future market values of electricity and ancillary services provided by the assets;

(ii) appraisal by independent third-party professionals; or

(iii) a competitive bid sale.

(c) Investments and power purchase contracts must have been previously allowed in rates or, if not previously in rates, must be determined to be used and useful to ratepayers in connection with the commission's approval of the utility's transition plan.

(d) Unless otherwise provided for in [sections 1 through 31], only costs related to existing investments and power purchase contracts identified in subsection (2)(c) and costs arising from those investments and power purchase contracts may be included as transition costs.

(3) (a) On commission approval of the amount of a public utility's transition costs, those costs must be recovered through the imposition of a transition charge.

(b) A transition charge may not be collected from customers for:

(i) new or additional loads of 1,000 kilowatts or greater that were first served by the public utility after December 31, 1996; or

(ii) loads served by that customer's own generation.

(c) Subject to commission approval, a utility and a customer may agree to alter the customer's transition charge payment schedule. Public utilities may file with the commission tariffs for electric service rates that foster economic development or retention of existing customers within the state, including generally available rate schedules. Transition charges are the only charges that may be imposed upon a customer class to recover transition costs under this section. A separate exit fee may not be charged.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2857 1997

(4) Transition charges must be imposed within a transition cost recovery period approved by the commission on a case-by-case basis. Except for transition costs recovered under subsection (1)(c), categories of transition costs may have varying transition cost recovery periods.

(5) Approval of transition costs and collection of those transition costs through transition charges is a settlement of all transition costs claims by a public utility. A public utility seeking to recover transition costs through any means not authorized by [sections 1 through 31] may not collect transition charges with respect to these transition costs.

(6) Except as provided in subsection (7), public utilities shall implement a rate moratorium during the transition period as follows:

(a) From July 1, 1998, through June 30, 2000, public utilities may not charge rates higher than those rates in effect on July 1, 1998.

(b) From July 1, 2000, through June 30, 2002, and only for those customers subject to the provisions of [section 5(1)(b)], public utilities may not increase that increment of rates normally allocated to electric supply-related costs above the increment associated with electric supply-related costs reflected in rates in effect on July 1, 1998. Beginning on July 1, 2000, public utilities may propose increases to those increments of rates normally allocated to transmission and distribution costs.

(7) Excepted from the provisions of subsection (6) are:

(a) increased costs related to universal system benefits programs greater than those currently in rates, including the treatment of universal system benefits program costs as an expense;

(b) increased costs necessary to implement full customer choice, including but not limited to metering, billing, and technology. Those costs must be recovered from the customers on whose behalf the increased costs are incurred.

(c) subject to commission approval, an extraordinary event resulting in either:

(i) a 4% annual revenue requirement increase from July 1, 1998, through June 30, 2000; or

(ii) an 8% power supply-related annual revenue requirement increase from July 1, 2000, through June 30, 2002;

(d) portions of the increase or decrease in the annual state and local property tax expense that are greater than the payment or adjustment that results from applying the industry-recognized rates of inflation to the increase or decrease in the state and local property tax expense reflected in rates as of [the effective date of this act].

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2858 1997

(8) Notwithstanding subsections (6) and (7), during the transition period, public utilities may not charge rates or collect costs that include costs reallocated to transition costs at a level higher than the public utility would reasonably expect to recover in rates had the current regulatory system remained intact.

(9) Public utilities shall apply savings resulting under [section 31] toward the rate moratorium pursuant to subsection (6).

(10) During the 4-year transition period, public utilities may accelerate the amortization of accumulated deferred investment tax credits associated with transmission, distribution, and the general plant as an adjustment to earnings if electric earnings fall below 9.5% earned return on average equity. The public utility may include the flow through of investment tax credits so that the public utility's earned return on equity is maintained at 9.5%. Accumulated deferred investment tax credits amortized under this subsection may not he reflected in operating income for ratemaking purposes.

(11) The commission shall issue the accounting orders necessary to align rate moratorium timing and requirements to actual transition bonds savings.

Section 13. Cooperative utility — trausition plan for customer choice. (1) Except as provided in [section 20], on or hefore July 1, 2001, the local governing body of a cooperative utility shall adopt a transition plan.

(2) (a) Except as provided in subsection (2)(b), transition plans must contain a transition period that may not end later than July 1, 2002. At the conclusion of the transition period, all customers must have the opportunity to choose an electricity supplier.

(b) If after a pilot program for customers of a cooperative utility with loads less than 1,000 kilowatts, a competitive market, technology, or other conditions precedent to full customer choice have not developed, then the transition plan may be altered by the cooperative utility's governing body for those customers.

(3) [Sections 1 through 31] do not require the cooperative utility to divest itself of any generation, transmission, or distribution assets or prohibit a cooperative utility from divesting itself voluntarily of those assets.

(4) A cooperative utility's local governing body shall certify to the commission that the local governing body has adopted a transition plan. In the cooperative utility's certification filing, the cooperative utility shall provide to the commission documentation that the cooperative utility's transition plan is consistent with [sections 1 through 31].

Section 14. Cooperative utility — customer choice — education of customers — continued service. (1) Except as provided in [section 20], cooperative utilities shall propose a method for cooperative utility customers to choose an electricity supplier.

(2) Customer choice may be phased in to promote the orderly transition to a competitive market environment.

(3) Cooperative utilities shall educate their customers about customer choice so that customers may make an informed choice of an electricity supplier. This education process must give special emphasis to education efforts during the transition period.

(4) If a cooperative utility customer has not chosen an electricity supplier by the end of the transition period, then the electricity supplier is the cooperative utility that filed the plan or an electricity supplier designated by the cooperative utility.

Section 15. Cooperative utility — functional separation. (1) To the extent that a cooperative utility is vertically integrated, the cooperative utility has the option to functionally separate the cooperative utility's electricity supply, transmission, distribution, and unregulated energy services assets and operations in the state of Montana. If the cooperative utility intends to exercise this option, the cooperative utility's transition plan must explain the cooperative utility's proposed separation process.

(2) A cooperative utility shall describe in the transition plan measures taken by the cooperative utility to prevent undue discrimination in favor of the cooperative utility's own electricity supply, if any, and in favor of the cooperative utility's affiliates, if any.

(3) Cooperative utilities may establish a code of conduct similar to the federal energy regulatory commission's code of conduct established in 18 CFR, part 37.

Section 16. Cooperative utility — distribution services. (1) A cooperative utility transition plan must include distribution facility tariffs that must be established by the cooperative utility's local governing body and must include the obligation for the cooperative utility to:

(a) make distribution services available to all electricity suppliers, transmission services providers, and customers on a nondiscriminatory and comparable basis;

(b) build and maintain distribution facilities; and

(c) be an emergoncy supplier of electricity and related services.

(2) If a distribution services provider acts as an emergency supplier of electricity and related services to a customer of an electricity supplier, then the electricity supplier failing to meet contractual obligations shall reimburse the distribution services provider at an amount to be set by the local governing body but may not exceed the higher of a multiple of the cost or a multiple of the then-existing market rate for that electricity. The market rate is the highest published rate for electricity purchased within the local load control area at the time that the distribution services provider provided the emergency supply. A distribution services provider is not required to purchase any reserve supply of electricity to fulfill this obligation.

(3) Recoverable costs for cooperative utilities must be based upon standard financial reporting statements and may reflect comparable rates of return of other utilities.

Section 17. Cooperative utility — transmission services. Transition plans must state whether the cooperative utility's transmission services, if any, are regulated by the federal energy regulatory commission. If those services are not regulated by the federal energy regulatory commission, the plan must provide the basis for comparable and nondiscriminatory use by all electricity suppliers, distribution services providers, and customers. A cooperative utility's local governing body shall establish the cooperative utility's transmission tariffs.

Section 18. Cooperative utility — electricity supply. (1) A transition plan may provide for a cooperative utility to own electric generation assets and for a cooperative utility to offer electricity supply service. The local governing body shall establish the price for electricity supply service offered by a cooperative utility.

(2) Cooperative utilities intending to offer electricity supply service shall comply with the provisions of [section 24].

(3) If a cooperative utility offers electricity supply service competitively to customers using a public utility's distribution facilities, the cooperative utility shall create an affiliated for-profit entity or similar structure to serve those customers that allows the entity to be taxed at the same level as other for-profit electricity suppliers.

Section 19. Cooperative utility — transition costs and charges. (1) For the purposes of this section, "transition costs" means those costs, liabilities, and investments that cooperative utilities would reasonably expect to recover if fully bundled ratemaking conditions continued and that may not be recoverable as a result of the transition to a competitive market for electricity supply service.

(2) Transition costs eligible for treatment include but are not limited to:

(a) regulatory assets and deferred charges typically recoverable in rates;

(b) nonutility and utility power purchase contracts;

(c) existing commitments or obligations incurred before [the effective date of this act] and other cooperative utility investments rendered uneconomic as a result of the implementation of [sections 1 through 31] or the introduction of retail wheeling through federal legislation or regulation;

(d) costs associated with any renegetiation or buyout of the existing nonutility and utility power purchase contracts;

(e) revenue that appears as a portion of a facility charge necessary to meet debt service requirements, including any coverage amounts required by any mortgage, indenture, or other financing document;

(f) costs of refinancing and retiring debt of the cooperative utility and associated federal and state tax liabilities or other utility costs for which the use of transition bonds would benefit customers; and

(g) all costs, expenses, and reasonable fees related to transition bonds.

(3) For a cooperative utility's transition costs to be fully recoverable, the cooperative utility shall make reasonable efforts to mitigate those transition costs.

(4) Cooperative utilities may not collect any more costs, including costs reallocated to transition costs, at a level higher than would otherwise be anticipated had the current regulatory system remained intact, with the exception of:

(a) increased costs related to universal system benefits charges; and

(b) increased costs of metering, billing, and tecbnology necessary to facilitate full customer choice.

(5) Subject to the obligation to mitigate transition costs, a cooperative utility shall fully recover transition costs as approved by its local governing body. Unmitigable transition costs are nonbypassable and collected on a nondiscriminatory basis from consumers using the cooperative utility's distribution facilities in the receipt of electricity supply services.

(6) A cooperative utility may not collect transition costs from a customer for which the cooperative utility does not have and never has had an obligation to incur costs to provide electricity supply service unless the unmitigated transition costs were incurred solely on behalf of the customer.

(7) Approval of and collection of transition costs through a transition charge is a settlement of all transition claims by a cooperative utility. A cooperative utility seeking to recover transition costs through any other means may not collect transition charges.

Section 20. Cooperative utility — exemption. (1) Within 1 year after [the effective date of this act], a cooperative utility may file a notice with the commission that the cooperative utility does not intend to open the cooperative utility's distribution facilities to electricity suppliers and does not intend to adopt a transition plan. Except as otherwise provided in the universal system benefits program pursuant to [section 22], a cooperative utility filing notice under this section is exempt from the provisions and requirements of [sections 1 through 31].

(2) A cooperative utility filing a notice under this section:

(a) may elect later to adopt a transition plan in accordance with [sections 1 through 31]; and

(b) may not use a public utility's distribution facilities unless preexisting contracts exist.

Section 21. Maintaining safety and reliability. Utilities shall maintain standards of safety and reliability of the electric delivery system and existing customer service requirements.

Section 22. Universal system benefits programs. (1) Universal system benefits programs are established for the state of Montana to ensure continued funding of and new expenditures for energy conservation, renewable resource projects and applications, and low-income energy assistance during the transition period and into the future.

(2) Beginning January 1, 1999, 2.4% of each utility's annual retail sales revenue in Montana for the calendar year ending December 31, 1995, is established as the annual funding level for universal system benefits programs. Unless modified as provided in subsection (7), this funding level remains in effect until July 1, 2003.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2862 1997

(a) The recovery of all universal system benefits programs costs imposed pursuant to this section is authorized through the imposition of a universal system benefits charge assessed at the meter for each local utility system customer as provided in this section.

(b) Utilities must receive credit toward annual funding requirements for a utility's internal programs or activities that qualify as universal system benefits programs, including those portions of expenditures for the purchase of power that are for the acquisition or support of renewable energy, conservation-related activities, or low-income energy assistance, and for customers' programs or activities as provided in subsection (7).

(c) A utility at which the sale of power for final end-use occurs is the utility that receives credit for the universal system benefits program expenditure.

(d) For a utility to receive credit for low-income related expenditures, the activity must have taken place in Montana.

(e) If a utility's or a customer's credit for internal activities do not satisfy the annual funding provisions of subsection (2), then the utility shall make a payment to the universal system benefits fund for any difference.

(3) Cooperative utilities may collectively pool their statewide credits to satisfy their annual funding requirements for universal system benefits programs and low-income energy assistance.

(4) A utility's transition plan must describe how the utility proposes to provide for universal system benefits programs, including the methodologies, such as cost-effectiveness and need determination, used to measure the utility's level of contribution to each program.

(5) A utility's minimum annual funding requirement for low-income energy and weatherization assistance is established at 17% of the utility's annual universal system benefits funding level and is inclusive within the overall universal system benefits funding level.

(a) A utility must receive credit toward the utility's low-income energy assistance annual funding requirement for the utility's internal low-income energy assistance programs or activities.

(b) If a utility's credit for internal activities does not satisfy its annual funding requirement, then the utility shall make a payment for any difference to the universal energy assistance fund.

(6) An individual customer may not bear a disproportionate share of the local utility's funding requirements, and a sliding scale must be implemented to provide a more equitable distribution of program costs.

(7) A customer with loads greater than 1,000 kilowatts shall:

(a) pay a universal system benefits program charge equal to the lesser of:

(i) $500,000 less the customer credits provided for in this subsection (7); or

(ii) the product of .9 mills per kilowatt hour multiplied by the customer's kilowatt hour purchases, less customer credits provided for in this subsection (7);

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2863 1997

(b) receive credit toward that customer's annual universal system benefits charge for internal expenditures and activities that qualify as a universal system benefits program expenditure and these internal expenditures must include but not be limited to:

(i) expenditures that result in a reduction in the consumption of electrical energy in the customer's facility; and

(ii) those portions of expenditures for the purchase of power at retail or wholesale that are for the acquisition or support of renewable energy or conservation-related activities; and

(c) customers making these expenditures must receive a credit against the customer's annual universal system benefits charge, except that any of those amounts expended in a calendar year that exceed that customer's universal system benefits charge for the calendar year must be used as a credit against those charges in future years until the total amount of those expenditures has been credited against that customer's universal system benefits charges.

(8) A public utility shall prepare and submit an annual summary report of the public utility's activities relating to all universal system benefits programs to the commission and the transition advisory committee provided for in [section 29]. A cooperative utility shall prepare and submit annual summary reports of activities to the cooperative utility's respective local governing body, the statewide cooperative utility office, and the transition advisory committee. The annual report must include but is not limited to:

(a) the types of internal utility and customer programs being used to satisfy the provisions of [sections 1 through 31];

(b) the level of funding for those programs relative to the annual funding requirements prescribed in subsection (2); and

(c) any payments made to the statewide funds in the event that internal funding was below the prescribed annual funding requirements.

Section 23. Commission authority — rulemaking authority. (1) Beginning on the effective date of a commission order regarding a public utility's transition plan, the commission shall regulate the public utility's retail transmission and distribution services within the state of Montana, as provided in [sections 1 through 31], and may not regulate the price of electricity supply except as electricity supply may be procured during the transition period by the distribution function of a public utility for those customers that have not chosen an electricity supplier or for those customers that have not yet been assigned an electricity supplier. During the transition period, those procurements may include a cost-based contract from a supply affiliate or an unregulated division.

(2) If the transition period is extended for certain customers because the commission finds that workable competition in the electricity supply market does not exist, then the commission shall continue to regulate the provision of electricity supply by distribution services providers in accordance with [section 11].

(3) The commission shall decide if there is workable competition in the electricity supply market by determining whether competition is sufficient to inhibit monopoly pricing or anticompetitive price leadership. In reaching a decision, the commission may not rely solely on market share estimates.

(4) The commission shall license electricity suppliers and enforce licensing provisions pursuant to [section 24].

(5) The commission shall promulgate rules that identify the licensees and ensure that the offered electricity supply is provided as offered and is adequate in terms of quality, safety, and reliability.

(6) The commission shall establish just and reasonable rates through established ratemaking principles for public utility distribution and transmission services and shall regulate these services. The commission may approve rates and charges for electricity distribution and transmission services based on alternative forms of ratemaking such as performance-based ratemaking, on a demonstration by the public utility that the alternative method complies with [sections 1 through 31], and on the public utility's transition plan.

(7) The commission shall certify that a cooperative utility has adopted a transition plan that complies with [sections 1 through 31]. A cooperative utility's transition plan is considered certified 60 days after the cooperative utility files for certification.

(8) The commission shall promulgate rules that protect consumers, distribution services providers, and electricity suppliers from anticompetitive and abusive practices.

(9) In addition to promulgating rules expressly provided for in [sections 1 through 31], the commission may promulgate any other rules necessary to carry out the provision of [sections 1 through 31].

(10) [Sections 1 through 31] do not give the commission the authority to:

(a) regulate cooperative utilities in any manner other than reviewing certification filings for compliance with [sections 1 through 31]; or

(b) compel any change to a cooperative utility's certification filing made pursuant to [sections 1 through 31].

Section 24. Licensing. (1) Except as provided in [section 20], an electricity supplier shall file an application with and obtain a license from the commission before offering electricity for sale to retail customers in the state of Montana.

(2) As a condition of licensing, an electricity supplier shall identify and describe its activities and purposes and the purposes of each of the electricity supplier's affiliates, if any, including whether an affiliate that owns or operates distribution facilities offers customer choice through open, fair, and nondiscriminatory access to the electricity supplier's or the electricity supplier's affiliate's distribution facilities.

(3) The commission may require electricity suppliers that provide electricity supply service to small customers to make a standard service offer that ensures that those customers have access to affordable electricity.

(4) The commission may require:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2865 1997

(a) proof of financial integrity and a demonstration of adequate reserve margins or the ability to obtain those reserves; and

(b) a licensee to post a bond should an electricity supplier fail to supply electricity or lack financial integrity.

(5) An electricity supplier shall provide the commission and all distribution services providers with copies of all license applications pursuant to subsection (2). Licensees shall update information and file annual reports with the commission and all distributien services providers.

(6) License applications are effective 30 days after filing with the commission unless the commission rejects the application during that period. If the commission rejects a license application, the commission shall specify the reasons in writing and, if practical, identify alternative ways to overcome deficiencies.

(7) Notwithstanding [sections 1 through 31], a cooperative utility is not required to apply for a license from the commission to be an electricity supplier to customers served by that cooperative utility in its electric facilities service territory or to any customers served by another cooperative utility subject to the consent of the other cooperative utility's local governing body.

Section 25. Penalties — license revocation. (1) The commission may begin a proceeding to reveke or suspend a license of an electricity supplier, impose a penalty, or both, for just cause on the commission's own investigation or upon the complaint of an affected party if it is established that the electricity supplier:

(a) intentionally provided false information to the commission;

(b) switched, or caused to be switched, the electricity supply for a customer without first obtaining the customer's written permission;

(c) failed to provide a reasonably adequate supply of electricity for its customers in Montana; er

(d) committed fraud er engaged in deceptive practices.

(2) Any person selling or offering to sell electricity in this state in violation of [sections 24, 27,] and this section is subject to a fine of not less than $100 or more than $1,000 for the violation or a license revocation or suspension. Eacb day of each violation constitutes a separate violation.

(3) The fine must be recovered in a civil action upon the complaint by the commission in any court of competent jurisdiction.

(4) A license revocation proceeding under this section is a contested case proceeding pursuant to the Montana Administrative Procedure Act, Title 2, chapter 4, part 6.

Section 26. Bill information — customer nonpayment — commission rulemaking. (1) Electrical bills to consumers must disclose each component of the electrical bill in accordance with rules promulgated by the commission. Electrical bills must disclose but are not limited to the following:

(a) distribution and transmission charges;

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2866 1997

(b) electricity supply charges;

(c) competitive transition charges; and

(d) universal system benefits charges.

(2) The commission shall promulgate rules establishing the procedures relating to how and when an electricity supplier may discontinue service to a customer because of the customer's nonpayment and the procedures relating to reconnection, except that those rules may not apply to electricity suppliers that are cooperative utilities.

(3) Local governing bodies of a cooperative utility shall retain authority for cooperative utilities regarding:

(a) customer nonpayment and reconnection; and

(b) information contained in electrical bills to consumers.

Section 27. Unauthorized switching — commission rulemaking. (1) An electricity supplier or any person, firm, corporation, or governmental entity may not make any change in the electricity supplier for a customer without first obtaining the customer's written permission.

(2) The commission shall promulgate rules establishing procedures to prevent unauthorized switching.

Section 28. Reciprocity. (1) Except as provided in [section 20], all electricity suppliers must be afforded open, fair, and nondiscriminatory access to customers and a comparable opportunity to compete.

(2) A distribution services provider or the distribution services provider's affiliates may not use another distribution services provider's facilities in the state of Montana to sell electricity to customers in the state of Montana unless the first distribution services provider or the distribution services provider's affiliates offer comparable and nondiscriminatory access to the distribution services provider's distribution facilities.

Section 29. Transition advisory committee. (1) A transition advisory committee on electric utility industry restructuring is created. The transition advisory committee is composed of eight voting members who are appointed as follows:

(a) The speaker of the house shall appoint four members from the house of representatives, not more than two of whom may be from one political party.

(b) The president of the senate shall appoint four members from the senate, not more than two of whom may be from one political party.

(2) The following entities shall appoint nonvoting advisory representatives to the transition advisory committee:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2867 1997

(c) One representative of the cooperative utility industry is appointed as designated by the Montana electrical cooperative association.

(d) The public utilities in the state of Montana shall appoint one member.

(e) The commission shall appoint one member.

(f) The governor shall appoint the following nonvoting committee members:

(i) one representative from the industrial community with an interest in the restructuring of the electric utility industry;

(ii) one representative from the nonindustrial retail electric consumer sector;

(iii) one representative from organized labor;

(iv) one representative from the community comprising environmental and conservation interests;

(v) one representative from a low-income program provider;

(vi) one representative of Montana's Indian tribes; and

(vii) one representative of the electric power market industry.

(3) In case of a vacancy, a replacement must be selected in the manner of the original appointment.

(4) Legislative members are entitled to salary and expenses as provided in section 5-2-302.

(5) The public service commission, legislative services division, and appropriate state agencies shall provide staff assistance as requested by the committee.

(6) Transition advisory committee members must be appointed within 60 days of [the effective date of this act] to an initial term expiring on December 31, 1999. Subsequent terms must be for up to 2 years expiring on January 1 of odd-numbered years.

(7) The voting members shall select a transition advisory committee presiding officer.

(8) The transition advisory committee on electric utility industry restructuring must dissolve on the earlier of either the date that full transition to retail competition is completed or December 31, 2004.

(9) The transition advisory committee shall provide an annual report on the status of electric utility restructuring on or before November 1 to the governor, the speaker of the house, the president of the senate, and the commission and shall provide quarterly interim summary reports to the members of the legislature through January 1, 1999.

(10) The transition advisory committee shall meet at least quarterly or as often as is necessary to conduct its business.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2868 1997

(11) The transition advisory committee shall analyze and report on the transition to effective competition in the competitive electricity supply market. The annual report made in the year 2000 must evaluate specifically the pilot programs for customers with loads under 1,000 kilowatts and must include legislative recommendations, if it appears appropriate, about the best means to further encourage the development of customer choice and meaningful market access for the benefit of smaller customers. The annual report for the year 2000 must also address the need, if any, for additional consumer protection including protection from abusive or anticompetitive practices.

(12) The criteria that the transition advisory committee must use to evaluate effective competition in the electricity supply market include but are not limited to the following:

(a) the level of demand for power supply choice and the availability of market prices for smaller customers;

(b) the existence of sufficient markets and bargaining power to the benefit of smaller customers and the best means to encourage and support the development of sufficient markets;

(c) the level of interest among electricity suppliers and the opportunity for electricity suppliers to serve smaller customers; and

(d) the existence of the requisite technical and administrative support that enables smaller customers to have choice of electricity supply.

(13) The transition advisory committee shall recommend legislation if necessary to promote electric utility restructuring and retail choice of electricity suppliers.

(14) The transition advisory committee shall make recommendations to the governor, regarding the implementation of statewide universal system benefits and universal energy assistance funds, in time to allow for those funds to be created on or before January 1, 1999. This may include recommendations regarding the assignment of an existing government agoncy or private, nonprofit entity as the fund administrator and administration guidelines for the funds, including the means by which funds may be made available for use.

(15) The transition advisory committee shall monitor and evaluate the universal system benefits programs and comparable levels of funding for the region and make recommendations to the 58th legislature to adjust the funding level provided for in [section 22] to coincide with the related activities of the region at that time.

(16) On or before July 1, 2002, the transition advisory committee, in coordination with the commission, shall conduct a reevaluation of the ongoing need for universal system benefits programs and annual funding requirements and shall make recommendations to the 58th legislature regarding the future need for those programs. The determination must focus specifically on the existence of markets to provide for any or all of the universal system benefits programs or whether other means for funding those programs have developed. These recommendations may also address how future reevaluations will be provided for, if necessary.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2869 1997

(17) On or before November 1, 2001, tbe transition advisory committee shall collect information to determine whether Montana utilities or their affiliates have an opportunity to sell electricity to customers outside of the state of Montana comparable to the opportunity provided pursuant to [sections 1 through 31] to utilities or their affiliates located outside the state of Montana. That information must be included in the report to the 58th legislature.

(18) On or before November 1, 1998, the transition advisory committee shall make recommendations to the governor and the legislature regarding the provision of low-income energy assistance programs in Montana by all energy providers.

Section 30. Tax revenue analysis. (1) The revenue oversight committee, as provided for in 5-18-102, shall analyze the amount of state and local tax revenue derived from previously regulated electricity suppliers that will enter the competitive market and report to the legislature annually on how revenue to the state or local government is changed by restructuring and competition.

(2) On or before November 30, 1998, the revenue oversight committee shall recommend legislative changes, if any, to address the establishment of comparable state and local taxation burdens on all market participants in the supply of electricity. Any legislation recommended by the revenue oversight committee should place comparable state and local taxation burdens upon all market participants.

Section 31. Transition costs financing. (1) A utility may, after July 1, 1997, apply to the commission for a determination that certain transition costs may be recovered through the issuance of transition bonds. If transition honds are issued, cost savings associated with and resulting from the bonds must benefit customers. After the issuance of a financing order, the utility retains sole discretion regarding whether to sell, assign, or otherwise transfer or pledge transition property or to cause the transition bonds to be issued, including the right to defer or postpone the sale, assignment, transfer, pledge, or issuance. If transition bonds are not issued within 4 years of the issuance of the financing order, the financing order must terminate. The utility may apply for an extension or renewal of a financing order.

(2) (a) The commission may issue financing orders in accordance with this section to facilitate the recovery, reimbursement, financing, or refinancing of transition costs and the acquisition of transition property. A financing order may be adopted only upon the application of a utility and may only become effective in accordance with its terms after the utility files with the commission the utility's written consent to all terms and conditions of the financing order. A financing order may specify how amounts collected from a customer are allocated between fixed transition amounts and other charges.

(h) A financing order must include, without limitation, a procedure for the expeditious approval by the commission of periodic adjustments to nonbypassable rates and charges associated with fixed transition amounts included in the order to ensure recovery of all transition costs and the costs of capital associated with the proposed recovery, reimbursement, financing, or refinancing of transition costs and the acquisition of transition property including the costs of issuing, servicing, and retiring the transition bonds contemplated by the financing order. The order must set forth the term over which the transition bonds are to be paid, but those terms may not exceed 20 years. These adjustments may not impose fixed transition amounts upon customer classes that were not subject to the fixed transition amounts in the pertinent financing order.

(3) (a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, and except as otherwise provided in this section with respect to transition property that has been made the basis for the issuance of transition bonds and upon the issuance of transition bonds, the financing orders and the fixed transition amounts must be irrevocable.

(b) If transition bonds have been issued, the commission may not by rescinding, altering, or amending the financing order or otherwise:

(i) revalue or revise for ratemaking purposes the transition costs or the costs of recovering, reimbursing, financing, or refinancing the transition costs and acquiring transition property;

(ii) determine that the fixed transition amounts or rates are unjust or unreasonable; or

(iii) in any way reduce or impair the value of transition property either directly or indirectly by taking fixed transition amounts into account when setting other rates for the utility.

(c) The total amount of the transition property may not be subject to reduction, impairment, postponement, or termination.

(d) Except as otherwise provided in this section, the state pledges and agrees with the assignees and pledgees of transition property and transition bondholders that the state may not limit or alter the fixed transition amounts, transition property, financing orders, or any right under the bonds until the bonds, together with the interest on the bonds, are fully met and discharged. The board, as agent for the state, is authorized to include this pledge and undertaking for the state in these bonds.

(e) Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the commission shall approve those adjustments to the fixed transition amounts as may be necessary to ensure timely recovery of all transition costs that are the subject of the pertinent financing order and the costs of capital associated with the recovery, reimbursement, financing, or refinancing of transition costs and acquiring transition property including the costs of issuing, servicing, and retiring the transition bonds contemplated by the financing order. The adjustments may not impose fixed transition amounts upon customer classes that were not subject to the fixed transition amounts in the pertinent financing order.

(4) (a) Financing orders do not constitute a debt or liability of the state or of any political subdivision of the state if issued through the board and do not constitute a pledge of the full faith and credit of the state or any of the state's political subdivisions if issued through the board. The financing orders are payable solely from the funds provided under this section. The bonds and offering documents must contain on their face a statement to the following effect:

This bond may not constitute an indebtedness or a loan of credit of the state of Montana or any political subdivision of the state of Montana within any constitutional or statutory provision. Neither the full faith and credit nor the taxing power of the state of Montana is pledged to the payment of the principal or interest on this bond, and neither the state of Montana nor any political subdivision of the state of Montana is obligated, directly, indirectly, or contingently, to levy or to pledge any form of taxation or to make any appropriation for the payment of this hond. This bond is a limited obligation of the issuer, payable solely out of the transition property or the proceeds of that property spocifically pledged for its payment and not otherwise.

(b) The issuance of bonds under this section may not directly, indirectly, or contingently obligate the state or any political subdivision of the state to levy or to pledge any form of taxation or to make any appropriation for bond payment.

(5) The commission shall establish procedures for the expeditious processing of applications for financing orders, including the approval or disapproval of applications within 120 days after a utility submits a complete application. The commission shall provide in any financing order for a procedure for the expeditious approval by the commission of periodic adjustments to the fixed transition amounts that are the subject of the pertinent financing order pursuant to subsection (2). The commission shall determine on each anniversary of the issuance of the financing order and at additional intervals as may be provided for in the financing order whether the adjustments are required and shall provide for the adjustments, if required, to be approved within 60 days of each anniversary of the issuance of the financing order or of each additional interval provided for in the financing order.

(6) Fixed transition amounts become transition property when and to the extent that a financing order authorizing the fixed transition amounts has become effective in accordance with subsection (2), and the transition property must thereafter continuously exist as property for all purposes with all of the rights and privileges of [sections 1 through 31] for the period and to the extent provided in the financing order or until the transition bonds are paid in full including all principal, interest, premium, costs, and arrearages on the transition bonds.

(7) Transition bonds may be issued upon commission approval in the pertinent financing order. Transition bonds must specify that they do not provide recourse to the credit or any assets of the utility, other than the transition property as specified in the pertinent financing order.

(8) (a) A utility may sell, assign, or transfer all or portions of the utility's interest in transition property to an assignee. A utility or an assignee may further sell, assign, or transfer the utility's interest in that transition property to one or more assignees in connection with the issuance of transition bonds to the extent approved in the pertinent financing order.

(b) A utility or an assignee may pledge transition property as collateral for transition bonds to tho extent approved in the pertinent financing order and may provide for a security interest in the transition property as provided in this section.

(c) Transition property may be sold, assigned, or transferred for the benefit of:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2872 1997

(i) transition bondholders in connection with the exercise of remedies upon a default; or

(ii) any person acquiring the transition property after a sale, assignment, or transfer pursuant to this section.

(9) (a) To the extent that any interest in transition property is sold, assigned, transferred, or pledged as collateral, the commission shall authorize the utility to contract with any assignee so that the utility will, subject to the utility's rights under subsection (18):

(i) continue to operate the utility's system and to provide service to the utility's customers;

(ii) collect amounts in respect of the fixed transition amounts for the benefit and account of the assignee; and

(iii) account for and remit these amounts to or for the account of the assignee.

(b) Contracting with the assignee in accordance with the commission's authorization may not impair or negate the characterization of the sale, assignment, transfer, or pledge as a true sale, an absolute assignment or transfer, or a grant of a security interest, as applicable.

(10) Notwithstanding any other provision of law, any provision under this section or under a financing order requiring that the commission take or refrain from taking action with respect to the subject matter of a financing order binds the commission and any successor commission or agency exercising functions similar to the commission, and the commission or any successor commission or agency may not rescind, alter, or amend that requirement in a financing order.

(11) A pledge or any other security interest in transition property is valid, is enforceable against the pledger and third parties, including judgment lien creditors, subject only to the rights of any third parties holding security interests in the transition property perfected in the manner described in this section, and attaches only when all of the following have taken place:

(a) the commission has issued the financing order authorizing the fixed transition amounts included in the transition property;

(b) value has been given by the pledgees of the transition property; and

(c) the pledgor has signed a security agreement or other financing-related agreement covering the transition property.

(12) (a) A valid and enforceable security interest in transition property is perfected only when it has attached and when a financing statement has been filed with the secretary of state in accordance with procedures that the secretary of state may establish. The financing statement must name the pledgor of the transition property as debtor and identify the transition property.

(b) Any description of the transition property is sufficient if the description refers to the financing order creating the transition property.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2873 1997

(c) The commission may require other filings with respect to the security interest in accordance with procedures the commission may establish, except that these filings may not affect the perfection of the security interest.

(13) A perfected security interest in transition property is a continuously perfected security interest in all revenue and proceeds arising with respect to the transition property, whether or not the revenue or proceeds have accrued. Conflicting security interests must rank according to priority in time of perfection. Transition property constitutes property for all purposes, including for contracts securing transition bonds, whether or not the revenue and proceeds arising with respect to the transition property have accrued.

(14) (a) Subject to the terms of the security agreement covering the transition property and the rights of any third parties holding security interests in the transition property perfected in the manner described in this section, the validity and relative priority of a security interest created under this section is not defeated or adversely affected by:

(i) the commingling of revenue arising with respect to the transition property with other funds of the utility that is the pledgor or transferor of the transition property; or

(ii) any security interest of any third party in a deposit account of that utility perfected under Title 30, chapter 9, part 3, into which the revenue is deposited.

(b) Subject to the terms of the security agreement, upon compliance with the requirements of this section, a pledgee of the transition property has a perfected security interest in all cash and deposit accounts of the utility in which revenue arising with respect to the transition property has been commingled with other funds, but the perfected security interest must be limited to an amount no greater than the amount of the revenue with respect to the transition property received by the utility within 12 months before any default under the security agreement or the institution of insolvency proceedings by or against the utility, less payments from the revenue to the pledgees during that 12-month period.

(15) (a) If a default occurs under the security agreement covering the transition property, a pledgee of the transition property, subject to the terms of the security agreement, has all rights and remedies of a secured party upon default under Title 30, chapter 9, part 5, and is entitled to foreclose or otherwise enforce the pledgee's security interest in the transition property, subject to the rights of any third parties holding prior security interests in the transition property perfected in the manner provided in this section.

(b) The commission may require in the financing order creating the transition property that in the event of default by the utility in payment of revenue arising with respect to the transition property, the commission and any successor to the commission, upon the application by a pledgee or assignee of the transition property and without limiting any other remedies available to the pledgees or transferees by reason of the default shall order the sequestration and payment to the pledgee or assignee of the proceeds of the transition property. An order must remain in full force and effect notwithstanding any bankruptcy, reorganization, or other insolvency proceedings with respect to the public utility or a debtor, pledgor, or transferor of the transition property.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2874 1997

(c) Any sum in excess of amounts necessary to pay principal, premium, if any, interest, costs, and arrearages on the transition bonds and other costs arising under the security agreement must be remitted to the debtor or to the pledgor as provided in the security agreement.

(16) (a) A transfer of transition property by a utility to an assignee or by the assignee to another assignee that the parties have in the governing documentation expressly stated to be a sale or other absolute transfer in a transaction approved or authorized in a financing order must be treated as an absolute transfer of all of the transferor's right, title, and interest, as in a true sale, and not as a pledge or other financing of the transition property, other than for federal and state income and franchise tax purposes.

(b) Granting to transition bondholders a preferred right to revenue of the utility or the provision by the utility or an assignee of other credit enhancement with respect to transition bonds may not impair or negate the characterization of any transfer as a true sale, other than for federal and state income and franchise tax purposes.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection (16), for state tax purposes, a transfer must be treated as a pledge or other financing unless the governing documentation of transfer specifically states that the transfer is intended to be treated otherwise. The characterization of the transfer as a true sale or other absolute transfer in the governing documentation of a transfer is not intended to prejudice the characterization of the transfer as a pledge or other financing for federal tax purposes.

(17) A sale, assignment, or other transfer of transition property may only be considered perfected as against any third person, including any judicial lien creditor, when both of the following have taken place:

(a) the financing order authorizing the fixed transition amounts included in the transition property has become effective in accordance with subsection (2); and

(b) an assignment of the transition property, in writing, has been executed and delivered to the transferee.

(18) (a) As between bona fide assignees of the same right for value without notice, the assignee first filing a financing statement with the secretary of state in accordance with procedures that the secretary of state may establish has priority. The financing statement must name the assignor of the transition property as debtor and must identify the transition property. Any description of the transition property is sufficient if the description refers to the financing order creating the transition property. The commission may require the assignor or the assignee to make other filings with respect to the transfer in accordance with procedures that the commission may establish, but these filings may not affect the perfection of the transfer.

(b) Any successor to the utility, whether pursuant to any bankruptcy, reorganization, or other insolvency proceeding or pursuant to any merger, sale, or transfer, by operation of law or otherwise, shall perform and satisfy all obligations of the utility pursuant to this section in the same manner and to the same extent as the utility, including but not limited to collecting and paying to the assignee or pledgee, as the case may be, revenue arising with respect to the transition property sold, assigned, transferred, or pledged to secure transition bonds.

(19) Transition property or any right, title, or interest of a utility, assignee, or pledgee described in the definition of transition property, whether before or after the issuance of a financing order, does not constitute an account or general intangibles under 30-9-106. Any right, title, or interest pertaining to a financing order, including the interest pertaining to a financing order, along with the associated transition property and any revenue, collections, claims, payments, money, or proceeds of or arising from fixed transition amounts pursuant to the financing order, may not be considered proceeds of any right, title, or interest other than in the order and the transition property arising from the order.

(20) The lien under this section is enforceable against the pledgor and all third parties, including judicial lien creditors, subject only to the rights of any third parties holding security interests in the transition property previously perfected in the manner described in this section if value has been given by the purchasers of transition bonds. A perfected lien in transition property is a continuously perfected security interest in all revenue and proceeds arising with respect to the associated transition property, whether or not revenue has been accrued. Transition property constitutes property for the purposes of contracts securing transition bonds, whether or not the related revenue has accrued. The lien created under this section is perfected and ranks before any lien, including any judicial lien, that subsequently attaches to the transition property, to the fixed transition costs, and to the financing order and any rights created by the order or any proceeds of the order. The relative priority of a lien created under this section is not defeated or adversely affected by changes to the financing order or to the fixed transition amounts payable by any customer.

(21) The commission shall establish and maintain a separate system of records to reflect the date and time of receipt of all filings made under this section and may provide that transfers of transition property to an assignee be filed in accordance with the same system.

(22) Any sale, assignment, or other transfer of transition property or any pledge of transition property is exempt from any state or local sales, income, transfers, gains, receipts, or similar taxes.

(23) The transition bonds issued under [sections 1 through 31] are exempt from the provisions of Title 30, chapter 10, but copies of all prospectus and disclosure documents must be deposited for public inspection with the state securities commissioner.

(24) The granting, perfection, and priority of security interests with respect to transition property and the proceeds thereof are governed by this section rather than Title 30, chapter 9.

(25) Upon the payment in full of transition bond principal and interest, the utility shall discontinue charging and collecting the competitive transition chargo associated with that portion of the utility's approved transition costs.

(26) The commission may, by order or rule and subject to terms and conditions that it may prescribe, exempt any security or class of securities for which an application is required under this title or any public utility or class of public utility from the provisions of this title if it finds that the application of this title to the security, class of security, public utility, or class of public utility is not required by the public interest.

For purposes of this subsection (1)(a), "property used for the sole purpose" does not include a headquarters, office, shop, or other similar facility.*

(b) allocations for centrally assessed natural gas companies having a major distribution system in this state; and

(c) centrally assessed companies' allocations except:

Section 36. Section 69-5-104, MCA, is amended to read:

"69-5-104. A customer may not duplicate existing electric service facilities.*"

Section 40. Section 69-5-108, MCA, is amended to read:

"69-5-108. Agreements between electric ~~suppliers as to service areas~~ *facilities providers. ~~Notwithstanding the provisions of 69-5-103 through 69-5-109, an electric supplier may furnish electric service to any consumer at any premises being served by another electric supplier upon written agreement of the affected electric suppliers or at premises that another electric supplier has the right to serve pursuant to this part, upon written agreement of the affected electric suppliers.~~ Utilities may enter into agreements that identify the geographical area to be exclusively served by each electric facilities provider that is party to the agreement, overriding the provisions of 69-5-105 and 69-5-107. If an agreement is approved by the commission pursuant to this part, the agreement is valid and binding on all electric facilities providers and all customers, except those provided for in 69-5-106."

(2) The agreements do not apply to electric service facilities with loads of 400 kilowatts or greater. Agreements must be based on the location of facilities in place on [the effective date of this act].

(3) If electric facilities providers have failed to negotiate agreements within 1 year from the [effective date of this act], the commission shall divide the annexed and planning zone areas into exclusive service territories, using the considerations pursuant to [section 44].

(2) If an affidavit showing that grounds exist ~~therefor~~ that an electric facilities provider is in violation of this part is filed with the complaint, a temporary restraining order ~~shall~~ must be issued without notice. A copy of the temporary restraining order, complaint, and affidavit ~~shall~~ must be served upon the defendant, together with an order to show cause why the temporary restraining order should not be made permanent, within 5 days after issuance of the temporary restraining order. The hearing on the order to show cause must be held at a date specified ~~therein~~ in the order~~, which shall~~ and may not be more than 10 days after service ~~thereof~~ of the order and ~~shall~~ must take precedence over all matters pending before the district court. A judgment making the injunction permanent or dissolving the temperary restraining order ~~theretofore~~ that was issued and dismissing the complaint must be made ~~not later than~~ before 10 days after the hearing on the order to show cause.

(3) Any party aggrieved by the order may appeal to the supreme court of Montana by filing a notice of appeal in the district court within 20 days from entry of the order. The appeal must be perfected within 20 days ~~thereafter~~ after filing the notice of appeal and ~~shall~~ must take precedence over all matters pending before the supreme court of Montana."

Section 44. Commission jurisdiction over agreements. (1) All agreements between electric facilities providers must be submitted to the commission for approval. Each agreement must clearly identify the geographical area to be served by each electric facilities provider. The submission must include:

(a) a map and a written description of the area; and

(b) the terms and conditions pertaining to the implementation of the agreement.

(2) Whenever an agreement involves the exchange or transfer of customers within service territories, the following must also be included with the agreement submission:

(a) the number and class of customers to be transferred;

(b) assurance that the affected customers have been contacted and have received a written explanation of the difference in rates; and

(c) information with respect to the degree of acceptance by affected customers, such as the number in favor of and those oppesed to the transfer.

(3) In approving agreements, the commission shall consider but not be limited to consideration of:

(a) the reasonable likelihood that the agreement, in and of itself, will not cause a decrease in the reliability of electric service to the existing or future ratepayers of any electric facilities provider party of the agreement; and

(b) the reasonable likelihood that the agreement will eliminate existing or potentially uneconomic duplication of electric service facilities.

(4) An agreement approved by the commission is valid and enforceable, and except as provided in 69-5-106, an electric facilities provider may not offer, construct, or extend electric service facilities into an exclusive territory.

(5) The commission shall state its findings and conclusions for approving or disapproving an agreement and shall render a decision within 90 days of receipt of the agreement. The electric facilities providers submitting the agreement to the commission shall act according to the agreement until a decision is rendered.

(6) Upen approval of the agreement, any modification, changes, or corrections to this agreement must be approved by the commission.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2882 1997

(7) The commission may promulgate rules to administer this part consistent with the requirements of this part.

Section 45. Appropriation. (1) The legislative services division may accept gifts, grants, or other donations for the purpose of offsetting the costs of conducting the activities of the transition advisory committee under [section 29] or the study required in [section 30].

(2) A gift, grant, or other donation made by a public utility, as defined in 69-3-101(1)(a), (1)(c), or (1)(d), is a cost that is nonrecoverable from ratepayers and must be borne 100% by the shareholders of the company making the gift, grant, or donation.

(3) The legislative services division is appropriated up to $200,000 of any gifts, grants, or other donations received under this section, and the appropriation is a biennial appropriation.

(4) If the amount of gifts, grants, or donations exceeds the amount appropriated under subsection (3), the excess must be refunded to the donors in the ratio of their respective gift, grant, or donation to the total gifts, grants, and donations received.

(5) If the amount of the gifts, grants, and donations expended for conducting the activities of the transition advisory committee under [section 29] or the study required in [section 30] is less than the amount received as gifts, grants, or donations, the excess must be refunded to the donors in the ratio of their respective gift, grant, or donation to the total gifts, grants, and donations received.

Section 46. Repealer. Section 69-5-103, MCA, is repealed.

Section 47. Saving clause. [This act] does not affect rights and duties that matured, penalties that were incurred, or proceedings that were begun before [the effective date of this act].

CHAPTER NO. 506

[SB 396]

AN ACT ALLOWING NATURAL GAS UTILITIES TO PROVIDE FOR CUSTOMER CHOICE; ALLOWING NATURAL GAS UTILITIES TO USE TRANSITION BOND FINANCING FOR TRANSITION COSTS; ALLOWING FOR FUNCTIONAL SEPARATION AND CONSUMER PROTECTION; REQUIRING THE PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION TO LICENSE NATURAL GAS SUPPLIERS; ESTABLISHING RECIPROCITY FOR ALL NATURAL GAS SUPPLIERS; PROVIDING FOR OPTIONAL PERFORMANCE-BASED RATEMAKING; REQUIRING THE REVENUE OVERSIGHT COMMITTEE TO CONDUCT A TAX REVENUE ANALYSIS AND REPORT TO THE 56TH LEGISLATURE; PROVIDING FOR UNIVERSAL SYSTEM BENEFITS PROGRAMS; AND PROVIDING AN IMMEDIATE EFFECTIVE DATE AND A RETROACTIVE APPLICABILITY DATE.

STATEMENT OF INTENT

A statement of intent is required because this bill provides the public service commission with rulemaking authority.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Short title. [Sections 1 through 9] may be cited as the "Natural Gas Utility Restructuring and Customer Choice Act".

Section 2. Definitions. As used in [sections 1 through 9], the following definitions apply:

(1) "Customer" means a natural gas customer or consumer of natural gas supply or natural gas transmission facilities, storage facilities, or distribution facilities.

(2) "Distribution facilities" means those facilities that are not transmission facilities:

(a) by and through which natural gas is received from a transmission services provider and transmitted to the customer; and

(b) operated by a distribution services provider.

(3) "Distribution services provider" means a person controlling or operating distribution facilities for distribution of natural gas to the public.

(4) "Natural gas supplier" means a person, including aggregators, market aggregators, brokers, and marketers, licensed by the commission that is offering to sell natural gas to retail customers in the state of Montana.

(5) "Natural gas utility" means a utility regulated by the commission on [the effective date of this act] that provides natural gas services to the public.

(6) "Open access" means that a natural gas utility has made its transmission facilities, storage facilities, or distribution facilities available to all natural gas suppliers, transmission services providers, distribution services providers, and customers on a nondiscriminatory and comparable basis.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2884 1997

(7) "Performance-based ratemaking" means those forms of regulation that include but are not limited to the use of revenue indexing, price indexing, ranges of authorized return, gas cost indexing, and innovative use of utility-related assets and activities, such as system sales of excess natural gas supplies, release of upstream pipeline capacity, and performance of billing services for other natural gas suppliers. A performance-based regulation may also include a mechanism for automatic annual adjustments of revenue to prices to reflect changes in any index adopted for the implementation of the performance-based form of regulation.

(8) "Storage facilities" means those facilities that are owned, controlled, or operated by a person offering storage service for natural gas and generally means any underground reservoir suitable for the storage of natural gas and the facilities used to inject and withdraw natural gas into and out of that underground reservoir.

(9) "Transition costs" means:

(a) a natural gas utility's net, verifiable production- and gathering-related costs, including costs of capital, that become unrecoverable as a result of customer choice and open access. These costs include but are not limited to:

(i) regulatory assets and deferred charges that exist as a result of current regulatory practices and that may be accounted for up to the point in time that the commission issues a final order in a docket addressing transition costs[, including all costs, expenses, and fees related to the issuance of transition bonds];

(ii) the above-market costs associated with existing gas supply commitments;

(iii) other natural gas utility investments rendered uneconomic as a result of implementation of customer choice and open access;

(iv) the costs associated with renegotiation or buyout of existing natural gas purchase contracts; and

(v) the costs associated with the issuance of any related transition bonds authorized by the commission pursuant to [section 3].

(b) the costs of refinancing or retiring debt or equity capital of the natural gas utility and associated federal and state tax liabilities or other utility costs for which the use of transition bonds would benefit customers.

(10) "Transmission facilities" means those facilities owned, controlled, and operated by a transmission services provider that are used to transport natural gas from a gathering line or storage facility to a distribution facility, storage facility, or end-use customer.

(11) "Transmission services provider" means a person controlling or operating transmission facilities.

(12) "Universal system benefits charge" means a nonbypassable rate or charge to be imposed on a customer to pay the customer's share of universal system benefits program costs.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2885 1997

(13) "Universal system benefits programs" means public purpose programs for cost-effective local energy conservation, low-income weatherization, and low-income energy bill assistance.

Section 3. Customer choice. (1) A natural gas utility may voluntarily offer its customers choice of natural gas supplier and provide open access to its transmission facilities, storage facilities, or distribution facilities.

(2) If a customer choice offering results in transition costs, the commission may allow those transition costs to be recovered in separate identifiable charges to customers. Upon commission approval, the natural gas utility must have the opportunity but not the obligation to finance the fixed transition costs and related financing costs using transition cost financing as provided for in [sections 3 and 31 of Senate Bill No. 390].

Section 4. Functional separation — code of conduct — emergency services — customer protection. (1) A natural gas utility that provides customer choice and open access on its system shall:

(a) functionally separate its natural gas production and gathering from its natural gas transmission, storage, and distribution services and remove natural gas production and gathering from the rate base;

(b) adopt and comply with commission-approved standards of conduct to be included in a tariff to govern its natural gas transmission, storage, and distribution services; and

(c) provide emergency natural gas supply and related services to the extent necessary to maintain the operational integrity of the transmission system as determined by the commission.

(2) The commission shall develop standards that protect consumers and natural gas suppliers from anticompetitive and abusive practices.

(3) [Sections 1 through 9] do not reduce or otherwise change the authority of the commission to review the prudence of natural gas purchases made by a natural gas utility for its customers that do not have a choice or that have not made a choice of natural gas suppliers or have not been assigned a natural gas supplier.

Section 5. Licensing — procedures — commission rulemaking. (1) The commission shall license natural gas suppliers and enforce licensing provisions pursuant to this section.

(2) A natural gas supplier shall file an application with and obtain a license from the commission to sell natural gas to customers in the state of Montana.

(3) A licensee shall:

(a) provide copies of all license applications to the commission and to all distribution services providers; and

(b) update information and file annual reports.

(4) A license application becomes effective 30 days after filing with the commission, unless the commission rejects the application during that period. If the commission rejects a license application, the commission shall specify the reasons in writing and, if practical, shall identify alternative ways to overcome deficiencies.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2886 1997

(5) The commission shall promulgate rules requiring licensing information that identifies the licensee and ensures that the natural gas supply is provided as offered and is adequate in terms of quality, safety, and reliability.

(6) The commission may require proof of a licensee's financial integrity and a demonstration of adequate firm deliverability to meet load requirements.

(7) Pursuant to its own investigation or upon the complaint of an affected party, the commission may institute a proceeding to revoke or suspend a license of a natural gas supplier for just cause.

Section 6. Reciprocity. (1) All natural gas suppliers are afforded the comparable opportunity to compete.

(2) A natural gas distribution services provider or its affiliates may not use another natural gas distribution services provider's facilities in the state of Montana to sell natural gas to customers in the state of Montana unless the natural gas distribution services provider or its affiliates offer customer choice and open access to their natural gas distribution facilities.

Section 7. Optional performance-based ratemaking for natural gas utilities — commission rulemaking. (1) The commission may, upon application and after giving notice and conducting a hearing as provided in 69-3-303, authorize any natural gas utility to implement an optional form of rate regulation using a performance-based ratemaking methodology.

(2) The commission may approve a performance-based ratemaking methodology if it finds that the methodology:

(a) preserves adequate service to all classes of customers, including transportation-only customers;

(b) does not unreasonably prejudice or disadvantage any class of natural gas utility users;

(c) provides incentives for improved performance by the natural gas utility in the natural gas utility's public duties;

(d) results in rates that are not excessive; and

(e) is in the public interest.

(3) The commission may, after giving notice and conducting a hearing as provided in 69-3-303, modify or discontinue a natural gas utility's performance-based ratemaking previously authorized under this section if the commission finds that:

(a) natural gas service to one or more classes of customers has deteriorated or will deteriorate;

(b) any class of natural gas utility customer is being unreasonably prejudiced or disadvantaged;

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2887 1997

(c) the performance-based ratemaking is not providing or will not provide reasonable incentives for improved performance by a natural gas utility in the performance of its public duties;

(d) rates are excessive compared to a natural gas utility's cost of service;

(e) terms ordered by the commission in connection with the approval of a natural gas utility's implementation of performance-based ratemaking have been violated; and

(f) the performance-based form of regulation is not in the public interest.

(4) The commission shall promulgate rules for monitoring a natural gas utility that has implemented performance-based ratemaking to ensure that the natural gas utility is in compliance with the requirements of this section.

Section 8. Universal system benefits programs — establishing nonbypassable rate. (1) A natural gas utility shall implement, upon commission approval, a universal system benefits program that considers existing universal system benefits programs in the state.

(2) The commission shall establish a universal system benefits charge that either all natural gas transmission services providers or all distribution services providers, or both, in the state of Montana shall charge to all end-use customers, taking into consideration the current level of expenditure by the natural gas utility, cost-effectiveness, and similar costs imposed in other states. The method of assessing those rates may not disproportionately burden a large transmission services provider's customers. Within the universal system benefits charge, a natural gas utility's annual funding requirement for low-income weatherization and low-income energy bill assistance is established at 0.42% of a natural gas utility's annual revenue. A natural gas utility must receive credit for its internal programs or activities that qualify as universal system benefits programs.

(3) On or before July 1, 2002, the commission shall conduct a reevaluation of the ongoing need for universal system benefits programs and annual funding requirements and shall make recommendations to the 58th legislature regarding the future need for universal system benefits programs. The determination should focus specifically on the existence of markets to provide for any of the universal system benefits programs or on whether other means for funding those universal system benefits programs have developed. These recommendations may also address how future reevaluations will be provided, if necessary.

Section 9. Tax revenue analysis. (1) The revenue oversight committee, as provided for in 5-18-102, shall analyze the amount of state and local tax revenue derived from previously regulated natural gas suppliers that will enter the competitive market and shall report to the legislature on how revenue to the state or local government is changed by restructuring and competition.

(2) On or before November 30, 1998, the revenue oversight committee shall recommend to the 56th legislature legislative changes to address the establishment of comparable state and local taxation burdens on all market participants in the supply of natural gas.

Section 10. Saving clause — retroactive applicability. (1) Except as provided in (2), [this act] does not affect rights and duties that matured, penalties Restrictions on inmate movements. An inmate may not leave the secure premises of a private correctional facility except to comply with a court order, to receive medical care that is not available at the private correctional facility, or as part of a work program without the express written approval of the department. (2) If the department determines at any time that a private correctional facility does not conform to [sections 1 through 11], applicable American correctional association and national commission on correctional health care standards, department rules, and contract requirements, the department shall notify the chief executive officer and the owner or operator, or both, of the private correctional facility. The notice must state the deficiencies and order that they be remedied within a specified period of time not to exceed 1 year. If the deficiencies are not remedied within that time, the department may hold a contested case hearing under Title 2, chapter 4, and if the department finds that suspension or revocation is warranted by nonconformance with [sections 1 through 11], applicable American correctional association and national commission on correctional health care standards, department rules, and contract requirements, the department may suspend or revoke the facility's license.

(3) If a private correctional facility fails to comply with [sections 1 through 11], applicable American correctional association and national commission on correctional health care standards, department rules, or contract requirements within the specified time period, the state may assume control of the facility for the purpose of protecting the inmates, facility staff, or the public. If the state assumes control of the facility, the department shall suspend payment for any services, and the department assumes the costs of assuming control.

(4) The department may assume emergency control of a private correctional facility if substantial violations exist that affect the life, health, or safety of the inmates, facility employees, or the public or that otherwise substantially impact the security of the private correctional facility.

(5) In the event that a contractor fails to comply with [sections 1 through 11], applicable American correctional association and national commission on correctional health care standards, department rules, or contract requirements, the state may retain the option of purchasing or leasing the facility.

(6) If either the state or the contractor fails to renew a contract, the state may retain the option of purchasing or leasing the facility.

(7) If the state retains the option of purchasing or leasing the facility under subsections (5) and (6) of this section, because it requires the creation of state debt, the appropriation bill that funds the purchase of services from the facility must be treated in the same manner as a bill creating state debt and requires a vote of two-thirds of the members of each house of the legislature for passage.

Section 12. Codification instruction. [Sections 1 through 11] are intended to be codified as a new part in Title 53, chapter 30.

Section 13. Applicability. (1) [This act] applies to proceedings begun or contracts renewed on or after [the effective date of this act].

Section 9. Section 41-3-406, MCA, is amended to read:

"41-3-406. Dispositional hearing — ~~contributions by parents or guardians for youth's care~~ temporary legal custody. (1) If a youth is found to be a youth in need of care under 41-3-404, the court may enter its judgment, making any of the following dispositions to protect the welfare of the youth:

(a) permit the youth to remain with the youth's ~~parents~~ parent or guardian, subject to those conditions and limitations the court may prescribe;

(b) grant an order of limited emancipation to a youth who is 16 years of age or older as provided in 41-3-408;

(c) transfer temporary legal custody to any of the following:

(i) the department;

(ii) a licensed child-placing agency that is willing and able to assume responsibility for the education, care, and maintenance of the youth and that is licensed or otherwise authorized by law to receive and provide care of the youth; or

(e) order further care and treatment as the court considers in the best ~~interest~~ interests of the ~~youth~~ child that does not require an expenditure of money by the department unless the department is notified and a court hearing is set in a timely manner on the proposed expenditure. The department is the payor of last resort after all family, insurance, and other resources have been examined pursuant to [section 10].

(2) To grant temporary legal custody, the court shall make a finding that:

(a) returning the child to the child's parent or guardian would create a substantial risk of harm to the child or detriment to the child's physical or emotional well-being; and

(b) reasonable services have been provided to the parent or guardian to prevent the removal of the child from the home.

(3) In making a finding regarding the risk of harm to the child or regarding detriment to the ehild, failure of the child's parent or guardian to participate in, to comply with, in whole or in part, or to meet the goals of a court-ordered treatment plan constitutes prima facie evidence that return of the child to the parent or guardian would be detrimental to the child's physical or emotional well-being.

(4) An order for temporary legal custody may be in effect for no longer than 6 months. Before the expiration of the order for temporary legal custody the county attorney, the attorney general, or an attorney hired by the county shall petition for one of the following:

(5) The court may continue an order for temporary legal custody pending a hearing on a petition provided for in subsection (4).

(6) If an extension of temporary legal custody is granted to the department, the court shall state the reasons why the child was not returned home and the conditions upon which the child may be returned home.

(7) If the time limitations of this section are not met, the court shall review the reasons for the failure and order an appropriate remedy that considers the best interests of the child.

~~(2) If the youth is transferred to the custody of the department, the court shall examine the financial ability of the youth's parents or guardians to pay a contribution covering all or part of the costs for the care, custody, and treatment of the youth, including the costs of necessary medical, dental, and other health care.~~

~~(3) If the court determines that the youth's parents or guardians are financially able to pay a contribution as provided in subsection (2), the court shall order the youth's parents or guardians to pay an amount based on the uniform child support guidelines adopted by the department of public health and human services pursuant to 40-5-209.~~

~~(4) (a) Except as provided in subsection (4)(b), contributions ordered under this section and each modification of an existing order are enforceable by immediate or delinquency income withholding, or both, under Title 40, chapter 5, part 4. An order for a contribution that is inconsistent with this section is nevertheless subject to withholding for the payment of the contribution without need for an amendment of the support order or for any further action by the court.~~

~~(b) A court-ordered exception from contributions under this section must be in writing and be included in the order. An exception from the immediate income withholding requirement may be granted if the court finds that there is:~~

~~(i) good cause not to require immediate income withholding; or~~

~~(ii) an alternative arrangement between the department and the person who is ordered to pay contributions.~~

~~(c) A finding of good cause not to require immediate income withholding must, at a minimum, be based upon:~~

~~(i) a written determination and explanation by the court of the reasons why the implementation of immediate income withholding is not in the best interests of the child; and~~

~~(ii) proof of timely payment of previously ordered support in cases involving modification of contributions ordered under this section.~~

~~(d) An alternative arrangement must:~~

~~(i) provide sufficient security to ensure compliance with the arrangement;~~

~~(ii) be in writing and be signed by a representative of the department and the person required to make contributions; and~~

~~(iii) if approved by the court, be entered into the record of the proceeding.~~

~~(5) Upon a showing of a change in the financial ability of the youth's parents or guardians to pay, the court may modify its order for the payment of contributions required under subsection (3).~~

~~(6) (a) If the court orders the payment of contributions under this section, the department shall apply to the department of public health and human services for support enforcement services pursuant to Title IV-D of the Social Security Act.~~

~~(b) The department of public health and human services may collect and enforce a contribution order under this section by any means available under law, including the remedies provided for in Title 40, chapter 5, parts 2 and 4.~~"

Section 10. Contributions by parents or guardians for youth's care. (1) If custody of the youth is transferred to the department, the court shall examine the financial ability of the youth's parents or guardians to pay a contribution covering all or part of the costs for the care, custody, and treatment of the youth, including the costs of necessary medical, dental, and other health care.

(2) If the court determines that the youth's parents or guardians are financially able to pay a contribution as provided in subsection (1), the court shall order the youth's parent or guardian to pay an amount based on the uniform child support guidelines adopted by the department of public health and human services pursuant to 40-5-209.

(3) (a) Except as provided in subsection (3)(b), contributions ordered under this section and each modification of an existing order are enforceable by immediate or delinquency income withholding, or both, under Title 40, chapter 5, part 4. An order for a contribution that is inconsistent with this section is nevertheless subject to withholding for the payment of the contribution without need for an amendment of the support order or for any further action by the court.

(b) A court-ordered exception from contributions under this section must be in writing and must be included in the order. An exception from the immediate income withholding requirement may be granted if the court finds that there is:

(i) good cause not to require immediate income withholding; or

(ii) an alternative arrangement between the department and the person who is ordered to pay contributions.

(c) A finding of good cause not to require immediate income withholding must, at a minimum, be based upon:

(i) a written determination and explanation by the court of the reasons why the implementation of immediate income withholding is not in the best interests of the child; and

(ii) proof of timely payment of previously ordered support in cases involving modification of contributions ordered under this section.

(d) An alternativo arrangement must:

(i) provide sufficient security to ensure compliance with the arrangement;

(ii) be in writing and be signed by a representative of the department and the person required to make contributions; and

(iii) if approved by the court, be entered into the record of the proceeding.

(4) Upon a showing of a change in the financial ability of the youth's parent or gnardian to pay, the court may modify its order for the payment of contributions required under subsection (2).

(5) (a) If the court orders the payment of contributions under this section, the department shall apply to the department of public health and human services for support enforcement services pursuant to Title IV-D of the Social Security Act.

(b) The department of public health and human services may collect and enforce a contribution order under this section by any means available under law, including the remedies provided for in Title 40, chapter 5, parts 2 and 4.

Section 11. Permanency plan hearing. (1) A permanency plan hearing must be held by the court no later than 12 months after the initial order is issued unless the proceeding has been dismissed, the child was not removed from the home, or the child has been returned to the child's parent or guardian. The permanency plan hearing may be combined with a hearing that is required in other sections of this part if held within the time limits of that section. If a permanency plan hearing is combined with another hearing, the requirements of the court related to the disposition of the other hearing must be met in addition to the requirements of this section.

(2) At least 3 days prior to the permanency plan hearing, the department and the guardian ad litem shall each submit a report regarding the child to the court for review. The report must contain the:

(a) efforts and progress demonstrated by the child's parent or guardian to complete a treatment plan;

(b) extent to which the parent or guardian cooperated and used the services provided;

(c) status of the child, including the child's mental, physical, and emotional health; and

(d) plan for permanency for the child.

(3) At least 3 days prior to the permanency plan hearing, an attorney or advocate for a parent or guardian may submit an informational report to the court for review.

(4) If the court finds that the permanency plan is in the best interests of the child, the court shall:

(a) order the department to take whatever steps are necessary to effectuate the terms of the plan and shall order the county attorney, the attorney general, or an attorney hired by the county to petition the court within 30 days after the present hearing for one of the following:

(i) termination of parental rights;

(ii) temporary legal custody, not to exceed 6 months; or

(iii) dismissal; and

(b) in its discretion, enter any other order that it determines to be in the best interests of the child that does not require an expenditure of money by the department unless the department is notified and a court hearing is set in a timely manner on the proposed expenditure. The department is the payor of last resort after all family, insurance, and other resources have been examined.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2954 1997

(5) If the permanency plan hearing results in an order for a 6-month extension of temporary legal custody, upon the expiration of the temporary legal custody order and the filing of a petition by the department and if the court finds that reunification of the child with the child's parent or guardian is not in the best interests of the child, the court shall order:

(a) termination of parental rights if the applicable requirements to terminate parental rights have been met; or

(b) long-term custody of a child if the evidence demonstrates by a preponderance of the evidence that:

(i) the child has been adjudicated a youth in need of care;

(ii) the department has made reasonable efforts to reunite the parent and child, further efforts by the department would likely be unproductive, and reunification of the child with the parent or guardian would be contrary to the best interests of the child;

(iii) the child has reached 12 years of age;

(iv) termination of parental rights to the child is not in the child's best interests; and

(v) the child has been in a placement in which the foster parent has committed to the long-term care and to a relationship with the child and it is in the best interests of the child to remain in that placement.

(6) The court may terminate long-term custody upon petition of the birth parents, those to whom legal custody has been transferred, or the department if the court finds that the circumstances of the child or family have substantially changed and the best interests of the child are no longer being served.

Section 12. Section 41-3-607, MCA, is amended to read:

"41-3-607. Petition for termination — separate hearing — right to counsel — no jury trial. (1) The termination of a parent-child legal relationship may be considered only after the filing of a petition pursuant to 41-3-401 alleging the factual grounds for termination pursuant to 41-3-609. If termination of a parent-child legal relationship is ordered, the court may transfer permanent legal custody of the child, with the right to consent to the child's adoption, to:

(a) the department;

(b) a licensed child-placing agency; or

(c) another individual who has been approved by the department and has received consent for the transfer of custody from the department or agency that has custody of the child.

(2) After a petition for termination of a parent-child relationship is filed, parents must be advised of the right to counsel, and counsel must be appointed in accordance with 41-3-401~~(12)~~.

(3) A guardian ad litem must be appointed to represent the child's best interests in any hearing determining the involuntary termination of the parent-child legal relationship. The guardian ad litem shall continue to represent the child until the child is returned home or placed in an appropriate permanent placement. If a respondent parent is a minor, a guardian ad litem must be appointed to serve the minor parent in addition to any counsel requested by the parent.

(4) There is no right to a jury trial at proceedings held to consider the termination of a parent-child legal relationship."

Section 13. Section 41-3-609, MCA, is amended to read:

"41-3-609. Criteria for termination. (1) The court may order a termination of the parent-child legal relationship upon a finding that any of the following circumstances exist:

(b) the child has been abandoned by the parents as set forth in 41-3-102~~(7)(c)~~(8)(e);

~~(d) the parent has failed to successfully complete a treatment plan approved by the court within the time periods allowed for the child to be in foster care under 41-3-410 unless it orders other permanent legal custody under 41-3-410.~~; or

(f) the parent has substantially failed to successfully complete or meet the goals of a treatment plan approved by the court and the child has been in an out-of-home placement for a cumulative total period of 1 year or longer.

(2) In determining whether the conduct or condition of the parents is unlikely to change within a reasonable time, the court must enter a finding that continuation of the parent-child legal relationship will likely result in continued abuse or neglect or that the conduct or the condition of the parents renders the parents unfit, unahle, or unwilling to give the child adequate parental care. In making the determinations, the court shall consider hut is not limited to the following:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 2956 1997

The court shall review and, if necessary, order an evaluation of the child's or the parent's physical, mental, and emotional conditions.

(4) A treatment plan is not required under this part upon a finding by the court following hearing if:

~~(5) If a person is convicted of a felony in which sexual intercourse occurred or if a minor is adjudicated a delinquent youth because of an act that, if committed by an adult, would be a felony in which sexual intercourse occurred and, as a result of the sexual intercourse, a child is born, the court may terminate the offender's parental rights to the child at any time after the conviction or adjudication.~~"

(2) If the court determines that the youth's parent or guardian is financially able to pay a contribution as provided in subsection (1), the court shall order the youth's parent or guardian te pay a specified amount or an amount determined by the department. In either case, the amount must be based on the uniform child support guidelines adopted by the department pursuant to 40-5-209.

(b) The assigned child support obligation is in addition to the parent's or guardian's contribution determined under subsection (2) or (8), if applicable.

(c) The assigned child support obligation may be retained by the department in an amount sufficient to reimburse the costs for the youth's care that remain after the obligation has been satisfied.

(5) (a) Except as provided in subsection (5)(b), contributions ordered under this section and each modification of an existing order are enforceable by immediate or delinquency income withholding, or both, under Title 40, chapter 5, part 4. (b) A court-ordered exception from contributions under this section must be in writing and must be included in the order. An exception from the immediate income withholding requirement may be granted if the court finds that there is:

(i) good cause not to require immediate income withholding; or

(ii) an alternative arrangement between the department and the person who is ordered to pay contributions.

(c) A finding of good cause not to require immediate income withholding must, at a minimum, be based upon:

(i) a written determination and explanation by the court of the reasons why the implementation of immediate income withholding is not in the best interests of the child; and

(d) An alternative arrangement must:

A modification must be based upon the uniform child support guidelines adopted by the department pursuant to 40-5-209.

(7) (a) If the court orders the payment of contributions under this section or the department orders the payment of contributions under subsection (8), the department shall collect and enforce the contribution order pursuant to Title IV-D of the Social Security Act.

(b) The department may collect and enforce a contribution order and an assigument of a child support obligation, if applicable, under this section by any means available under law, including the remedies provided for in Title 40, chapter 5, parts 2 and 4.

(8) Upon a court order for commitment that does not contain an amount of a contribution or a referral by the court to determine an amount of a contribution, as provided in subsection (2), the department may determine, establish, and order the youth's parent or guardian to pay a contribution as provided for in subsection (1) using the procedure provided in Title 40, chapter 5, part 2, for establishing a child support order.

A statement of intent is desired for this bill because it authorizes the commissioner of labor to adopt rules specifying the method or methods of determining the standard prevailing rate of wages in the absence of sufficient data in a district. It is the intent of the legislature that the commissioner of labor adopt rules establishing a process for determining when there is insufficient data generated by a survey of employers in the district. It is the intent of the legislature that the rules identify an amount of data that constitutes insufficient data under the amendments to 18-2-401. It is the further intent of the legislature that methods for identifying the prevailing wage in the absence of sufficient data in the district provide for review and incorporation of data from work of a similar character that is conducted as near as possible to the district.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 18-2-401, MCA, is amended to read:

In each district, the standard prevailing rate of wages ~~is~~ must be computed from a weighted average wage rate based on all of the hours worked on work of a similar character performed in the district *unless the survey of employers in the district does not generate sufficient data. If the survey produces insufficient data, the rate may be established by the use of other information or methods that the commissioner determines fairly establish the standard prevailing rate of wages. The commissioner shall establish by rule the method or methods by which the standard prevailing rate of wages is determined. The rules must establish a process for determining if there is insufficient data generated by a survey of employers in the district that requires the use of other methods of determining the standard prevailing rate of wages. Section 2. Section 18-2-403, MCA, is amended to read:

"18-2-403. Preference of Montana labor in public works — wages — tax-exempt project — federal exception. (1) In ~~any~~ every public works contract ~~let for state, county, municipal, school, or heavy and highway construction, services, repair, or maintenance work under any law of this state~~, there must be inserted in the bid specification and the public works contract a provision requiring the contractor to give preference to the employment of bona fide ~~Montana~~ residents of Montana in the performance of the work.

(2) All public works contracts under subsection (1), except those for heavy and highway construction, must contain a provision requiring the contractor to pay:

(a) the travel allowance that is in effect and applicable to the district in which the work is being performed; and

(b) the standard prevailing rate of wages, including fringe benefits for health and welfare and pension contributions, that:

(5) A public works contract may not be let to any person, firm, association, or corporation refusing to execute an agreement with the provisions described in subsections (1) through (4) in it, provided that in public works contracts involving the expenditure of federal-aid funds, this part may not be enforced in a manner as to conflict with or be contrary to the federal statutes prescribing a labor preference to honorably discharged veterans of the armed forces and prohibiting as unlawful any other preference or discrimination among citizens of the United States.

(6) Failure to include the provisions required by 18-2-422 in a public works contract relieves the contractor from the contractor's obligation to pay the standard prevailing wage rate and places the obligation on the public contracting agency."

The hearing must be governed by the provisions of Title 2, chapter 4, part 6.*

(b) If the department receives the number of protests required for a public convenience and necessity determination as specified in subsection (4)(c) and the application is for an original license or for a transfer of location, the department shall schedule a public hearing to be held in the county of the proposed location of the license to determine whether the protest presents sufficient cause to deny the application based on the qualifications of the applicant as provided in 16-4-401 or on the grounds for denial of an application provided for in 16-4-405 including public convenience and necessity. The hearing must be governed by the provisions of Title 2, chapter 4, part 6.

Section 5. Section 16-4-402, MCA, is amended to read:

"16-4-402. Application — investigation. (1) Prior to the issuance of a license under this chapter, the applicant shall file with the department an application in writing, signed by the applicant and containing information and statements relative to the applicant and the premises where the alcoholic beverage is to be sold as required by the department. The application must be verified by the affidavit of the person making it before a person authorized to administer oaths.

(2) (a) Upon receipt of a completed application for a license under this code, accompanied by the necessary license fee or letter of credit as provided in 16-4-501(7)(f), the department shall request that the department of justice make a thorough investigation of all matters relating to the application. Based on the results of the investigation or on other information, the department shall determine whether:

(i) the applicant is qualified to receive a license;

(ii) the applicant's premises are suitable for the carrying on of the business; and

(iii) the requirements of this code and the rules promulgated by the department are met and complied with.

(b) This subsection (2) does not apply to a catering endorsement provided in 16-4-111 or 16-4-204(2), a retail beer and wine license for off-premises consumption as provided in 16-4-115, or a special permit provided in 16-4-301.

(c) For an original license application and an application for transfer of location of a license, the department of justice's investigation and the department's determination under this subsection (2) must be completed within 90 days of the request from the department to the department of justice. If information is requested from the applicant by either department, the time period in this subsection (2)(c) is tolled until the requested information is received by the requesting department. The basis for the tolling of the deadline must be documented.

(3) Upon proof that an applicant made a false statement in any part of the original application, in any part of an annual renewal application, or in any hearing conducted pursuant to an application, the application for the license may be denied, and if issued, the license may be revoked.

(4) ~~If, within 30 days of receiving the completed application, the department finds no basis for denying the application, the department shall proceed to publish the notice of the application as required by 16-4-207.~~ The department shall issue a conditional approval letter upon the last occurrence of either:

(a) completion of the investigation and determination provided for in subsection (2) if the department has not received information that would cause the department to deny the application; or

(b) a final agency decision that either denies or dismisses a protest against the approval of an application pursuant to 16-4-207.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3019 1997

(5) The conditional approval letter must state the reasons upon which the future denial of the application may be based. The reasons for denial of the application after the issuance of the conditional approval letter are as follows:

(a) there is false or erroneous information in the application;

(b) the premises are not approved by local building, health, or fire officials;

(c) there are physical changes to the premises that if known prior to the issuance of the conditional approval letter would have constituted grounds for the denial of the application or denial of the issuance of the conditional approval; or

(d) a final decision by a court exercising jurisdiction over the matter either reverses or remands the department's final agency decision provided for in subsection (4)."

Section 6. Section 16-4-404, MCA, is amended to read:

"16-4-404. Protest period — contents of license — posting — privilege — transfer. (1) A license may not be issued until on or after the date set in the notice for hearing protests.

(2) Every license issued under this code must state the name of the person to whom it is issued, the location, by street and number or other appropriate specific description of location if no street address exists, of the premises wbere the business is to be carried on under the license, and other information the department considers necessary. If the licensee is a partnership or if more than one person has an interest in the business operated under the license, the names of all persons in the partnership or interested in the business must appear on the license. Every license must be posted in a conspicuous place on the premises in which the business authorized under the license is conducted, and the license must be exhibited upon request to any authorized representative of the department or the department of justice or to any peace officer of the state of Montana.

(3) A license issued under the provisions of this code is a privilege personal to the licensee named in the license and is valid until the expiration of the license unless sooner revoked or suspended.

(4) A license may be transferred to the executor or administrator of the estate of a deceased licensee when the estate consists in whole or in part of the business of selling alcoholic beverages under a license. The license may descend or be disposed of with the licensed business under appropriate probate proceedings.

(5) (a) A licensee may apply to the department for a transfer of the license to different premises within the quota area if:

(i) there has been major loss or damage to the licensed premises by unforeseen natural causes;

(ii) the lease of the licensed premises has expired;

(iii) in case of rented licensed premises, there has been an eviction or increase of rent by the landlord; or

(iv) the licensee has proposed removal of the license to premises that are as substantially suited for the retail alcoholic beverages business as the premises proposed to be vacated.

(b) The department may, after notice and opportunity for protest, permit a transfer in the cases specified in subsection (5)(a) if it appears to the department that a transfer is required to do justice to the licensee applying for the transfer and the transfer is justified by public convenience and necessity, pursuant to 16-4-203, unless a public convenience and necessity hearing is required by 16-4-207. The department may not allow a transfer to different premises where the sanitary, health, and service facilities are less satisfactory than facilities that exist or had existed at the premises from which the transfer is proposed to be made.

(6) Upon a bona fide sale of the business operated under a license, the license may be transferred to a qualified purchaser. A transfer of a license to a person or location is not effective unless approved by the department. A licensee or transferee or proposed transferee who operates or attempts to operate under a supposedly transferred license prior to the approval of the transfer by the department, endorsed upon the license in writing, is considered to be operating without a license and the license affected may be revoked or suspended by the department. The department may, within its discretion, permit a qualified purchaser to operate the business to be transferred pending final approval if there has not been a change in location and the application for transfer has been filed with the department.

(7) Except as provided in 16-4-204 and subsections (2) through (6) ~~and 16-4-204~~ of this section, a license may not be transferred or sold or used for any place of business not described in the license. A license may be subject to mortgage and other valid liens, in which event the name of the mortgagee, upon application to and approval of the department, must be endorsed on the license. Beer or wine sold to a licensee on credit pursuant to 16-3-243 or 16-3-406 does not create a lien upon a license, but a subsequent licensee has the obligation to pay for the beer or wine."

Section 7. Section 16-4-405, MCA, is amended to read:

"16-4-405. Denial of license. (1) The department may deny the issuance of a retail alcoholic beverages license if it determines that the premises proposed for licensing are off regular police beats and cannot be properly policed by local authorities.

(2) A retail license may not be issued by the department for a premises situated within a zone of a city ~~or~~, town, or county where the sale of alcoholic beverages is prohibited by ordinance, a certified copy of which has been filed with the department.

(3) A license under this code may not be issued if the department finds from the evidence at the hearing held pursuant to 16-4-207(3) that:

(a) the welfare of the people residing or of retail licensees located in the vicinity of the premises for which the license is desired will be adversely and seriously affected;

(b) if required, there is not a public convenience and necessity justification pursuant to 16-4-203;

(c) the applicant or the premises proposed for licensing fail to meet the eligibility or suitability criteria established by this code; ~~or~~

(d) a possible reason for denial listed in a conditional approval letter, as provided in 16-4-402, has been verified; or

(e) the purposes of this code will not be carried out by the issuance of the license."

Section 8. Section 16-4-501, MCA, is amended to read:

"16-4-501. License and permit fees. (1) Each beer licensee licensed to sell either beer or table wine only, or both beer and table wine, under the provisions of this code, shall pay an annual license fee as follows:

(d) the child is under the protective care of a state agency or has been adjudicated ~~by a court of competent jurisdiction to be an abused or neglected child, as defined in 41-3-102, or~~ to be a youth in need of supervision or a delinquent youth, as defined in 41-5-103~~, and has been placed in a licensed youth care facility that is approved by the department of public health and human services and, as a result of the placement, is required to attend school outside of the child's district of residence~~; or

Section 2. Section 20-5-323, MCA, is amended to read:

"20-5-323. Tuition and transportation rates. (1) Except as provided in subsections (3) ~~and (4)~~ through (5), whenever a child has approval to attend a school outside of the child's district of residence under the provisions of 20-5-320 or 20-5-321, the basis of the rate of tuition is a flat rate for each of the 15 district-size groupings determined by rule by the superintendent of public instruction by March 15 of each year, using statewide district expenditure and revenue data for the general fund, debt service fund, and retirement fund to determine the average district contribution.

(2) The tuition for children with disabilities must be determined under rules adopted by the superintendent of public instruction for the calculation of tuition for special education pupils.

(3) The tuition rate for out-of-district placement pursuant to 20-5-321(1)(d) and (1)(e) for a student without disabilities who requires a program with costs that exceed the average district costs must be determined as the actual individual costs of providing that program according to the following:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3025 1997

(4) When a child attends a public school of another state or province ~~or has been placed by a state agency in an out-of-state residential program~~, the amount of daily tuition may not be greater than the average annual cost per student in the child's district of residence. This calculation for tuition purposes is determined by totaling all of the expenditures for all of the district budgeted funds for the preceding school fiscal year and dividing that amount by the October 1 enrollment in the preceding school fiscal year. For the purposes of this subsection, the following do not apply:

(a) placement of a child with disabilities pursuant to Title 20, chapter 7, part 4;

(b) placement made in a state or province with a reciprocal tuition agreement pursuant to 20-5-314; ~~or~~

(c) an order issued under Title 40, chapter 4, part 2*; or*

(5) When a child is placed by a state agency in an out-of-state residential facility, the state agency making the placement is responsible for the education costs resulting from the placement.

~~(5)~~(6) The amount, if any, charged for transportation may not exceed the lesser of the average transportation cost per student in the child's district of residence or 21.25 cents per mile. The average expenditures for the district transportation fund for the preceding school fiscal year must be calculated by dividing the transportation fund expenditures by the October 1 enrollment for the preceding fiscal year."

Section 3. Section 20-5-324, MCA, is amended to read:

"20-5-324. Tuition report and payment provisions — exemption. (1) At the close of the school term of each school fiscal year and before July 15, the trustees of a district shall report to the county superintendent:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3026 1997

(2) The county superintendent shall send, as soon as practicable, the reported information to the county superintendent of the county in which a reported child resides.

(3) Before July 30, the county superintendent shall report the information in subsection (1)(d) to the superintendent of public instruction, who shall determine the total per-ANB entitlement for which the district would be eligible if the student were enrolled in the resident district. The reimbursement amount is the difference between the actual amount paid and the amount calculated in this subsection.

(4) Notwithstanding the requirements of subsection (5), tuition payment provisions for out-of-district placement of students with disabilities must be determined pursuant to Title 20, chapter 7, part 4.

(5) Except as provided in subsection (6), when a child has approval to attend a school outside the child's district of residence under the provisions of 20-5-320 or 20-5-321, the district of residence shall finance the tuition amount from the district tuition fund and any transportation amount from the transportation fund.

(6) When a child has mandatory approval under the provisions of 20-5-321, the tuition and transportation obligation for an elementary school child attending a school outside of the child's county of residence must be financed by the county basic tax for elementary districts, as provided in 20-9-331, for the child's county of residence or for a high school child attending a school outside the county of residence by the county basic tax for high school districts, as provided in 20-9-333, for the child's county of residence.

(7) By December 31 of the school fiscal year, the county superintendent or the trustees shall pay at least one-half of any tuition and transportation obligation established under this section out of the money realized to date from the appropriate basic county tax account provided for in 20-9-334 or from the district tuition or transportation fund. The remaining tuition and transportation obligation must be paid by June 15 of the school fiscal year. The payments must be made to the county treasurer in each county with a school district that is entitled to tuition and transportation. Except as provided in subsection (9), the county treasurer shall credit tuition receipts to the general fund of a school district entitled to a tuition payment. The tuition receipts must be used in accordance with the provisions of 20-9-141. The county treasurer shall credit transportation receipts to the transportation fund of a school district entitled to a transportation payment.

(8) The superintendent of public instruction shall reimburse the district of residence for the per-ANB entitlement determined in subsection (3).

(9) (a) Any tuition receipts received under the provisions of Title 20, chapter 7, part 4, or 20-5-323(3) for the current school fiscal year that exceed the tuition receipts of the prior year may be deposited in the district miscellaneous programs fund and must be used for that year in the manner provided for in 20-9-507 to support the costs of the program for which the tuition was received.

(b) Any other tuition receipts received for the current school fiscal year that exceed the tuition receipts of the prior year may be deposited in the district

(a) With respect to a basic health benefit plan or a standard health benefit plan, the program shall reinsure the level of coverage provided and, with respect to other plans, the program shall reinsure up to the level of coverage provided in a basic or standard health benefit plan.

(b) A small employer carrier may reinsure an entire employer group within 60 days of the commencement of the group's coverage under a health benefit plan.

(c) A reinsuring carrier may reinsure an eligible employee or dependent within a period of 60 days following the commencement of coverage with the small employer. A newly eligible employee or dependent of the reinsured small employer may be reinsured within 60 days of the commencement of coverage.

(d) (i) The program may not reimburse a reinsuring carrier with respect to the claims of a reinsured employee or dependent until the carrier has incurred an initial level of claims for the employee or dependent of $5,000 in a calendar year for benefits covered by the program. In addition, the reinsuring carrier is responsible for 20% of the next $100,000 of benefit payments during a calendar year and the program shall reinsure the remainder. A reinsuring carrier's liability under this subsection (d)(i) may not exceed a maximum limit of $25,000 in any calendar year with respect to any reinsured individual.

(ii) The board annually shall adjust the initial level of claims and maximum limit to be retained by the carrier to reflect increases in costs and utilization within the standard market for health benefit plans within the state. The adjustment may not be less than the annual change in the medical component of the consumer price index for all urban consumers of the United States department of labor, bureau of labor statistics, unless the board proposes and the commissioner approves a lower adjustment factor.

(e) A small employer carrier may terminate reinsurance with the program for one or more of the reinsured employees or dependents of a small employer on any anniversary of the health benefit plan.

(f) A small employer group health benefit plan in effect before January 1, 1994, may not be reinsured by the program until ~~January 1, 1997, and then only if~~ the board determines that sufficient funding sources are available.

(g) A reinsuring carrier shall apply all managed care and claims-handling techniques, including utilization review, individual case management, preferred provider provisions, and other managed care provisions or methods of operation consistently with respect to reinsured and nonreinsured business.

(6) (a) As part of the plan of operation, the board shall establish a methodology for determining premium rates to be charged by the program for reinsuring small employers and individuals pursuant to this section. The methodology must include a system for classification of small employers that reflects the types of case characteristics commonly used by small employer carriers in the state. The methodology must provide for the development of base reinsurance premium rates that must be multiplied by the factors set forth in subsection (6)(b) to determine the premium rates for the program. The base reinsurance premium rates must be established by the board, subject to the approval of the commissioner, and must be set at levels that reasonably approximate the premiums necessary to recover one-half of the expenses for the calendar year. For purposes of this section, expenses include administrative expenses, one-half of the program net loss for the previous calendar year, and the actuarially anticipated claims to be incurred, adjusted to reflect retention levels required under this part.

(b) Premiums for the program are as follows:

(i) An entire small employer group may be reinsured for a rate that is one and one-half times the base reinsurance premium rate for the group established pursuant to this subsection (6).

(ii) An eligible employee or dependent may be reinsured for a rate that is five times the base reinsurance premium rate for the individual established pursuant to this subsection (6).

(c) The board shall annually review the methodology established under subsection (6)(a), including the system of classification and any rating factors, to ensure that it is actuarially sound and that it reasonably reflects the claims experience of the program. The board may propose changes to the methodology that are subject to the approval of the commissioner.

(d) The board may consider adjustments to the premium rates charged by the program to reflect the use of effective cost containment and managed care arrangements.

(7) If a health benefit plan for a small employer is entirely or partially reinsured with the program, the premium charged te the small employer for any rating period for the coverage issued must meet the requirements relating to premium rates set forth in 33-22-1809.

(8) (a) Prior to March 1 of each year, the board shall determine and report to the commissioner the program net loss for the previous calendar year, including administrative expenses and incurred losses for the year, taking into account investment income and other appropriate gains and losses, and the actuarially anticipated losses for the calendar year. The sum of one-half of the program net loss for the previous calendar year plus the anticipated net loss for the calendar year must equal the total assessment amount. If the program net loss for the previous calendar year is zero or less, the total assessment amount must equal the actuarially anticipated losses for the calendar year.

(b) (i) Each assessable carrier shall share in the program in an amount determined by multiplying the total assessment amount by a fraction, the numerator of which is the number of individuals in this state covered under disability insurance by the assessable carrier and the denominator of which is the number of all individuals in this state covered under disability insurance by all assessable carriers.

(ii) The board shall make a reasonable effort to ensure that each insured individual is counted only once for the purpose of assessment. The board shall require each assessable carrier that provides excess of loss or stop loss insurance to include in its count of insured individuals all individuals whose coverage is reinsured in whole or in part, including coverage under excess of loss or stop loss insurance. The board shall allow an assessable carrier who is an excess of loss or stop loss insurer to exclude from its count of insured individuals those who have been counted by a primary disability insurer or by a primary reinsurer.

(iii) ~~The board shall base each assessable carrier's assessment on reports filed with the commissioner as required by 33-22-1820.~~ The board may use any reasonable method of estimating the number of individuals insured by an assessable carrier if the specific number is unknown.

(c) The board shall make an annual determination in accordance with this section of each assessable carrier's liability for its share of the contribution to the program and, except as otherwise provided by this section, make an annual assessment against each assessable carrier to the extent of that liability. Payment of an assessment is due within 30 days of receipt by the assessable carrier of written notice of the assessment. An assessable carrier that ceases doing business within the state is liable for assessments until the end of the calendar year in which the assessable carrier ceased doing business. The board may determine not to assess an assessable carrier if the assessable carrier's liability determined in accordance with this section does not exceed $10.

(d) The board may establish and maintain program reserves not to exceed five times the actuarially anticipated losses for the calendar year.

(e) If the sum of the reinsurance premiums and assessments in any calendar year exceeds the sum of the administrative expenses and incurred claims for that year, the board may proportionately credit the excess to assessable carriers or it may place the excess in program reserves, subject to the limits in subsection (8)(d).

(9) The participation in the program as reinsuring carriers; the establishment of rates, forms, or procedures; or any other joint collective action required by this part may not be the basis of any legal action, criminal or civil liability, or penalty against the program or any of its reinsuring carriers, either jointly or separately.

(10) The board, as part of the plan of operation, shall develop standards setting forth the minimum levels of compensation to be paid to producers for the sale of basic and standard health benefit plans. In establishing the standards, the board shall take into consideration the need to ensure the broad availability of coverages, the objectives of the program, the time and effort expended in placing the coverage, the need to provide ongoing service to small employers, the levels of compensation currently used in the industry, and the overall costs of coverage to small employers selecting these plans.

(11) The program is exempt from taxation.

(12) On or before March 1 of each year, the commissioner shall evaluate the operation of the program and report to the governor and the legislature in writing the results of the evaluation. The report must include an estimate of future costs of the program, assessments necessary to pay those costs, the appropriateness of premiums charged by the program, the level of insurance retention under the program, the cost of coverage of small employers, and any recommendations for change to the plan of operation.

(13) All premiums and other money paid to the small employer carrier reinsurance program and all property and securities acquired through the use of money and interest and dividends earned on money belonging to the small employer carrier reinsurance program are solely the property of the program and must be used exclusively for the operations and obligations of the program. Money collected by the program is not subject to legislative appropriation."

"33-22-1820. Periodic market evaluation — report. The ~~board shall~~ commissioner may study and report at least every 3 years to the ~~commissioner~~ governor or other interested persons on the effectiveness of this part. The report must analyze the effectiveness of this part in promoting rate stability, product availability, and coverage affordability. The report may contain recommendations for actions to improve the overall effectiveness, efficiency, and fairness of the small employer health insurance markets. The report must address whether carriers and producers are fairly and actively marketing or issuing health benefit plans to small employers in fulfillment of the purposes of this part. The report may contain recommendations for market conduct or other regulatory standards or action."

Section 37. Section 33-22-1828, MCA, is amended to read:

The coverage must include a limitation of $2,000 per person or $4,000 per family on the total annual out-of-pocket expenses for services covered. The coverage may be subject to a maximum lifetime benefit, but a maximum, if any, may not be less than $1 million.

(2) The commissioner may not require coverage in a standard health benefit plan for any benefit unless other provisions of Title 33, chapter 22, 30, or 31, specifically require coverage for the benefit. A small employer carrier may offer coverage for additional services and articles.

(3) A standard health benefit plan provided by a health maintenance organization or a basic health benefit plan with a restricted network provision must provide a comparable level of benefits to those required by subsection (1), as determined by the ~~benefit equivalency and~~ benefit value."

Section 38. Section 33-30-102, MCA, is amended to read:

(a) for oil and natural gas production occurring in the first calendar quarter of 1995, the tax is due May 31, 1996;

(h) for oil and natural gas production occurring in the second calendar quarter of 1995, the tax is due May 31, 1997;

(c) for oil and natural gas production occurring in the third calendar quarter of 1995, the tax is due May 31, 1998; and

(d) for oil and natural gas production occurring in the fourth calendar quarter of 1995, the tax is due May 31, 1999.

(2) (a) If the taxpayer pays the entire local government severance tax liability for calendar year 1995 on or before June 30, 1996, the taxpayer must receive a 6% reduction in the total local government severance tax liability.

(b) Any payment of local government severance taxes for calendar year 1995 made on or before June 30, 1997, does not accrue interest. Any payment of local government severance taxes for calendar year 1995 made after June 30, 1997, must accrue interest at the rate of 1% a month or fraction of a month from July 1, 1997, to the date of payment. Any payment for the third quarter of 1995 received after May 31, 1998, and any payment for the fourth quarter of 1995 received after May 31, 1999, is subject to the late payment penalty provisions in 15-36-311.

(c) In the case of the dissolution of the operator or a change in the operator of any lease or unit, any unpaid local government severance tax for calendar year 1995 becomes due on the date of dissolution or on the date of the change in operator. The operator is subject to the provisions of subsection (2)(a) regarding the 6% tax liability reduction or the provisions of subsection (2)(b) regarding interest and penalties.

(3) The department shall determine the amount of tax collected under subsections (1) and (2) from within each taxing unit.

(4) For purposes of the distribution of local government severance taxes collected under this section, the department shall use the unit value of oil and gas for each taxing unit as determined in 15-36-323.

(5) The local government severance tax must be deposited in the ~~agency~~ state special revenue fund in the state treasury and transferred to the county for distribution as provided in subsection (6).

(6) For the purpose of the distribution of the local government severance tax for calendar year 1995 production, the department shall adjust the unit value determined under this section according to the ratio that the local government severance taxes collected during the quarters for which the distribution occurs plus penalties and interest on delinquent local government severance taxes bears to the total liability for local government severance taxes for the quarters for which the distribution occurs. The taxes must be calculatod and distributed as follows:

(a) By July 31 of each of the years 1996, 1997, 1998, and 1999, the department shall calculate and distribute to each eligible county the amount of local government severance tax for calendar year 1995 production, determined by

(b) Any amount by which the total tax liability exceeds or is less than the total distributions determined in subsection (6)(a) must be calculated and distributed in the following manner:

(i) The excess amount or shortage must be divided by the total distribution determined for that period to obtain an excess or shortage percentage.

(ii) The excess percentage must be multiplied by the distribution to each taxing unit, and this amount must be added to the distribution to each respective taxing unit.

(iii) The shortage percentage must be multiplied by the distribution to each taxing unit, and this amount must be subtracted from the distribution to each respective taxing unit.

(7) (a) The county treasurer shall distribute the money received under subsection (6) between the county and school taxing units. The distribution between county and school taxing units is the ratio of the number of mills levied for fiscal year 1990 against 1988 production in each taxing unit for the county and schools, including the county equalization levies that were in effect under 20-9-331 and 20-9-333 as those sections read on July 1, 1989, and the university 6-mill levy imposed under 20-25-423, except that a distribution may not be made to a municipal taxing unit or the state equalization aid levy imposed under 20-9-360. Distribution of money for the county equalization levies and the university levy must be remitted to the state by the county treasurer. The amounts distributed under subsections (7)(b) and (7)(c) are for the exclusive use of county and school taxing units.

(b) The county treasurer shall deposit the money from subsection (7)(a) allocated to county levies to the oil and gas tax accelerated fund.

(c) The trustees of a school district may allocate any payment received under subsection (7)(a) to any budget fund of the district or to the miscellaneous programs fund established in 20-9-507. The trustees shall direct the county treasurer to deposit the local government severance tax payments under this section to the funds of the district in accordance with the allocations determined by the trustees.

(8) Local government severance tax payments to a county pursuant to this section are not subject to the limitations of Title 15, chapter 10, part 4. Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Short title. [Sections 1 through 6] may be cited as the "Voluntary Environmental Audit Act".

Section 2. Purpose. The legislature finds that environmental protection and environmental quality will be enhanced by incentives to voluntarily identify and remedy violations of environmental laws and that the public will be benefited by the voluntary identification and remedy. The legislature further finds that nothing in [sections 3 through 6] is intended to inhibit or to be a substitute for the exercise of the regulatory authority by those agencies entrusted with protecting Montana's environment.

Section 3. Definitions. As used in [sections 1 through 6], the following definitions apply:

(1) "Department" means the:

(a) department of justice provided for in 2-15-2001;

(b) department of agriculture provided for in 2-15-3001; or

(2) "Environmental audit" is a periodic, documented, voluntary internal assessment, evaluation, or review not required by law, rule, or permit that is conducted by a regulated entity or its agent and initiated by the regulated entity for the purpose of determining compliance with environmental law, rule, or permit enforced by the department.

Section 4. Immunity from imposition of civil or administrative penalties for violations found and disclosed. The state or the department may not pursue civil or administrative penalties under this title against a regulated entity or its agent acting within the scope of the agent's authority for violations discovered during an environmental audit and disclosed within 30 days in writing to the department after the violation is determined to exist if the following conditions are met:

(2) (a) The form submitted to the department in subsection (1) is public information, hut the department may not request the environmental audit. The department may request all relevant facts and data that the department needs to independently establish the nature and extent of the violation and to determine whether all damage created by the violation has been corrected. The environmental audit report and its relevant underlying data is subject to discovery according to the rules of civil or criminal procedure. Any information contained in an environmental audit form pertaining to violations that were discovered as a result of the audit and disclosed and corrected as required by [sections 1 through 6] may not be used by the department against the regulated entity in any administrative hearing or judicial action.

(g) the violation disclosed to the department by the regulated entity caused actual substantial damage to human health or the environment.

(2) An environmental audit may not be used to prevent the department from carrying out its statutory or regulatory functions.

Section 6. Definitions. (1) In this chapter:

(b) "Applicant" means a person at whose request or for whose account a letter of credit is issued. The term includes a person who requests an issuer to issue a letter of credit on behalf of another if the person making the request undertakes an obligation to reimburse the issuer.

(e) "Dishonor" of a letter of credit means failure timely to honor or to take an interim action, such as acceptance of a draft, that may be required by the letter of credit.

(f) (i) "Document" means a draft or other demand, document of title, investment security, certificate, invoice, or other record, statement, or representation of fact, law, right, or opinion:

(A) which is presented in a written or other medium permitted by the letter of credit or, unless prohibited by the letter of credit, by the standard practice referred to in [section 12(5)]; and

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3131 1997

(g) "Good faith" means honesty in fact in the conduct or transaction concerned.

(h) "Honor" of a letter of credit means performance of the issuer's undertaking in the letter of credit to pay or deliver an item of value. Unless the letter of credit otherwise provides, "honor" occurs:

(i) upon payment;

(ii) if the letter of credit provides for acceptance, upon acceptance of a draft and, at maturity, its payment; or

(iii) if the letter of credit provides for incurring a deferred obligation, upon incurring the obligation and, at maturity, its performance.

(i) "Issuer" means a bank or other person that issues a letter of credit, but does not include an individual who makes an engagement for personal, family, or household purposes.

(2) Definitions in other chapters applying to this chapter and the sections in which they appear are:

"Accept" or "Acceptance" 30-3-410

"Value" 30-3-303, 30-4-209

(3) Chapter 1 contains certain additional general definitions and principles of construction and interpretation applicable throughout this chapter.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3132 1997

Section 7. Scope. (1) This chapter applies to letters of credit and to certain rights and obligations arising out of transactions involving letters of credit.

(2) The statement of a rule in this chapter does not by itself require, imply, or negate application of the same or a different rule to a situation not provided for, or to a person not specified, in this chapter.

(3) With the exception of this subsection, subsections (1) and (4), [sections 6(1)(i) and (1)(j), 10(4), and 18(4)], and except to the extent prohibited in 30-1-102(3) and [section 21(4)], the effect of this chapter may be varied by agreement or by a provision stated or incorporated by reference in an undertaking. A term in an agreement or undertaking generally excusing liability or generally limiting remedies for failure to perform obligations is not sufficient to vary obligations prescribed by this chapter.

(4) Rights and obligations of an issuer to a beneficiary or a nominated person under a letter of credit are independent of the existence, performance, or nonperformance of a contract or arrangement out of which the letter of credit arises or which underlies it, including contracts or arrangements between the issuer and the applicant and between the applicant and the beneficiary.

Section 8. Formal requirements. A letter of credit, confirmation, advice, transfer, amendment, or cancellation may be issued in any form that is a record and is authenticated:

(1) by a signature; or

(2) in accordance with the agreement of the parties or the standard practice referred to in [section 12(5)].

Section 9. Consideration. Consideration is not required to issue, amend, transfer, or cancel a letter of credit, advice, or confirmation.

Section 10. Issuance, amendment, cancellation, and duration. (1) A letter of credit is issued and becomes enforceable according to its terms against the issuer when the issuer sends or otherwise transmits it to the person requested to advise or to the beneficiary. A letter of credit is revocable only if it so provides.

(2) After a letter of credit is issued, rights and obligations of a beneficiary, applicant, confirmer, and issuer are not affected by an amendment or cancellation to which that person has not consented except to the extent the letter of credit provides that it is revocable or that the issuer may amend or cancel the letter of credit without that consent.

(3) If there is no stated expiration date or other provision that determines its duration, a letter of credit expires one year after its stated date of issuance or, if none is stated, after the date on which it is issued.

(4) A letter of credit that states that it is perpetual expires 5 years after its stated date of issuance, or if none is stated, after the date on which it is issued.

Section 11. Confirmer, nominated person, and adviser. (1) A confirmer is directly obligated on a letter of credit and has the rights and obligations of an issuer to the extent of its confirmation. The confirmer also has rights against and obligations to the issuer as if the issuer were an applicant and the confirmer had issued the letter of credit at the request and for the account of the issuer.

(2) A nominated person who is not a confirmer is not obligated to honor or otherwise give value for a presentation.

(3) A person requested to advise may decline to act as an adviser. An adviser that is not a confirmer is not obligated to honor or give value for a presentation. An adviser undertakes to the issuer and to the beneficiary accurately to advise the terms of the letter of credit, confirmation, amendment, or advice received by that person and undertakes to the beneficiary to check the apparent authenticity of the request to advise. Even if the advice is inaccurate, the letter of credit, confirmation, or amendment is enforceable as issued.

(4) A person who notifies a transferee beneficiary of the terms of a letter of credit, confirmation, amendment, or advice has the rights and obligations of an adviser under subsection (3). The terms in the notice to the transferee beneficiary may differ from the terms in any notice to the transferor beneficiary to the extent permitted by the letter of credit, confirmation, amendment, or advice received by the person who so notifies.

Section 12. Issuer's rights and obligations. (1) Except as otherwise provided in [section 13], an issuer shall honor a presentation that, as determined by the standard practice referred to in subsection (5), appears on its face strictly to comply with the terms and conditions of the letter of credit. Except as otherwise provided in [section 17] and unless otherwise agreed with the applicant, an issuer shall dishonor a presentation that does not appear so to comply.

(2) An issuer has a reasonable time after presentation, but not beyond the end of the seventh business day of the issuer after the day of its receipt of documents:

(a) to honor;

(b) if the letter of credit provides for honor to be completed more than 7 business days after presentation, to accept a draft or incur a deferred obligation; or

(c) to give notice to the presenter of discrepancies in the presentation.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (4), an issuer is precluded from asserting as a basis for dishonor any discrepancy if timely notice is not given, or any discrepancy not stated in the notice if timely notice is given.

(4) Failure to give the notice specified in subsection (2) or to mention fraud, forgery, or expiration in the notice does not preclude the issuer from asserting as a basis for dishonor fraud or forgery as described in [section 13(1)] or expiration of the letter of credit before presentation.

(5) An issuer shall observe standard practice of financial institutions that regularly issue letters of credit. Determination of the issuer's observance of the standard practice is a matter of interpretation for the court. The court shall offer the parties a reasonable opportunity to present evidence of the standard practice.

(6) An issuer is not responsible for:

(a) the performance or nonperformance of the underlying contract, arrangement, or transaction;

(b) an act or omission of others; or

(c) observance or knowledge of the usage of a particular trade other than the standard practice referred to in subsection (5).

(7) If an undertaking constituting a letter of credit under [section 6(1)(j)] contains nondocumentary conditions, an issuer shall disregard the nondocumentary conditions and treat them as if they were not stated.

(8) An issuer that has dishonored a presentation shall return the documents or hold them at the disposal of, and send advice to that effect to, the presenter.

(9) An issuer that has honored a presentation as permitted or required by this chapter:

(a) is entitled to be reimbursed by the applicant in immediately available funds not later than the date of its payment of funds;

(b) takes the documents free of claims of the beneficiary or presenter;

(c) is precluded from asserting a right of recourse on a draft under 30-3-414 and 30-3-415;

(d) except as otherwise provided in [sections 14 and 21], is precluded from restitution of money paid or other value given by mistake to the extent the mistake concerns discrepancies in the documents or tender which are apparent on the face of the presentation; and

(e) is discharged to the extent of its performance under the letter of credit unless the issuer honored a presentation in which a required signature of a beneficiary was forged.

Section 13. Fraud and forgery. (1) If a presentation is made that appears on its face strictly to comply with the terms and conditions of the letter of credit, but a required document is forged or materially fraudulent, or honor of the presentation would facilitate a material fraud by the beneficiary on the issuer or applicant:

(a) the issuer shall honor the presentation, if honor is demanded by:

(i) a nominated person who has given value in good faith and without notice of forgery or material fraud;

(ii) a confirmer who has honored its confirmation in good faith;

(iii) a holder in due course of a draft drawn under the letter of credit which was taken after acceptance by the issuer or nominated person; or

(iv) an assignee of the issuer's or nominated person's deferred obligation that was taken for value and without notice of forgery or material fraud after the obligation was incurred by the issuer or nominated person; and

(b) the issuer, acting in good faith, may honor or dishonor the presentation in any other case.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3135 1997

(2) If an applicant claims that a required document is forged or materially fraudulent or that honor of the presentation would facilitate a material fraud by the beneficiary on the issuer or applicant, a court of competent jurisdiction may temporarily or permanently enjoin tbe issuer from honoring a presentation or grant similar relief against the issuer or other persons only if the court finds that:

(a) the relief is not prohibited under tlie law applicable to an accepted draft or deferred obligation incurred by the issuer;

(b) a beneficiary, issuer, or nominated person who may be adversely affected is adequately protected against loss that it may suffer because the relief is granted;

(c) all of the conditions to entitle a person to tlie relief under the law of this state have been met; and

(d) on the basis of the information submitted to the court, the applicant is more likely than not to succeed under its claim of forgery or material fraud and the person demanding honor does not qualify for protection under suhsection (1)(a).

Section 14. Warranties. (1) If its presentation is honored, tlie beneficiary warrants:

(a) to the issuer, any other person to whom presentation is made, and the applicant that there is no fraud or forgery of the kind described in [section 13(1)]; and

(b) to the applicant that the drawing does not violate any agreement between the applicant and beneficiary or any other agreement intended hy them to he augmented by the letter of credit.

(2) The warranties in subsection (1) are in addition to warranties arising under chapters 3, 4, 7, and 8 because of the presentation or transfer of documents covered by any of those chapters.

Section 15. Remedies. (1) If an issuer wrongfully dishonors or repudiates its obligation to pay money under a letter of credit before presentation, the beneficiary, successor, or nominated person presenting on its own behalf may recover from the issuer the amount that is the suhject of the dishonor or repudiation. If the issuer's obligation under tbe letter of credit is not for the payment of money, the claimant may obtain specific performance or, at the claimant's election, recover an amount equal to the value of performance from the issuer. In either case, the claimant may also recover incidental but not consequential damages. The claimant is not obligated to take action to avoid damages that might be due from the issuer under this subsection. If, although not obligated to do so, the claimant avoids damages, the claimant's recovery from the issuer must be reduced by the amount of damages avoided. The issuer has the hurden of proving the amount of damages avoided. In the case of repudiation the claimant need not present any document.

(2) If an issuer wrongfully dishonors a draft or demand presented under a letter of credit or honors a draft or demand in breach of its obligation to the applicant, the applicant may recover damages resulting from the breach, including incidental but not consequential damages, less any amount saved as a result of the breach.

(3) If an adviser or nominated person other than a confirmer breaches an obligation under this chapter or an issuer breaches an obligation not covered in subsection (1) or (2), a person to whom the obligation is owed may recover damages resulting from the breach, including incidental but not consequential damages, less any amount saved as a result of the breach. To the extent of the confirmation, a confirmer has the liability of an issuer specified in this subsection and subsections (1) and (2).

(4) An issuer, nominated person, or adviser who is found liable under subsection (1), (2), or (3) shall pay interest on the amount owed from the date of wrongful dishonor or other appropriate date.

(5) Reasonable attorney's fees and other expenses of litigation must be awarded to the prevailing party in an action in which a remedy is sought under this chapter.

(6) Damages that would otherwise be payable by a party for breach of an obligation under this chapter may be liquidated by agreement or undertaking, but only in an amount or by a formula that is reasonable in light of the harm anticipated.

Section 16. Transfer of letter of credit. (1) Except as otherwise provided in [section 17], unless a letter of credit provides that it is transferable, the right of a beneficiary to draw or otherwise demand performance under a letter of credit may not be transferred.

(2) Even if a letter of credit provides that it is transferable, the issuer may refuse to recognize or carry out a transfer if:

(a) the transfer would violate applicable law; or

(b) the transferor or transferee has failed to comply with any requirement stated in the letter of credit or any other requirement relating to transfer imposed by the issuer which is within the standard practice referred to in [section 12(5)] or is otherwise reasonable under the circumstances.

Section 17. Transfer by operation of law. (1) A successor of a beneficiary may consent to amendments, sign and present documents, and receive payment or other items of value in the name of the beneficiary without disclosing its status as a successor.

(2) A successor of a beneficiary may consent to amendments, sign and present documents, and receive payment or other items of value in its own name as the disclosed successor of the beneficiary. Except as otherwise provided in subsection (5), an issuer shall recognize a disclosed successor of a beneficiary as beneficiary in full substitution for its predecessor upon compliance with the requirements for recognition by the issuer of a transfer of drawing rights by operation of law under the standard practice referred to in [section 12(5)] or, in the absence of such a practice, compliance with other reasonable procedures sufficient to protect the issuer.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3137 1997

(3) An issuer is not obliged to determine whether a purported successor is a successor of a beneficiary or whether the signature of a purported successor is genuine or authorized.

(4) Honor of a purported successor's apparently complying presentation under subsection (1) or (2) has the consequences specified in [section 12(9)] even if the purported successor is not the successor of a beneficiary. Documents signed in the namo of the beneficiary or of a disclosed successor by a person who is neither the beneficiary nor the successor of the beneficiary are forged documents for the purposes of [section 13].

(5) An issuer whose rights of reimbursement are not covered by suhsection (4) or substantially similar law and any confirmer or nominated person may decline to recognize a presentation under subsection (2).

(6) A beneficiary whose name is changed after the issuance of a letter of credit has the same rights and obligations as a successor of a heneficiary under this section.

Section 18. Assignment of procceds. (1) (a) In this section, "proceeds of a letter of credit" means the cash, check, accepted draft, or other item of value paid or delivered upon honor or giving of value by the issuer or any nominated person under the letter of credit.

(b) The term does not include a beneficiary's drawing rights or documents presented by the beneficiary.

(2) A beneficiary may assign its right to part or all of the proceeds of a letter of credit. The beneficiary may do so before presentation as a present assignment of its right to receive proceeds contingent upon its compliance with the terms and conditions of the letter of credit.

(3) An issuer or nominated person need not recognize an assignment of proceeds of a letter of credit until it consents to the assignment.

(4) An issuer or nominated person has no obligation to give or withhold its consent to an assignment of proceeds of a letter of credit, but consent may not be unreasonably withheld if tlie assignee possesses and exhibits the letter of credit and presentation of the letter of credit is a condition to honor.

(5) Rights of a transferee beneficiary or nominated person are independent of tlie beneficiary's assignment of the proceeds of a letter of credit and are superior to the assignee's right to the proceeds.

(6) Neitlier the rights recognized by this section between an assignee and an issuer, transferee beneficiary, or nominated person nor tbe issuer's or nominated person's payment of proceeds to an assignee or a third person affect tlie rights between the assignee and any person otlier than the issuer, transferee beneficiary, or nominated person. Tlie mode of creating and perfecting a security interest in or granting an assignment of a beneficiary's rights to proceeds is governed by cliapter 9 or other law. Against persons other tlian the issuer, transferee heneficiary, or nominated person, the rights and obligations arising upon the creation of a security interest or other assignment of a beneficiary's right to proceeds and its perfection are governed by chapter 9 or other law.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3138 1997

Seetion 19. Statute of limitations. An action to enforce a right or obligation arising under this chapter must he commenced within 1 year after the expiration date of the relevant letter of credit or 1 year after the cause of action accrues, whichever occurs later. A cause of action accrues when the breach occurs, regardless of the aggrieved party's lack of knowledge of the breach.

Section 20. Choice of law and forum. (1) The liability of an issuer, nominated person, or adviser for action or omission is governed by the law of the jurisdiction chosen hy an agreement in the form of a record signed or otherwise authenticated by the affected parties in the manner provided in [section 8] or by a provision in the person's letter of credit, confirmation, or other undertaking. The jurisdiction whose law is chosen need not bear any relation to the transaction.

(2) Unless subsection (1) applies, the liability of an issuer, nominated person, or adviser for action or omission is governed by the law of the jurisdiction in which the person is located. The person is considered to be located at the address indicated in the person's undertaking. If more than one address is indicated, the person is considered to be located at the address from which the person's undertaking was issued. For the purpose of jurisdiction, choice of law, and recognition of interbranch letters of credit, but not enforcement of a judgment, all branches of a bank are considered separate juridical entities and a bank is considered to be located at the place where its relevant branch is considered to be located under this subsection.

(3) (a) Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, the liability of an issuer, nominated person, or adviser is governed by any rules of custom or practice, such as the Uniform Customs and Practice for Documentary Credits, to which the letter of credit, confirmation, or other undertaking is expressly made subject.

(b) The rules of custom and practice govern except to the extent of any conflict with the nonvariable provisions specified in [section 7(3)] if:

(i) this chapter would govern the liability of an issuer, nominated person, or adviser under subsection (1) or (2);

(ii) the relevant undertaking incorporates rules of custom or practice; and

(iii) there is conflict between this chapter and those rules as applied to that undertaking.

(4) If there is conflict between this chapter and chapter 3, 4, 4A, or 9, this chapter governs.

(5) The forum for settling disputes arising out of an undertaking within this chapter may be chosen in the manner and with the binding effect that governing law may be chosen in accordance with subsection (1).

Section 21. Subrogation of issuer, applicant, and nominated person. (1) An issuer that honors a beneficiary's presentation is subrogated to the rights of the beneficiary to the same extent as if the issuer were a secondary obligor of the underlying obligation owed to the beneficiary and of the applicant to the same extent as if the issuer were the secondary obligor of the underlying obligation owed to the applicant.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3139 1997

(2) An applicant that reimhurses an issuer is suhrogated to the rights of the issuer against any beneficiary, presenter, or nominated person to the same extent as if the applicant were the secondary obligor of the obligations owed to the issuer and has the rights of subrogation of the issuer to the rights of the beneficiary stated in subsection (1).

(3) A nominated person who pays or gives value against a draft or demand presented under a letter of credit is subrogated to the rights of:

(a) the issuer against the applicant to the same extent as if the nominated person were a secondary obligor of the obligation owed to the issuer by the applicant;

(b) the beneficiary to the same extent as if the nominated person were a secondary obligor of the underlying obligation owed to the beneficiary; and

(c) the applicant to same extent as if the nominated person were a secondary obligor of the underlying obligation owed to the applicant.

(4) Notwithstanding any agreement or term to the contrary, the rights of subrogation stated in subsections (1) and (2) do not arise until the issuer honors the letter of credit or otherwise pays and the rights in subsection (3) do not arise until the nominated person pays or otherwise gives value. Until then, the issuer, nominated person, and the applicant do not derive under this section present or prospective rights forming the basis of a claim, defense, or excuse.

Section 22. Definitions. (1) In this chapter:

(a) "Adverse claim" means a claim that a claimant has a property interest in a financial asset and that it is a violation of the rights of the claimant for another person to hold, transfer, or deal with the financial asset.

"Control" [section 26]

"Delivery" [section 47]

"Investment company security" [section 23]

"Issuer" [section 37]

"Overissue" [section 46]

"Protected purchaser" [section 49]

"Securities account" [section 61]

(3) In addition, chapter 1 contains general definitions and principles of construction and interpretation applicable throughout this chapter.

(4) The characterization of a person, business, or transaction for purposes of this chapter does not determine the characterization of the person, business, or transaction for purposes of any other law, regulation, or rule.

Section 23. Rules for determining whether certain obligations and interests are securities or financial assets. (1) A share or similar equity interest issued hy a corporation, business trust, joint stock company, or similar entity is a security.

(2) An "investment company security" is a security. "Investment company security" means a share or similar equity interest issued by an entity that is registered as an investment company under the federal investment company laws, an interest in a unit investment trust that is so registered, or a face-amount certificate issued by a face-amount certificate company that is so registered. Investment company security does not include an insurance policy or endowment policy or annuity contract issued by an insurance company.

(3) An interest in a partnership or limited liability company is not a security unless it is dealt in or traded on securities exchanges or in securities markets, its terms expressly provide that it is a security governed by this chapter, or it is an investment company security. However, an interest in a partnership or limited liability company is a financial asset if it is held in a securities account.

(4) A writing that is a security certificate is governed by this chapter and not by chapter 3, even though it also meets the requirements of that chapter. However, a negotiable instrument governed by chapter 3 is a financial asset if it is held in a securities account.

(6) A commodity contract, as defined in [section 76], is not a security or a financial asset.

(4) Unless the context shows that a different meaning is intended, a person who is required by other law, regulation, rule, or agreement to transfer, deliver, present, surrender, exchango, or otherwise put in the possession of another person a security or financial asset satisfies that requirement by causing the other person to acquire an interest in the security or financial asset pursuant to subsection (1) or (2).

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3143 1997

Section 25. Notice of adverse claim. (1) A person has notice of an adverse claim if:

(a) the person knows of the adverse claim;

(b) the person is aware of facts sufficient to indicate that there is a significant probability that the adverse claim exists and deliberately avoids information that would establish the existence of the adverse claim; or

(c) the person has a duty, imposed by statute or regulation, to investigate whether an adverse claim exists, and the investigation so required would establish the existence of the adverse claim.

(2) Having knowledge that a financial asset or interest therein is or has been transferred by a representative impeses no duty of inquiry into the rightfulness of a transaction and is not notice of an adverse claim. However, a person who knows that a representative has transferred a financial asset or interest therein in a transaction that is, or whose proceeds are being used, for the individual benefit of the representative or otherwise in breach of duty has notice of an adverse claim.

(3) An act or event that creates a right to immediate performance of the principal obligation represented by a security certificate or sets a date on or after which the certificate is to be presented or surrendered for redemption or exchange does not itself constitute notice of an adverse claim except in the case of a transfer more than:

(a) 1 year after a date set for presentment or surrender for redemption or exchange; or

(b) 6 months after a date set for payment of money against presentation or surrender of the certificate, if money was available for payment on that date.

(4) A purchaser of a certificated security has notice of an adverse claim if the security certificate:

(a) whether in bearer or registered form, has been indorsed "for collection" or "for surrender" or for some other purpose not involving transfer; or

(b) is in bearer form and has on it an unambiguous statement that it is the property of a person other than the transferor, but the mere writing of a name on the certificate is not such a statement.

(5) Filing of a financing statement under chapter 9 is not notice of an adverse claim to a financial asset.

Section 26. Control. (1) A purchaser has "control" of a certificated security in bearer form if the certificated security is delivered to the purchaser.

(2) A purchaser has "control" of a certificated security in registered form if the certificated security is delivered to the purchaser and:

(a) the certificate is indorsed to the purchaser or in blank by an effective indorsement; or

(h) the certificate is registered in the name of the purchaser, upon original issue or registration of transfer by the issuer.

(3) A purchaser has "control" of an uncertificated security if:

(a) the uncertificated security is delivered to the purchaser; or

(b) the issuer has agreed that it will comply with instructions originated by the purchaser without further consent by the registered owner.

(4) A purchaser has "control" of a security entitlement if:

(a) the purchaser hecomes the entitlement holder; or

(b) the securities intermediary has agreed that it will comply with entitlement orders originated by the purchaser without further consent hy the entitlement holder.

(5) If an interest in a security entitlement is granted by the entitlement holder to the entitlement holder's own securities intermediary, the securities intermediary has control.

(6) A purchaser who has satisfied the requirements of subsection (3)(b) or (4)(b) has control even if the registered owner in the case of subsection (3)(b) or the entitlement holder in the case of subsection (4)(b) retains the right to make substitutions for the uncertificated security or security entitlement, to originate instructions or entitlement orders to the issuer or securities intermediary, or otherwise to deal with the uncertificated security or security entitlement.

(7) An issuer or a securities intermediary may not enter into an agreement of the kind described in subsection (3)(b) or (4)(b) without the consent of the registered owner or entitlement holder, but an issuer or a securities intermediary is not required to enter into such an agreement even though the registered owner or entitlement holder so directs. An issuer or securities intermediary that has entered into such an agreement is not required to confirm the existence of the agreement to another party unless requested to do so by the registered owner or entitlement holder.

Section 27. Whether indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order is effective. (1) "Appropriato person" means:

(a) with respect to an indorsement, the person specified by a security certificate or by an effective special indorsement to be entitled to the security;

(b) with respect to an instruction, the registered owner of an uncertificated security;

(c) with respect to an entitlement order, the entitlement holder;

(d) if the person designated in subsection (1)(a), (1)(b), or (1)(c) is deceased, the designated person's successor taking under other law or the designated person's personal representative acting for the estate of the decedent; or

(e) if the person designated in subsection (1)(a), (1)(b), or (1)(c) lacks capacity, the designated person's guardian, conservator, or other similar ropresentative who has power under other law to transfer the security or financial asset.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3145 1997

(2) An indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order is effective if:

(a) it is made by the appropriate person;

(b) it is made by a person who has power under the law of agency to transfer the security or financial asset on behalf of the appropriate person, including, in the case of an instruction or entitlement order, a person who has control under [section 26(3)(b) or (4)(b)]; or

(c) the appropriate person has ratified it or is otherwise precluded from asserting its ineffectiveness.

(3) An indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order made by a representative is effective even if:

(a) the representative has failed to comply with a controlling instrument or with the law of the state having jurisdiction of the representative relationship, including any law requiring the representative to obtain court approval of the transaction; or

(b) the representative's action in making the indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order or using the proceeds of the transaction is otherwise a breach of duty.

(4) If a security is registered in the name of or specially indorsed to a person described as a representative, or if a securities account is maintained in the name of a person described as a representative, an indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order made by the person is effective even though the person is no longer serving in the described capacity.

(5) Effectiveness of an indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order is determined as of the date the indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order is made, and an indorsement, instruction, or entitlement order does not become ineffective by reason of any later change of circumstances.

Section 28. Warranties in direct holding. (1) A person who transfers a certificated security to a purchaser for value warrants to the purchaser, and an indorser, if the transfer is by indorsement, warrants to any subsequent purchaser that:

(a) the certificate is genuine and has not been materially altered;

(b) the transferor or indorser does not know of any fact that might impair the validity of the security;

(c) there is no adverse claim to the security;

(d) the transfer does not violate any restriction on transfer;

(e) if the transfer is by indorsement, the indorsement is made by an appropriate person, or if the indorsement is by an agent, the agent has actual authority to act on behalf of the appropriate person; and

(f) the transfer is otherwise effective and rightful.

(2) A person who originates an instruction for registration of transfer of an uncertificated security to a purchaser for value warrants to the purchaser that:

(a) the instruction is made by an appropriate person, or if the instruction is by an agent, the agent has actual authority to act on behalf of the appropriate person;

(b) the security is valid;

(c) there is no adverse claim to the security; and

(d) at the time the instruction is presented to the issuer:

(i) the purchaser will be entitled to the registration of transfer;

(ii) the transfer will be registered by the issuer free from all liens, security interests, restrictions, and claims other than those specified in the instruction;

(iii) the transfer will not violate any restriction on transfer; and

(iv) the requested transfer will otherwise be effective and rightful.

(3) A person who transfers an uncertificated security to a purchaser for value and does not originate an instruction in connection with the transfer warrants that:

(a) the uncertificated security is valid;

(b) there is no adverse claim to the security;

(c) the transfer does not violate any restriction on transfer; and

(d) the transfer is otherwise effective and rightful.

(4) A person who indorses a security certificate warrants to the issuer that:

(a) there is no adverse claim to the security; and

(b) the indorsement is effective.

(5) A person who originates an instruction for registration of transfer of an uncertificated security warrants to the issuer that:

(a) the instruction is effective; and

(b) at the time the instruction is presented to the issuer the purchaser will be entitled to the registration of transfer.

(6) A person who presents a certificated security for registration of transfer or for payment or exchange warrants to the issuer that the person is entitled to the registration, payment, or exchange, but a purchaser for value and without notice of adverse claims to whom transfer is registered warrants only that the person has no knowledge of any unauthorized signature in a necessary indorsement.

(7) If a person acts as agent of another in delivering a certificated security to a purchaser, the identity of the principal was known to the person to whom the certificate was delivered, and the certificate delivered by the agent was received by the agent from the principal or received by the agent from another person at the direction of the principal, the person delivering the security certificate warrants only that the delivering person has authority to act for the principal and does not know of any adverse claim to the certificated security.

(8) A secured party who redelivers a security certificate received, or after payment and on order of the debtor delivers the security certificate to another person, makes only the warranties of an agent under subsection (7).

(9) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (7), a broker acting for a customer makes to the issuer and a purchaser the warranties provided in subsections (1) through (6). A broker that delivers a security certificate to its customer, or causes its customer to be registered as the owner of an uncertificated security, makes to the customer the warranties provided in subsection (1) or (2) and has the rights and privileges of a purchaser under this section. The warranties of and in favor of the broker acting as an agent are in addition to applicable warranties given by and in favor of the customer.

Section 29. Warranties in indirect holding. (1) A person who originates an entitlement order to a securities intermediary warrants to the securities intermediary that:

(a) the entitlement order is made by an appropriate person, or if the entitlement order is by an agent, the agent has actual authority to act on behalf of the appropriate person; and

(b) there is no adverse claim to the security entitlement.

(2) A person who delivers a security certificate to a securities intermediary for credit to a securities account or originates an instruction with respect to an uncertificated security directing that the uncertificated security be credited to a securities account makes to the securities intermediary the warranties specified in [section 28(1) or (2)].

(3) If a securities intermediary delivers a security certificate to its entitlement holder or causes its entitlement holder to be registered as the owner of an uncertificated security, the securities intermediary makes to the entitlement holder the warranties specified in [section 28(1) or (2)].

Section 30. Applicability — choice of law. (1) The local law of the issuer's jurisdiction, as specified in subsection (4), governs:

(a) the validity of a security;

(b) the rights and duties of the issuer with respect to registration of transfer;

(c) the effectiveness of registration of transfer by the issuer;

(d) whether the issuer owes any duties to an adverse claimant to a security; and

(e) whether an adverse claim can be asserted against a person to whom transfer of a certificated or uncertificated security is registered or a person who obtains control of an uncertificated security.

(2) The local law of the securities intermediary's jurisdiction, as specified in subsection (5), governs:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3148 1997

(a) acquisition of a security entitlement from the securities intermediary;

(b) the rights and duties of the securities intermediary and entitlement holder arising out of a security entitlement;

(c) whether the securities intermediary owes any duties to an adverse claimant to a security entitlement; and

(d) whether an adverse claim can be asserted against a person who acquires a security entitlement from the securities intermediary or a person who purchases a security entitlement or interest therein from an entitlement holder.

(3) The local law of the jurisdiction in which a security certificate is located at the time of delivery governs whether an adverse claim can be asserted against a person to whom the security certificate is delivered.

(4) "Issuer's jurisdiction" means the jurisdiction under which the issuer of the security is organized or, if permitted by the law of that jurisdiction, the law of another jurisdiction specified by the issuer. An issuer organized under the law of this state may specify the law of another jurisdiction as the law governing the matters specified in subsections (1)(b) through (1)(e).

(5) The following rules determine a "securities intermediary's jurisdiction" for purposes of this section:

(a) If an agreement between the securities intermediary and its entitlement holder specifies that it is governed by the law of a particular jurisdiction, that jurisdiction is the securities intermediary's jurisdiction.

(b) If an agreement between the securities intermediary and its entitlement holder does not specify the governing law as provided in subsection (5)(a), but expressly specifies that the securities account is maintained at an office in a particular jurisdiction, that jurisdiction is the securities intermediary's jurisdiction.

(c) If an agreement between the securities intermediary and its entitlement holder does not specify a jurisdiction as provided in subsection (5)(a) or (5)(b), the securities intermediary's jurisdiction is the jurisdiction in which is located the office identified in an account statement as the office serving the entitlement holder's account.

(d) If an agreement between the securities intermediary and its entitlement holder does not specify a jurisdiction as provided in subsection (5)(a) or (5)(b) and an account statement does not identify an office serving the entitlement holder's account as provided in subsection (5)(c), the securities intermediary's jurisdiction is the jurisdiction in which is located the chief executive office of the securities intermediary.

(6) A securities intermediary's jurisdiction is not determined by the physical location of certificates representing financial assets, or by the jurisdiction in which is organized the issuer of the financial asset with respect to which an entitlement holder has a security entitlement, or by the location of facilities for data processing or other recordkeeping concerning the account.

Seetion 31. Clearing corporation rules. A rule adopted by a clearing corporation governing rights and obligations among the clearing corporation and its participants in the clearing corporation is effective even if the rule conflicts with this chapter and affects another party who does not consent to the rule.

Section 32. Creditor's legal process. (1) The interest of a debtor in a certificated security may be reached by a creditor only by actual seizure of the security certificate by tbe officer making the attachment or levy, except as otberwise provided in subsection (4). However, a certificated security for which the certificate has been surrendered to the issuer may be reached by a creditor by legal process upon the issuer.

(2) The interest of a debtor in an uncertificated security may be reached hy a creditor only by legal process upon the issuer at its chief executive office in the United States, except as otherwise provided in suhsection (4).

(3) The interest of a debtor in a security entitlement may be reached by a creditor only by legal process upon the securities intermediary with whom the debtor's securities account is maintained, except as otherwise provided in subsection (4).

(4) The interest of a debtor in a certificated security for which the certificate is in the possession of a secured party, or in an uncertificated security registered in the name of a secured party, or a security entitlement maintained in the name of a secured party, may be reached by a creditor by legal process upon tlie secured party.

(5) A creditor whose debtor is the owner of a certificated security, uncertificated security, or security entitlement is entitled to aid from a court of competent jurisdiction, by injunction or otherwise, in reaching the certificated security, uncertificated security, or security entitlement or in satisfying the claim by means allowed at law or in equity in regard to property that cannot readily be reached by other legal process.

Section 33. Statute of frauds inapplicable. A contract or modification of a contract for the sale or purchase of a security is enforceable whether or not there is a writing signed or record authenticated by a party against whom enforcement is sought, even if the contract or modification is not capable of performance within 1 year of its making.

Section 34. Evidentiary rules concerning certificated securities. The following rules apply in an action on a certificated security against the issuer:

(1) Unless specifically denied in the pleadings, each signature on a security certificate or in a necessary indorsement is admitted.

(2) If the effectiveness of a signature is put in issue, the burden of establishing effectiveness is on the party claiming under the signature, but the signature is presumed to be genuine or authorized.

(3) If signatures on a security certificate are admitted or established, production of the certificate entitles a holder to recover on it unless the defendant establishes a defense or a defect going to the validity of the security.

(4) If it is shown that a defense or defect exists, the plaintiff has the burden of establishing that the plaintiff or some person under whom the plaintiff claims is a person against whom the defense or defect cannot be asserted.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3150 1997

Section 35. Securities intermediary and others not liable to adverse claimant. A securities intermediary that has transferred a financial asset pursuant to an effective entitlement order, or a broker or other agent or bailee that has dealt with a financial asset at the direction of its customer or principal, is not liable to a person having an adverse claim to the financial asset, unless the securities intermediary, or broker or other agent or hailee:

(1) took the action after it had been served with an injunction, restraining order, or other legal process enjoining it from doing so, issued hy a court of competent jurisdiction, and had a reasonable opportunity to act on the injunction, restraining order, or other legal process;

(2) acted in collusion with the wrongdoer in violating the rights of the adverse claimant; or

(3) in the case of a security certificate that has heen stolen, acted with notice of the adverse claim.

Section 36. Securities intermediary as purchaser for value. A securities intermediary that receives a financial asset and establishes a security entitlement to the financial asset in favor of an entitlement holder is a purchaser for value of the financial asset. A securities intermediary that acquires a security entitlement to a financial asset from another securities intermediary acquires the security entitlement for value if the securities intermediary acquiring the security entitlement estahlishes a security entitlement to the financial asset in favor of an entitlement holder.

Section 37. Issuer. (1) With respect to an ohligation on or a defense to a security, an "issuer" includes a person that:

(a) places or authorizes the placing of its name on a security certificate, other than as authenticating trustee, registrar, transfer agent, or the like, to evidence a share, participation, or other interest in its property or in an enterprise, or to evidence its duty to perform an obligation represented by the certificate;

(b) creates a share, participation, or other interest in its property or in an enterprise, or undertakes an obligation, that is an uncertificated security;

(c) directly or indirectly creates a fractional interest in its rights or property, if the fractional interest is represented hy a security certificate; or

(d) becomes responsible for, or in place of, another person described as an issuer in this section.

(2) With respect to an obligation on or defense to a security, a guarantor is an issuer to the extent of its guaranty, whether or not its obligation is noted on a security certificate.

(3) With respoct to a registration of a transfer, issuer means a person on whose behalf transfer hooks are maintained.

Section 38. Issuer's responsibility and defenses — notice of defect or defense. (1) Even against a purchaser for value and without notice, the terms of a certificated security include terms stated on the certificate and terms made part of the security by reference on the certificate to another instrument, indenture, or document or to a constitution, statute, ordinance, rule, regulation, order, or the like, to the extent the terms referred to do not conflict with terms stated on the certificate. A reference under this subsection does not of itself charge a purchaser for value with notice of a defect going to the validity of the security, even if the certificate expressly states that a person accepting it admits notice. The terms of an uncertificated security include those stated in any instrument, indenture, or document or in a constitution, statute, ordinance, rule, regulation, order, or the like, pursuant to which the security is issued.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3151 1997

(2) The following rules apply if an issuer asserts that a security is not valid:

(a) A security other than one issued by a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality, even though issued with a defect going to its validity, is valid in the hands of a purchaser for value and without notice of the particular defect unless the defect involves a violation of a constitutional provision. In that case, the security is valid in the hands of a purchaser for value and without notice of the defect, other than one who takes by original issue.

(b) Subsection (2)(a) applies to an issuer that is a government or governmental subdivision, agency, or instrumentality only if there has been substantial compliance with the legal requirements governing the issue or the issuer has received a substantial consideration for the issue as a whole or for the particular security and a stated purpose of the issue is one for which the issuer has power to borrow money or issue the security.

(3) Except as otherwise provided in [section 41], lack of genuineness of a certificated security is a complete defense, even against a purchaser for value and without notice.

(4) All other defenses of the issuer of a security, including nondelivery and conditional delivery of a certificated security, are ineffective against a purchaser for value who has taken the certificated security without notice of the particular defense.

(5) This section does not affect the right of a party to cancel a contract for a security "when, as and if issued" or "when distributed" in the event of a material change in the character of the security that is the subject of the contract or in the plan or arrangement pursuant to which the security is to be issued or distributed.

(6) If a security is held by a securities intermediary against whom an entitlement holder has a security entitlement with respect to the security, the issuer may not assert any defense that the issuer could not assert if the entitlement holder held the security directly.

Section 39. Staleness as notice of defect or defense. After an act or event, other than a call that has been revoked, creating a right to immediate performance of the principal obligation represented by a certificated security or setting a date on or after which the security is to be presented or surrendered for redemption or exchange, a purchaser is charged with notice of any defect in its issue or defense of the issuer, if the act or event:

(1) requires the payment of money, the delivery of a certificated security, the registration of transfer of an uncertificated security, or any of them on presentation or surrender of the security certificate, the money or security is available on the date set for payment or exchange, and the purchaser takes the security more than one year after that date; or

(2) is not covered hy subsection (1) and the purchaser takes the security more than 2 years after the date set for surrender or presentation or the date on which performance became due.

Section 40. Effect of issuer's restriction on transfer. A restriction on transfer of a security imposed by the issuer, even if otherwise lawful, is ineffective against a person without knowledge of the restriction unless:

(1) the security is certificated and the restriction is noted conspicuously on the security certificate; or

(2) the security is uncertificated and the registered owner has been notified of the restriction.

Section 41. Effect of unauthorized signature on security certificate. An unauthorized signature placed on a security certificate before or in the course of issue is ineffective, but the signature is effective in favor of a purchaser for value of the certificated security if the purchaser is without notice of the lack of authority and the signing has been done by:

(1) an authenticating trustee, registrar, transfer agent, or other person entrusted by the issuer with the signing of the security certificate or of similar security certificates, or the immediate preparation for signing of any of them; or

(2) an employee of the issuer, or of any of the persons listed in subsection (1), entrusted with responsible handling of the security certificate.

Section 42. Completion of alteration of security certificate. (1) If a security certificate contains the signatures necessary to its issue or transfer but is incomplete in any other respect:

(a) any person may complete it by filling in the blanks as authorized; and

(b) even if the blanks are incorrectly filled in, the security certificate as completed is enforceable by a purchaser who took it for value and without notice of the incorrectness.

(2) A complete security certificate that has been improperly altered, even if fraudulently, remains enforceable, but only according to its original terms.

Section 43. Rights and duties of issuer with respect to registered owners. (1) Before due presentment for registration of transfer of a certificated security in registered form or of an instruction requesting registration of transfer of an uncertificated security, the issuer or indenture trustee may treat the registered owner as the person exclusively entitled to vote, receive notifications, and otherwise exercise all the rights and powers of an owner.

(2) This chapter does not affect the liability of the registered owner of a security for a call, assessment, or the like.

Section 44. Effect of signature of authenticating trustee, registrar, or transfer agent. (1) A person signing a security certificate as authenticating trustee, registrar, transfer agent, or the like, warrants to a purchaser for value of the certificated security, if the purchaser is without notice of a particular defect, that:

(a) the certificate is genuine;

(b) the person's own participation in the issue of the security is within the person's capacity and within the scope of the authority received by the person from the issuer; and

(c) the person has reasonable grounds to believe that the certificated security is in the form and within the amount the issuer is authorized to issue.

(2) Unless otherwise agreed, a person signing under subsection (1) does not assume responsibility for the validity of the security in other respects.

Section 45. Issuer's lien. A lien in favor of an issuer upon a certificated security is valid against a purchaser only if the right of the issuer to the lien is noted conspicuously on the security certificate.

Section 46. Overissue. (1) In this section, "overissue" means the issue of securities in excess of the amount the issuer has corporate power to issue, but an overissue does not occur if appropriate action has cured the overissue.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in subsections (3) and (4), the provisions of this chapter which validate a security or compel its issue or reissue do not apply to the extent that validation, issue, or reissue would result in overissue.

(3) If an identical security not constituting an overissue is reasonably available for purchase, a person entitled to issue or validation may compel the issuer to purchase the security and deliver it if certificated or register its transfer if uncertificated, against surrender of any security certificate the person holds.

(4) If a security is not reasonably available for purchase, a person entitled to issue or validation may recover from the issuer the price the person or the last purchaser for value paid for it with interest from the date of the person's demand.

Section 47. Delivery. (1) Delivery of a certificated security to a purchaser occurs when:

(a) the purchaser acquires possession of the security certificate;

(b) another person, other than a securities intermediary, either acquires possession of the security certificate on behalf of the purchaser or, having previously acquired possession of the certificate, acknowledges that it holds for the purchaser; or

(c) a securities intermediary acting on behalf of the purchaser acquires possession of the security certificate, only if the certificate is in registered form and has been specially indorsed to the purchaser by an effective indorsement.

(2) Delivery of an uncertificated security to a purchaser occurs when:

(a) the issuer registers the purchaser as the registered owner, upon original issue or registration of transfer; or

(b) another person, other than a securities intermediary, either becomes the registered owner of the uncertificated security on behalf of the purchaser or, having previously become the registered owner, acknowledges that it holds for the purchaser.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3154 1997

Section 48. Rights of purchaser. (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsections (2) and (3), upon delivery of a certificated or uncertificated security to a purchaser, the purchaser acquires all rights in the security that the transferor had or had power to transfer.

(2) A purchaser of a limited interest acquires rights only to the extent of the interest purchased.

(3) A purchaser of a certificated security who as a previous holder had notice of an adverse claim does not improve its position by taking from a protected purchaser.

Section 49. Protected purchaser. (1) "Protected purchaser" means a purchaser of a certificated or uncertificated security, or of an interest therein, who:

(a) gives value;

(b) does not have notice of any adverse claim to the security; and

(c) obtains control of the certificated or uncertificated security.

(2) In addition to acquiring the rights of a purchaser, a protected purchaser also acquires its interest in the security free of any adverse claim.

Section 50. Indorsement. (1) An indorsement may be in blank or special. An indorsement in blank includes an indorsement to bearer. A special indorsement specifies to whom a security is to be transferred or who has power to transfer it. A holder may convert a blank indorsement to a special indorsement.

(2) An indorsement purporting to be only of part of a security certificate representing units intended by the issuer to be separately transferable is effective to the extent of the indorsement.

(3) An indorsement, whether special or in blank, does not constitute a transfer until delivery of the certificate on which it appears or, if the indorsement is on a separate document, until delivery of both the document and the certificate.

(4) If a security certificate in registered form has been delivered to a purchaser without a necessary indorsement, the purchaser may become a protected purchaser only when the indorsement is supplied. However, against a transferor, a transfer is complete upon delivery and the purchaser has a specifically enforceable right to have any necessary indorsement supplied.

(5) An indorsement of a security certificate in bearer form may give notice of an adverse claim to the certificate, but it does not otherwise affect a right to registration that the holder possesses.

(6) Unless otherwise agreed, a person making an indorsement assumes only the obligations provided in [section 28] and not an obligation that the security will be honored by the issuer.

Section 51. Instruction. (1) If an instruction has been originated by an appropriate person but is incomplete in any other respect, any person may complete it as authorized and the issuer may rely on it as completed, even though it has been completed incorrectly.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3155 1997

(2) Unless otherwise agreed, a person initiating an instruction assumes only the obligations imposed by [section 28] and not an obligation that the security will be honored by the issuer.

Section 52. Effect of guaranteeing signature, indorsement, or instruction. (1) A person who guarantees a signature of an indorser of a security certificate warrants that at the time of signing:

(a) the signature was genuine;

(b) the signer was an appropriate person to indorse, or if the signature is by an agent, the agent had actual authority to act on behalf of the appropriate person; and

(c) the signer had legal capacity to sign.

(2) A person who guarantees a signature of the originator of an instruction warrants that at the time of signing:

(a) the signature was genuine;

(b) the signer was an appropriate person to originate the instruction, or if the signature is by an agent, the agent had actual authority to act on behalf of the appropriate person, if the person specified in the instruction as the registered owner was, in fact, the registered owner, as to which fact the signature guarantor does not make a warranty; and

(c) the signer had legal capacity to sign.

(3) A person who specially guarantees the signature of an originator of an instruction makes the warranties of a signature guarantor under subsection (2) and also warrants that at the time the instruction is presented to the issuer:

(a) the person specified in the instruction as the registered owner of the uncertificated security will be the registered owner; and

(b) the transfer of the uncertificated security requested in the instruction will be registered by the issuer free from all liens, security interests, restrictions, and claims other than those specified in the instruction.

(4) A guarantor under subsections (1) and (2) or a special guarantor under subsection (3) does not otherwise warrant the rightfulness of the transfer.

(5) A person who guarantees an indorsement of a security certificate makes the warranties of a signature guarantor under subsection (1) and also warrants the rightfulness of the transfer in all respects.

(6) A person who guarantees an instruction requesting the transfer of an uncertificated security makes the warranties of a special signature guarantor under subsection (3) and also warrants the rightfulness of the transfer in all respects.

(7) An issuer may not require a special guaranty of signature, a guaranty of indorsement, or a guaranty of instruction as a condition to registration of transfer.

(8) The warranties under this section are made to a person taking or dealing with the security in reliance on the guaranty, and the guarantor is liable to the person for loss resulting from their breach. An indorser or originator of an instruction whose signature, indorsement, or instruction has been guaranteed is liable to a guarantor for any loss suffered by the guarantor as a result of breach of the warranties of the guarantor.

Section 53. Purchaser's right to requisites for registration of transfer. Unless otherwise agreed, the transferor of a security on due demand shall supply the purchaser with proof of authority to transfer or with any other requisite necessary to obtain registration of the transfer of the security, but if the transfer is not for value, a transferor need not comply unless the purchaser pays the necessary expenses. If the transferor fails within a reasonable time to comply with the demand, the purchaser may reject or rescind the transfer.

Section 54. Duty of issuer to register transfer. (1) If a certificated security in registered form is presented to an issuer with a request to register transfer or an instruction is presented to an issuer with a request to register transfer of an uncertificated security, the issuer shall register the transfer as requested if:

(a) under the terms of the security the person seeking registration of transfer is eligible to have the security registered in its name;

(b) the indorsement or instruction is made by the appropriate person or by an agent who has actual authority to act on behalf of the appropriate person;

(c) reasonable assurance is given that the indorsement or instruction is genuine and authorized ([section 55]);

(d) any applicable law relating to the collection of taxes has been complied with;

(e) the transfer does not violate any restriction on transfer imposed by the issuer in accordance with [section 40];

(f) a demand that the issuer not register transfer has not become effective under [section 56], or the issuer has complied with [section 56(2)] but no legal process or indemnity bond is obtained as provided in [section 56(4)]; and

(g) the transfer is in fact rightful or is to a protected purchaser.

(2) If an issuer is under a duty to register a transfer of a security, the issuer is liable to a person presenting a certificated security or an instruction for registration or to the person's principal for loss resulting from unreasonable delay in registration or failure or refusal to register the transfer.

Section 55. Assuranee that indorsement or instruction is effeetive. (1) An issuer may require the following assurance that each necessary indorsement or each instruction is genuine and authorized:

(a) in all cases, a guaranty of the signature of the person making an indorsement or originating an instruction including, in the case of an instruction, reasonable assurance of identity;

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3157 1997

(b) if the indorsement is made or the instruction is originated by an agent, appropriate assurance of actual authority to sign;

(c) if the indorsement is made or the instruction is originated by a fiduciary pursuant to [section 27(1)(d) or (1)(e)], appropriate evidence of appointment or incumbency;

(d) if there is more than one fiduciary, reasonable assurance that all who are required to sign have done so; and

(e) if the indorsement is made or the instruction is originated by a person not covered by another provision of this subsection, assurance appropriate to the case corresponding as nearly as may be to the provisions of this subsection.

(2) An issuer may elect to require reasonable assurance beyond that specified in this section.

(3) In this section:

(a) "Guaranty of the signature" means a guaranty signed by or on behalf of a person reasonably believed by the issuer to be responsible. An issuer may adopt standards with respect to responsibility if they are not manifestly unreasonable.

(b) "Appropriate evidence of appointment or incumbency" means:

(i) in the case of a fiduciary appointed or qualified by a court, a certificate issued by or under the direction or supervision of the court or an officer thereof and dated within 60 days before the date of presentation for transfer; or

The demand is effective only if it is received by the issuer at a time and in a manner affording the issuer reasonable opportunity to act on it.

(2) If a certificated security in registered form is presented to an issuer with a request to register transfer or an instruction is presented to an issuer with a request to register transfer of an uncertificated security after a demand that the issuer not register transfer has become effective, the issuer shall promptly communicate to:

(a) the person who initiated the demand at the address provided in the demand; and

(b) the person who presented the security for registration of transfer or initiated the instruction requesting registration of transfer a notification stating that:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3158 1997

(i) the certificated security has been presented for registration of transfer or the instruction for registration of transfer of the uncertificated security has been received;

(ii) a demand that the issuer not register transfer had previously been received; and

(iii) the issuer will withhold registration of transfer for a peried of time stated in the notification in order to provide the person who initiated the demand an opportunity to obtain legal process or an indemnity bond.

(3) The period described in subsection (2)(b)(iii) may not exceed 30 days after the date of communication of the notification. A shorter period may be specified by the issuer if it is not manifestly unreasonable.

(4) An issuer is not liable to a person who initiated a demand that the issuer not register transfer for any loss the person suffers as a result of registration of a transfer pursuant to an effective indorsement or instruction if the person who initiated the demand does not, within the time stated in the issuer's communication, either:

(a) obtain an appropriate restraining order, injunction, or other process from a court of competent jurisdiction enjoining the issuer from registering the transfer; or

(b) file with the issuer an indemnity bond, sufficient in the issuer's judgment to protect the issuer and any transfer agent, registrar, or other agent of the issuer involved from any loss it or they may suffer by refusing to register the transfer.

(5) This section does not relieve an issuer from liability for registering transfer pursuant to an indorsement or instruction that was not effective.

Section 57. Wrongful registration. (1) Except as otherwise provided in [section 59], an issuer is liable for wrongful registration of transfer if the issuer has registered a transfer of a security to a person not entitled to it, and the transfer was registered:

(a) pursuant to an ineffective indorsement or instruction;

(b) after a demand that the issuer not register transfer became effective under [section 56(1)] and the issuer did not comply with [section 56(2)];

(c) after the issuer had been served with an injunction, restraining order, or other legal process enjoining it from registering the transfer, issued by a court of competent jurisdiction, and the issuer had a reasonable opportunity to act on the injunction, restraining order, or other legal process; or

(d) by an issuer acting in collusion with the wrongdoer.

(2) An issuer that is liable for wrongful registration of transfer under subsection (1) on demand shall provide the person entitled to the security with a like certificated or uncertificated security, and any payments or distributions that the person did not receive as a result of the wrongful registration. If an overissue would result, the issuer's liability to provide the person with a like security is governed by [section 46].

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3159 1997

(3) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (1) or in a law relating to the collection of taxes, an issuer is not liable to an owner or other person suffering loss as a result of the registration of a transfer of a security if registration was made pursuant to an effective indorsement or instruction.

Section 58. Replacement of lost, destroyed, or wrongfully taken security certificate. (1) If an owner of a certificated security, whether in registered or bearer form, claims that the certificate has been lost, destroyed, or wrongfully taken, the issuer shall issue a new certificate if the owner:

(a) so requests before the issuer has notice that the certificate has been acquired by a protected purchaser;

(b) files with the issuer a sufficient indemnity bond; and

(c) satisfies other reasonable requirements imposed by the issuer.

(2) If, after the issue of a new security certificate, a protected purchaser of the original certificate presents it for registration of transfer, the issuer shall register the transfer unless an overissue would result. In that case, the issuer's liability is governed by [section 46]. In addition to any rights on the indemnity bond, an issuer may recover the new certificate from a person to whom it was issued or any person taking under that person, except a protected purchaser.

Section 59. Obligation to notify issuer of lost, destroyed, or wrongfully taken security certificate. If a security certificate has been lost, apparently destroyed, or wrongfully taken, and the owner fails to notify the issuer of that fact within a reasonable time after the owner has notice of it and the issuer registers a transfer of the security before receiving notification, the owner may not assert against the issuer a claim for registering the transfer under [section 57] or a claim to a new security certificato under [section 58].

Section 60. Autbenticating trustee, transfer agent, and registrar. A person acting as autbenticating trustee, transfer agent, registrar, or other agent for an issuer in the registration of a transfer of its securities, in the issue of new security certificates or uncertificated securities, or in tbe cancellation of surrendered security certificates has the same obligetion to the holder or owner of a certificated or uncertificated security with regard to the particular functions performed as the issuer has in regard to those functions.

(c) becomes obligated under other law, regulation, or rule to credit a financial asset to the person's securities account.

(3) If a condition of subsection (2) has been met, a person has a security entitlement even though the securities intermediary does not itself hold the financial asset.

(4) If a securities intermediary holds a financial asset for another person, and the financial asset is registered in the name of, payable to the order of, or specially indorsed to the other person, and has not heen indorsed to the securities intermediary or in blank, the other person is treated as holding the financial asset directly rather than as having a security entitlement with respect to the financial asset.

(5) Issuance of a security is not establishment of a security entitlement.

Scction 62. Assertion of adverse claim against entitlement holder. An action hased on an adverse claim to a financial asset, whether framed in conversion, replevin, constructive trust, equitable lien, or other theory, may not be asserted against a person who acquires a security entitlement under [section 61] for value and without notice of the adverse claim.

Section 63. Property interest of entitlement holder in financial asset held by securities intermediary. (1) To the extent necessary for a securities intermediary to satisfy all security entitlements with respect to a particular financial asset, all interests in that financial asset held by the securities intermediary are held by the securities intermediary for the entitlement holders, are not property of the securities intermediary, and are not subject to claims of creditors of the securities intormediary, except as otherwise provided in [section 71].

(2) An entitlement holder's property interest with respect to a particular financial asset under suhsection (1) is a pro rata property interest in all interests in that financial asset held by tho securities interniediary, without regard to the time the entitlement holder acquired the security entitlement or the time the securities intermediary acquired the interest in that financial asset.

(3) An entitlement holder's property interest with respect to a particular financial asset under subsection (1) may he enforced against the securities intermediary only by exercise of the entitlement holder's rights under [sections 65 through 68].

(b) the securities intermediary does not have sufficient interests in the financial asset to satisfy the security entitlements of all of its entitlement holders to that financial asset;

(c) the securities intermediary violated its obligations under [section 64] by transferring the financial asset or interest therein to the purchaser; and

(d) the purchaser is not protected under subsection (6).

(5) The trustee or other liquidator, acting on behalf of all entitlement holders having security entitlements with respect to a particular financial asset, may recover the financial asset, or interest therein, from the purchaser. If the trustee or other liquidator elects not to pursue that right, an entitlement holder whose security entitlement remains unsatisfied has the right to recover its interest in the financial asset from the purchaser.

(6) An action based on the entitlement holder's property interest with respect to a particular financial asset under subsection (1), whether framed in conversion, replevin, constructive trust, equitable lien, or other theory, may not be asserted against any purchaser of a financial asset or interest therein who gives value, obtains control, and does not act in collusion with the securities intermediary in violating the securities intermediary's obligations under [section 64].

Section 64. Duty of securities intermediary to maintain financial asset. (1) A securities intermediary sball promptly obtain and thereafter maintain a financial asset in a quantity corresponding to the aggregate of all security entitlements it has established in favor of its entitlement holders with respect to that financial asset. The securities intermediary may maintain those financial assets directly or through one or more other securities intermediaries.

(2) Except to the extent otherwise agreed by its entitlement holder, a securities intermediary may not grant any security interests in a financial asset it is obligated to maintain pursuant to subsection (1).

(3) A securities intermediary satisfies the duty in subsection (1) if:

(a) the securities intermediary acts with respect to the duty as agreed upon by the entitlement bolder and the securities intermediary; or

(b) in the absence of agreement, the securities intermediary exercises due care in accordance with reasonable commercial standards to obtain and maintain the financial asset.

(4) This section does not apply to a clearing corporation that is itself the obligor of an option or similar obligation to which its entitlement holders have security entitlements.

Section 66. Duty of securities intermediary to exercise rights as directed by entitlement holder. A securities intermediary shall exercise rights with respect to a financial asset if directed to do so by an entitlement holder. A securities intermediary satisfies the duty if:

(1) the securities intermediary acts with respect to the duty as agreed upon by the entitlement holder and the securities intermediary; or

(2) in the absence of agreement, the securities intermediary either places the entitlement holder in a position to exercise the rights directly or exercises due care in accordance with reasonable commercial standards to follow the direction of the entitlement holder.

Section 67. Duty of securities intermediary to comply with entitlement order. (1) A securities intermediary shall comply with an entitlement order if the entitlement order is originated by the appropriate person, the securities intermediary has had reasonable opportunity to assure itself that the entitlement order is genuine and authorized, and the securities intermediary has had reasonable opportunity to comply with the entitlement order. A securities intermediary satisfies the duty if:

(a) the securities intermediary acts with respect to the duty as agreed upon by the entitlement holder and the securities intermediary; or

(b) in the absence of agreement, the securities intermediary exercises due care in accordance with reasonable commercial standards to comply with the entitlement order.

(2) If a securities intermediary transfers a financial asset pursuant to an ineffective entitlement order, the securities intermediary shall reestablish a security entitlement in favor of the person entitled to it, and pay or credit any payments or distributions that the person did not receive as a result of the wrongful transfer. If the securities intermediary does not reestablish a security entitlement, the securities intermediary is liable to the entitlement holder for damages.

Section 68. Duty of securities intermediary to change entitlement holder's position to other form of security holding. A securities intermediary shall act at the direction of an entitlement holder to change a security entitlement into another available form of holding for which the entitlement holder is eligible, or to cause the financial asset to be transferred to a securities account of the entitlement holder with another securities intermediary. A securities intermediary satisfies the duty if:

(1) the securities intermediary acts as agreed upon by the entitlement holder and the securities intermediary; or

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3163 1997

Section 69. (2) To the extent that specific standards for the performance of the duties of a securities intermediary or the exercise of the rights of an entitlement holder are not specified by other statute, regulation, or rule or by agreement between the securities intermediary and entitlement holder, the securities intermediary shall perform its duties and the entitlement holder shall exercise its rights in a commercially reasonable manner.

(3) The obligation of a securities intermediary to perform the duties imposed by [sections 64 through 68] is subject to:

(a) rights of the securities intermediary arising out of a security interest under a security agreement with the entitlement holder or otherwise; and

(b) rights of the securities intermediary under other law, regulation, rule, or agreement to withhold performance of its duties as a result of unfulfilled obligations of the entitlement holder to the securities intermediary.

(4) [Sections 64 through 68] do not require a securities intermediary to take any action that is prohibited by other statute, regulation, or rule.

Section 70. Rights of purchaser of security entitlement from entitlement holder. (1) An action based on an adverse claim to a financial asset or security entitlement, whether framed in conversion, replevin, constructive trust, equitable lien, or other theory, may not be asserted against a person who purchases a security entitlement, or an interest therein, from an entitlement holder if the purchaser gives value, does not have notice of the adverse claim, and obtains control.

(2) If an adverse claim could not have been asserted against an entitlement holder under [section 62], the adverse claim cannot be asserted against a person who purchases a security entitlement, or an interest therein, from the entitlement holder.

(3) In a case not covered by the priority rules in chapter 9, a purchaser for value of a security entitlement, or an interest therein, who obtains control has priority over a purchaser of a security entitlement, or an interest therein, who does not obtain control. Purchasers who have control rank equally, except that a securities intermediary as purchaser has priority over a conflicting purchaser who has control unless otherwise agreed by the securities intermediary.

Section 71. Priority among security interests and entitlement holders. (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsections (2) and (3), if a securities intermediary does not have sufficient interests in a particular financial asset to satisfy both its obligations to entitlement holders who have security

(2) A claim of a creditor of a securities intermediary who has a security interest in a financial asset held by a securities intermediary has priority over claims of the securities intermediary's entitlement holders who have security entitlements with respect to that financial asset if the creditor has control over the financial asset.

(3) If a clearing corporation does not have sufficient financial assets to satisfy both its obligations to entitlement holders who have security entitlements with respect to a financial asset and its obligation to a creditor of the clearing corporation who has a security interest in that financial asset, the claim of the creditor has priority over the claims of entitlement holders.

Section 72. Section 30-9-103, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-103. Perfection of security interests in multiple state transactions. (1) (a) Subsection (1) applies to documents and instruments and to goods other than those covered by a certificate of title described in subsection (2), mobile goods described in subsection (3), and minerals described in subsection (5).

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (1), perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of a security interest in collateral are governed by the law of the jurisdiction where the collateral is when the last event occurs on which is based the assertion that the security interest is perfected or unperfected.

(c) If the parties to a transaction creating a purchase money security interest in goods in one jurisdiction understand at the time that the security interest attaches that the goods will be kept in anotber jurisdiction, then the law of the other jurisdiction governs the perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest from the time it attaches until 30 days after the debtor receives possession of the goods and thereafter if the goods are taken to the other jurisdiction before the end of the 30-day period.

(d) When collateral is brought into and kept in this state while subject to a security interest perfected under the law of the jurisdiction from which the collateral was removed, the security interest remains perfected, but if action is required by part 3 of tbis chapter to perfect the security interest:

(i) if the action is not taken before the expiration of the period of perfection in the other jurisdiction or the end of 4 months after the collateral is hrought into this state, whichever period first expires, the security interest becomes unperfected at the end of that period and is thereafter considered to have been unperfected as against a person wbo became a purchaser after removal;

(ii) if the action is taken before the expiration of the period specified in (1)(d)(i), the security interest continues perfected thereafter;

(iii) for the purpose of priority over a buyer of consumer goods (30-9-307(2)), the period of the effectiveness of a filing in the jurisdiction from which the collateral is removed is governed by the rules with respect to perfection in (1)(d)(i) and (ii).

(2) (a) Subsection (2) applies to goods covered by a certificate of title issued under a statute of this state or of another jurisdiction under the law of which indication of a security interest on the certificate is required as a condition of perfection.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in suhsection (2), perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest are governed by the law (including the conflict of laws rules) of the jurisdiction issuing the certificate until 4 months after the goods are removed from that jurisdiction and thereafter until the goods are registered in another jurisdiction, but in any event not beyond surrender of the certificate. After the expiration of that period, the goods are not covered by the certificate of title withim the meaning of this section.

(c) Except with respect to the rights of a buyer described in (2)(d), a security interest, perfected in another jurisdiction otherwise than by notation on a certificate of title, in goods brought into this state and thereafter covered by a certificate of title issued by this state is subject to the rules stated in (1)(d).

(d) If goods are brought into this state while a security interest therein is perfected in any manner under the law of the jurisdiction from which the goods are removed and a certificate of title is issued by this state and the certificate does not show that the goods are subject to the security interest or that they may be subject to security interests not shown on the certificate, the security interest is subordinate to the rights of a buyer of the goods who is not in the business of selling goods of tbat kind to the extent that ~~he~~ the buyer gives value and receives delivery of the goods after issuance of the certificate and without knowledgo of the security interest.

(3) (a) Subsection (3) applies to accounts (otber than an account described in subsection (5) on minerals) and general intangibles (other than uncertificated securities) and to goods which are mobile and which are of a type normally used in more tban one jurisdiction, such as motor vehicles, trailers, rolling stock, airplanes, shipping containers, road building and construction machinery, and commercial harvesting machinery, and the like, if the goods are equipment or are inventory leased or held for lease by the debtor to others and are not covered by a certificate of title described in subsection (2).

(b) The law (including the conflict of laws rules) of the jurisdiction in which the debtor is located governs the perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest.

(c) If, however, the debtor is located in a jurisdiction which is not a part of the United States and which does not provide for perfection of the security interest by filing or recording in that jurisdiction, the law of the jurisdiction in the United States in which the debtor has its major executive office in the United States governs the perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of the security interest through filing. In the alternative, if the debtor is located in a jurisdiction which is not a part of the United States or Canada and the collateral is accounts or general intangibles for money due or to become due, the security interest may be perfected by notification to the account debtor. As used in subsection (3)(c), "United States" includes its territories and possessions and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico.

(d) A debtor shall be considered located at ~~his~~ the debtor's place of business if ~~he~~ the debtor has one, at ~~his~~ the chief executive office if ~~he~~ the debtor has more than one place of business, otherwise at ~~his~~ the debtor's residence. If, however, the debtor is a foreign air carrier under the Federal Aviation Act, it shall be considered located at the designated office of the agent upon whom service of process may be made on behalf of the foreign air carrier.

(e) A security interest perfected under the law of the jurisdiction of the location of the debtor is perfected until the expiration of 4 months after a change of the debtor's location to another jurisdiction or until perfection would have ceased by the law of the first jurisdiction, whichever period first expires. Unless perfected in the new jurisdiction before the end of that period, it becomes unperfected thereafter and is considered to have been unperfected as against a person who became a purchaser after the change.

(4) The rules stated for geods in subsection (1) apply to a possessory security interest in chattel paper. The rules stated for accounts in subsection (3) apply to a nonpossessory security interest in chattel paper, but the security interest may not be perfected by notification to the account debtor.

(5) Perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of a security interest which is created by a debtor who has an interest in minerals or the like (including oil and gas) before extraction and which attaches thereto as extracted or which attaches to an account resulting from the sale thereof at the wellhead or minehead are governed by the law (including the conflict of laws rules) of the jurisdiction wherein the wellhead or minehead is located.

(6) (a) ~~The law (including the conflict of laws rules) of the jurisdiction of organization of the issuer governs the perfection and the effect of perfection or nonperfection of a security interest in uncertificated securities.~~ This subsection (6) applies to investment property.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (6)(f), during the time that a security certificate is located in a jurisdiction, perfection of a security interest, the effect of perfection or nonperfection, and the priority of a security interest in the certificated security are governed by the local law of that jurisdiction.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (6)(f), perfection of a security interest, the effect of perfection or nonperfection, and the priority of a security interest in an uncertificated security are governed by the local law of the issuer's jurisdiction as specified in [section 30(4)].

(d) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (6)(f), perfection of a security interest, the effect of perfection or nonperfection, and the priority of a security interest in a security entitlement or securities account are governed by the local law of the securities intermediary's jurisdiction as specified in [section 30(5)].

(e) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (6)(f), perfection of a security interest, the effect of perfection or nonperfection, and the priority of a security interest in a commodity contract or commodity account are governed by the local law of the commodity intermediary's jurisdiction. The following rules determine a "commodity intermediary's jurisdiction" for purposes of this subsection (6)(e):

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3167 1997

(i) If an agreement between the commodity intermediary and commodity customer specifies that it is governed by the law of a particular jurisdiction, that jurisdiction is the commodity intermediary's jurisdiction.

(ii) If an agreement between the commodity intermediary and commodity customer does not specify the governing law as provided in subsection (6)(e)(i), but expressly specifies that the commodity account is maintained at an office in a particular jurisdiction, that jurisdiction is the commodity intermediary's jurisdiction.

(iii) If an agreement between the commodity intermediary and commodity customer does not specify a jurisdiction as provided in subsections (6)(e)(i) or (6)(e)(ii), the commodity intermediary's jurisdiction is the jurisdiction in which is located the office identified in an account statement as the office serving the commodity customer's account.

(iv) If an agreement between the commodity intermediary and commodity customer does not specify a jurisdiction as provided in subsections (6)(e)(i) or (6)(e)(ii) and an account statement does not identify an office serving the commodity customer's account as provided in subsection (6)(e)(iii), the commodity intermediary's jurisdiction is the jurisdiction in which is located the chief exccutive office of the commodity intermediary.

(f) Perfection of a security interest by filing, automatic perfection of a security interest in investment property granted by a broker or securities intermediary, and automatic perfection of a security interest in a commodity contract or commodity account granted by a commodity intermediary are governed by the local law of the jurisdiction in which the debtor is located."

Section 75. Section 30-9-106, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-106. Definitions — "account" — "general intangibles". "Account" means any right to payment for goods sold or leased or for services rendered which is not evidenced by an instrument or chattel paper, whether or not it has been earned by performance. "General intangibles" means any personal property (including things in action) other than goods, accounts, chattel paper, documents, instruments, investment property, rights to proceeds of written letters of credit, and money. All rights to payment earned or unearned under a charter or other contract involving the use or hire of a vessel and all rights incident to the charter or contract are accounts."

Section 76. Investment property. (1) In this chapter:

(a) "Commodity account" means an account maintained by a commodity intermediary in which a commodity contract is carried for a commodity customer.

(b) "Commodity contract" means a commodity futures contract, an option on a commodity futures contract, a commodity option, or other contract that, in each case, is.

(i) traded on or subject to the rules of a board of trade that has been designated as a contract market for such a contract pursuant to the federal commodities laws; or

(ii) traded on a foreign commodity board of trade, exchange, or market, and is carried on the books of a commodity intermediary for a commodity customer.

(c) "Commodity customer" means a person for whom a commodity intermediary carries a commodity contract on its books.

(d) "Commodity intermediary" means:

(i) a person who is registered as a futures commission merchant under the federal commodities laws; or

(ii) a person who in the ordinary course of its business provides clearance or settlement services for a board of trade that has been designated as a contract market pursuant to the federal commodities laws.

(e) "Control" with respect to a certificated security, uncertificated security, or security entitlement has the meaning specified in [section 26]. A secured party has control over a commodity contract if hy agreement among the commodity customer, the commodity intermediary, and the secured party, the commodity intermediary has agreed that it will apply any value distributed on account of the commodity contract as directed by the secured party without further consent by the commodity customer. If a commodity customer grants a security interest in a commodity contract to its own commodity intermediary, the commodity intermediary as secured party has control. A secured party has control over a securities account or commodity account if the secured party has control over all security entitlements or commodity contracts carried in the securities account or commodity account.

(f) "Investment property" means:

(i) a security, whether certificated or uncertificated;

(ii) a security entitlement;

(iii) a securities account;

(iv) a commodity contract; or

(v) a commodity account.

(2) Attachment or perfection of a security interest in a securities account is also attachment or perfection of a security interest in all security entitlements carried in the securities account. Attachment or perfection of a security interest in a commodity account is also attachment or perfection of a security interest in all commodity contracts carried in the commodity account.

(3) A description of collateral in a security agreement or financing statement is sufficient to create or perfect a security interest in a certificated security, uncertificated security, security entitlement, securities account, commodity contract, or commodity account whether it describes the collateral by those terms, or as investment property, or by description of the underlying security, financial asset, or commodity contract. A description of investment property collateral in a security agreement or financing statement is sufficient if it identifies the collateral by specific listing, by category, by quantity, by a computational or allocational formula or procedure, or by any other method, if the identity of the collateral is objectively determinable.

(4) Perfection of a security interest in investment property is governed by the following rules:

(a) A security interest in investment property may be perfected by control.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsections (4)(c) and (4)(d), a security interest in investment property may be perfected by filing.

(c) If the debtor is a broker or securities intermediary, a security interest in investment property is perfected when it attaches. The filing of a financing statement with respect to a security interest in investment property granted by a broker or securities intermediary bas no effect for purposes of perfection or priority with respect to tbat security interest.

(d) If a dehtor is a commodity intermediary, a security interest in a commodity contract or a commodity account is perfected when it attaches. The filing of a financing statement with respect to a security interest in a commodity contract or a commodity account granted by a commodity intermediary has no effect for purposes of perfection or priority with respect to that security interest.

(5) Priority between conflicting security interests in the same investment property is governed by the following rules:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3173 1997

(a) A security interest of a secured party who has control over investment property has priority over a security interest of a secured party who does not have control over the investment property.

(b) Except as otherwise provided in subsections (5)(c) and (5)(d), conflicting security interests of secured parties each of whom has control rank equally.

(c) Except as otherwise agreed by the securities intermediary, a security interest in a security entitlement or a securities account granted to the debtor's own securities intermediary has priority over any security interest granted by the debtor to another secured party.

(d) Except as otherwise agreed by the commodity intermediary, a security interest in a commodity contract or a commodity account granted to the debtor's own commodity intermediary has priority over any security interest granted by the debtor to another secured party.

(e) Conflicting security interests granted by a broker, a securities intermediary, or a commodity intermediary which are perfected without control rank equally.

(f) In all other cases, priority between conflicting security interests in investment property is governed by 30-9-312(5), (6), and (7). Section 30-9-312(4) does not apply to investment property.

(6) If a security certificate in registered form is delivered to a secured party pursuant to agreement, a written security agreement is not required for attachment or enforceability of the security interest, delivery suffices for perfection of the security interest, and the security interest has priority over a conflicting security interest perfected by means other than control, even if a necessary indorsement is lacking.

Section 77. Security interest arising in purchase or delivery of financial asset. (1) If a person buys a financial asset through a securities intermediary in a transaction in which the buyer is obligated to pay the purchase price to the securities intermediary at the time of the purchase, and the securities intermediary credits the financial asset to the buyer's securities account before the buyer pays the securities intermediary, the securities intermediary has a security interest in the buyer's security entitlement securing the buyer's obligation to pay. A security agreement is not required for attachment or enforceability of the security interest, and the security interest is automatically perfected.

(2) If a certificated security, or other financial asset represented by a writing which in the ordinary course of business is transferred by delivery with any necessary indorsement or assignment is delivered pursuant to an agreement between persons in the business of dealing with such securities or financial assets and the agreement calls for delivery versus payment, the person delivering the certificate or other financial asset has a security interest in the certificated security or other financial asset securing the seller's right to receive payment. A security agreement is not required for attachment or enforceability of the security interest, and the security interest is automatically perfected.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3174 1997

Section 78. Section 30-9-203, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-203. (b) value bas been given; and

(c) the debtor has rights in the collateral.

(2) A security interest attaches when it becomes enforceable against tbe debtor with respect to the collateral. Attachment occurs as soon as all of the events specified in subsection (1) have taken place unless explicit agreement postpones the time of attaching.

(3) Unless otherwise agreed a security agreement gives the secured party the rights to proceeds provided by 30-9-306.

(4) A transaction, although subject to this chapter, is also subject to Title 23, chapter 2, part 5, to Title 23, chapter 2, part 6, to Title 32, chapter 5, as enacted by Chapter 283, Laws of Montana 1959, to Title 31, cbapter 1, part 2, as enacted by Chapter 282, Laws of Montana 1959, and to 81-8-301 through 81-8-305, Title 61, chapter 3, Title 16, cbapters 1 through 6, and Title 31, chapter 1, part 4, as amended, and in the case of conflict between tbe provisions of this chapter and any such statute, the provisions of such statute control. "30-9-301. Persons who take priority over unperfected seeurity interests — right of "lien creditor". (1) Except as otherwise provided in subsection (2), an unperfected security interest is subordinate to the rights of:

(a) persons entitled to priority under 30-9-312;

(b) a person who becomes a lien creditor before the security interest is perfected;

(c) in the case of goods, instruments, documents, and chattel paper, a person who is not a secured party and who is a transferee in bulk or other buyer not in ordinary course of business or is a buyer of farm products in ordinary course of business, to the extent that ~~he~~ the person gives value and receives delivery of the collateral without knowledge of tbe security interest and before it is perfected;

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3175 1997

(d) in the case of accounts, ~~and~~ general intangibles, and investment property, a person who is not a secured party and who is a transferee to the extent that ~~he~~ the person gives value without knowledge of the security interest and before it is perfected.

(2) If the secured party files with respect to a purchase money security interest before or within 20 days after the debtor receives possession of the collateral, ~~he~~ the secured party takes priority over the rights of a transferee in bulk or of a lien creditor which arise between the time the security interest attaches and the time of filing.

(3) A "lien creditor" means a creditor who has acquired a lien on the property involved by attachment, levy, or the like and includes an assignee for benefit of creditors from the time of assignment and a trustee in bankruptcy from the date of the filing of the petition or a receiver in equity from the time of appointment.

(4) A person who becomes a lien creditor while a security interest is perfected takes subject to the security interest only to the extent that it secures advances made before ~~he~~ the person becomes a lien creditor or within 45 days thereafter or made without knowledge of the lien or pursuant to a commitment entered into without knowledge of the lien."

Section 80. Section 30-9-302, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-302. When filing is required to perfect security interest — security interests to which filing provisions of this chapter do not apply. (1) A financing statement must be filed to perfect all security interests except the following:

(a) a security interest in collateral in possession of the secured party under 30-9-305;

(b) a security interest temporarily perfected in instruments, certificated securities, or documents without delivery under 30-9-304 or in proceeds for a 10-day period under 30-9-306;

(c) a security interest created by an assignment of a beneficial interest in a trust or a decedent's estate;

(3) The filing of a financing statement otherwise required hy this chapter is not necessary or effective to perfect a security interest in property subject to:

(a) a statute or treaty of the United States which provides for a national or international registration or a national or international certificate of title or which specifies a place of filing different from that specified in this chapter for filing of the security interest; or

(h) the following statutes of this state: Title 61, chapter 3; Title 23, chapter 2, parts 5 and 6; but during any period in which collateral is inventory held for sale by a person who is in the business of selling goods of that kind, the filing provisions of this chapter (part 4) apply to a security interest in that collateral created by ~~him~~ the person as debtor; or

(c) a certificate of title statute of another jurisdiction under the law of which indication of a security interest on the certificate is required as a condition of perfection (30-9-103(2)).

(4) Compliance with a statute or treaty described in subsection (3) is equivalent to the filing of a financing statement under this chapter, and a security interest in property subject to the statute or treaty can be perfected only by compliance therewith except as provided in 30-9-103 on multiple state transactions. Duration and renewal of perfection of a security interest perfected by compliance with the statute or treaty are governed by the provisions of the statute or treaty; in other respects the security interest is subject to this chapter."

Section 81. Section 30-9-303, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-303. When security interest is perfcctcd — continuity of perfection. (1) A security interest is perfected when it has attached and when all of the applicable steps required for perfection have been taken. Such steps are specified in [section 76], 30-9-302, 30-9-304, 30-9-305, and 30-9-306. If such steps are taken before the security interest attaches, it is perfected at the time when it attaches.

(2) If a security interest is originally perfected in any way permitted under this chapter and is subsequently perfected in some other way under this chapter, without an intermediate period when it was unperfected, the security interest shall be deemed to be perfected continuously for the purposes of this chapter."

Section 82. Section 30-9-304, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-304. Perfection of security interest in instruments, documents, proceeds of a written letter of credit, and goods eovered by documents — perfection by permissive filing — temporary perfection without filing or transfer of possession. (1) A security interest in chattel paper or negotiable documents may be perfected by filing. A security interest in the right to proceeds of a written letter of credit can be perfected only by the secured party's taking possession of the letter of credit. A security interest in ınoney or instruments (other than ~~certificated securities or~~ instruments which constitute part of chattel paper) can be perfected only by the secured party's taking possession, except as provided in subsections (4) and (5) of this section and subsections (2) and (3) of 30-9-306 on proceeds.

(2) During the period that goods are in the possession of the issuer of a negotiable document tberefor, a security interest in the goods is perfected by perfecting a security interest in the document, and any security interest in the goods otherwise perfected during such period is subject thereto.

(3) A security interest in goods in the possession of a bailee other tban one who has issued a negotiable document therefor is perfected by issuance of a document in the name of the secured party or by the bailee's receipt of notification of the secured party's interest or by filing as to the goods.

A security interest is porfected by possession from the time possession is taken without relation back and continues only so long as possession is retained, unless otherwise specified in this chapter. The security interest may be otherwise perfected as provided in this chapter before or after the period of possession by the secured party."

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3178 1997

Section 84. Section 30-9-306, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-306. "Proceeds" — secured party's rights on disposition of collateral. (1) "Proceeds" includes whatever is received upon the sale, exchange, collection, or other disposition of collateral or proceeds. Insurance payable by reason of loss or damage to the collateral is proceeds, except to the extent that it is payable to a person other than a party to the security agreement. Any payments or distributions made with respect to investment property collateral are proceeds. Money, checks, deposit accounts, and the like are "cash proceeds". All other proceeds are "noncash proceeds".

(2) Except where this chapter otherwise provides, a security interest continues in collateral notwithstanding sale, exchange, or other disposition thereof unless the disposition was authorized by the secured party in the security agreement or otherwise, and also continues in any identifiable proceeds including collections received by the debtor.

(3) (a) The security interest in proceeds is a continuously perfected security interest if the interest in the original collateral was perfected, but it ceases to be a perfected security interest and becomes unperfected 10 days after receipt of the proceeds by the debtor unless:

(i) a filed financing statement covers the original collateral and the proceeds are collateral in which a security interest may be perfected by filing in the office or offices where the financing statement has been filed and, if the proceeds are acquired with cash proceeds, the description of collateral in the financing statement indicates the types of property constituting the proceeds;

(ii) a filed financing statement covers the original collateral and the proceeds are identifiable cash proceeds; ~~or~~

(iii) the original collateral was investment property and the proceeds are identifiable cash proceeds; or

~~(iii)~~(iv) the security interest in the proceeds is perfected before the expiration of the 10-day period.

(b) Except as provided in this section, a security interest in proceeds can he perfected only by the methods or under the circumstances permitted in this chapter for original collateral of the same type.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3179 1997

(d) in all cash and deposit accounts of the debtor in which proceeds have been commingled with other funds, but the perfected security interest under this ~~paragraph~~ subsection (4)(d) is:

(i) subject to any right of setoff; and

(ii) limited to an amount not greater than the amount of any cash proceeds received by the debtor within 10 days before the institution of the insolvency proceedings less the sum of:

(A) the payments to the secured party on account of cash proceeds received by the debtor during such period; and

(B) the cash proceeds received by the debtor during such period to which the secured party is entitled under subsections (4)(a) through (4)(c).

(5) If a sale of goods results in an account or chattel paper which is transferred by the seller to a secured party, and if the goods are returned to or are repossessed by the seller or the secured party, the following rules determine priorities:

(a) If the goods were collateral at the time of sale for an indebtedness of the seller which is still unpaid, the original security interest attaches again to the goods and continues as a perfected security interest if it was perfected at the time when the goods were sold. If the security interest was originally perfected by a filing which is still effective, nothing further is required to continue the perfected status; in any other case, the secured party must take possession of the returned or repossessed goods or must file.

(b) An unpaid transferee of the chattel paper has a security interest in the goods against the transferor. ~~Such~~ The security interest is prior to a security interest asserted under ~~paragraph~~ subsection (5)(a) to the extent that the transferee of the chattel paper was entitled to priority under 30-9-308.

(c) An unpaid transferee of the account has a security interest in the goods against the transferor. ~~Such~~ The security interest is subordinate to a security interest asserted under ~~paragraph~~ subsection (5)(a).

(d) A security interest of an unpaid transferee asserted under ~~paragraph~~ subsection (5)(b) or (5)(c) must be perfected for protection against creditors of the transferor and purchasers of the returned or repossessed goods."

Section 85. Section 30-9-309, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-309. Protection of purchasers of instruments, documents, and securities. Nothing in this chapter limits the rights of a holder in due course of a negotiable instrument (30-3-302) or a holder to whom a negotiable document of title has been duly negotiated (30-7-501) or a ~~bona fide~~ protected purchaser of a security (~~30-8-302~~[section 49]), and ~~such~~ the holders or purchasers take priority over an earlier security interest even though perfected. Filing under this chapter does not constitute notice of the security interest to ~~such~~ the holders or purchasers."

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3180 1997

Section 86. Section 30-9-312, MCA, is amended to read:

"30-9-312. Priorities among conflicting seeurity interests in the same collateral. (1) The rules of priority stated in other sections of this part and in the following sections sball govern where applicable: ~~30-4-208~~ 30-4-210 with respect to the security interest of collecting banks in items being collected, accompanying documents, and proceeds; 30-9-103 on security interests related to other jurisdictions; ~~and~~ 30-9-114 on consignments*; and [section 76] on security interests in investment property*.

(2) A perfected security interest in crops for new value given to enable the debtor to produce the crops during the production season and given not more than 3 months before the crops become growing crops by planting or otherwise takes priority over an earlier perfected security interest to the extent that ~~such~~ the earlier interest secures obligations due more than 6 months before the crops become growing crops by planting or otherwise, even though the person giving new value had knowledge of the earlier security interest.

(3) A perfected purchase money security interest in inventory has priority over a conflicting security interest in the same inventory and also has priority in identifiable cash proceeds received on or before the delivery of the inventory to a buyer if:

(a) the purchase money security interest is perfected at the time the debtor receives possession of the inventory; and

(b) the purchase money secured party gives notification in writing to the holder of the conflicting security interest if the holder had filed a financing statement covering the same types of inventory:

(i) before tbe date of the filing made by the purchase money secured party; or

(ii) before the beginning of the 21-day period if the purchase money security interest is temperarily perfected without filing or possession (30-9-304(5)); and

(c) the bolder of the conflicting security mtorest receives notification within 5 years before the debtor receives possession of the inventory; and

(d) the notification states that the person giving the notice has or expects to acquire a purchase money security interest in inventory of the debtor, describing ~~such~~ the inventory by item or type.

(4) A purchase money security interest in collateral other than inventory has priority over a conflicting security interest in the same collateral or its proceeds if the purchase money security interest is perfected at the time the debtor receives possession of the collateral or within 20 days thereafter.

(5) In all cases not governed hy otber rules stated in this section (including cases of purchase money security interests which do not qualify for the special priorities set forth in subsections (3) and (4) of this section), priority between conflicting security interests in the same collateral ~~shall~~ must he determined according to the following rules:

(a) Conflicting security interests rank according to priority in the time of filing or perfection. Priority dates from the time a filing is first made covering the collateral or the time the security interest is first perfected, whichever is earlier, provided that there is no period thereafter when there is neither filing nor perfection.

(b) So long as conflicting security interests are unperfected, the first to attach has priority.

(6) For the purposes of subsection (5), a date of filing or perfection as to collateral is also a date of filing or perfection as to proceeds.

(7) If future advances are made while a security interest is perfected by filing, the taking of possession, or under ~~30-8-321 on securities~~ [section 76 or 77] on investment property, the security interest has the same priority for the purposes of subsection (5) or [section 76(5)] with respect to the future advances as it does with respect to the first advance. If a commitment is made before or while the security interest is so perfected, the security interest has the same priority with respect to advances made pursuant thereto. In other cases a perfected security interest has priority from the date the advance is made."

Section 87. Section 32-1-426, MCA, is amended to read:

"32-1-426. WHEREAS, Montana-based charitable endowments can grow over time to become significant resources capable of funding many unanticipated and unmet needs of, and creating new opportunities for, Montana's citizens and their communities; and

WHEREAS, Montana's relatively weak tradition of endowed philanthropy can be demonstrated by comparing our state with the other 49 states, in that Montana ranks 44th in population and 41st in per capita income, but ranks 48th in foundation assets and 49th in foundation giving; and

WHEREAS, a planned gift is a type of charitable contribution that has the following three characteristics: first, it is composed typically of assets saved over the contrihutor's lifetime; second, it is conferred in connection with a carefully considered estate plan; and third, it transfers assets of the contrihutor to a charity prior to the contributor's death; and

WHEREAS, although planned gifts would appear to offer genuine financial potential for creating and expanding charitable endowments in Montana, in reality, planned gifts are so infrequently contributed in Montana that endowments in our state are not growing as fast as they are in other states; and

WHEREAS, planned gifts ınight be used more in funding charitable endowınents in Montana if contributors could offset a significant portion of their gifts against their Montana income tax liabilities; and

WHEREAS, over the long term, income distrihuted from endowments can help achieve community goals and objectives when current funding from state and local government budgets may be limited; and

WHEREAS, local charitable endowments currently exist in almost every Montana community, and the existence of these widespread endowments offers everyone in Montana an opportunity to contribute endowed funding for their local communities; and

WHEREAS, community-based endowments in Montana have long-term potential to benefit all Montana comınunities by developing creative solutions to help individual comınunities ıneet growing needs and by helping these communities find transitions to self-sufficiency; and

WHEREAS, earnings froın charitable endowments in Montana are distributed by volunteer boards of diverse community leaders to ıneet eınerging comınunity needs in such areas as education, arts and culture, social services, economic development, and health and the environment; and

WHEREAS, tax credits provide financial incentives that encourage contributions for the establishment or expansion of charitable endowments in Montana; and

WHEREAS, the Legislature limits the tax credit created by [this act] to qualified porınanent endowments held by tax-exempt orgaıiizations or by banks or trust coınpanies on behalf of tax-exempt organizations; and

WHEREAS, for the purpose of renewing the tax credit created by [this act], it is the intent of the 55th Legislature that the state's cost of administering the tax credit may not exceed 5% of the total annual credits claimed.

(3) (a) Suhject to the limitations of the federal act, the interest rate on a loan must ensure that the interest payments on the loan and on other outstanding loans will be sufficient, if timely paid in full, with other available funds in the revolving fund, including investment income, to enable the state to pay the principal of and interest on the bonds issued pursuant to 75-6-225.

STATEMENT OF INTENT

It is the intent of this bill to provide potentially liable persons the opportunity to take the necessary remedial action before the state takes action and to authorize the department of environmental quality to adopt rules that allow for the joint and mutual selection of remedial action contractors by the department and the potentially liable persons responsible for taking remedial action at sites.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 75-10-711, MCA, is amended to read:

"75-10-711. Remedial action — orders — penalties — judicial proceedings. (1) The department may take remedial action whenever:

(a) there has been a release or there is a substantial threat of a release into the environment that may present an imminent and substantial endangerment to the public health, welfare, or safety or the environment; and

(b) the appropriate remedial action will not be done properly and expeditiously by any person liable under 75-10-715(1) and each person that is liable or potentially liable under 75-10-715(1) has been given the opportunity by letter to properly and expeditiously perform the appropriate remedial action. Any person liable under 75-10-715(1) shall take immediate action to contain, remove, and abate the release.

(2) Whenever the department is authorized to act pursuant to subsection (1) or has reason to believe that a release has occurred or is about to occur, the department may undertake remedial action in the form of any investigation, monitoring, survey, testing, or other information gathering as authorized by 75-10-707 that is necessary and appropriate to identify the existence, nature, origin, and extent of the release or the threat of release and the extent and imminence of the danger to the public health, safety, or welfare or the environment.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3210 1997

(3) ~~Any person liable under 75-10-715(1) must take immediate action to contain, remove, and abate the release.~~ Except as provided in 75-10-712, the department is authorized to draw upon the fund to take action under subsection (1) if it has made diligent good faith efforts to determine the identity of the person or persons liable for the release or threatened release and:

(a) is unable to determine the identity of the liable person or persons in a manner consistent with the need to take timely remedial action; or

(b) the person or porsons determined by the department to be liable under 75-10-715(1) have been informed in writing of the department's determination and have been requested by the department to take appropriate remedial action but are unable or unwilling to take action in a timely manner; and

(c) the written notice to each person informs the person that if subsequently found liable pursuant to 75-10-715(1), the person may be required to reimburse the fund for the state's remedial action costs and may be subject to penalties pursuant to this part.

(4) Whenever the department is authorized to act pursuant to subsection (1) ~~or has reason to believe that a release that may pose an imminent and substantial threat to the public health, safety, or welfare or the environment has occurred or is about to occur~~, it may issue to any person liable under 75-10-715(1) cease and desist, remedial, or other orders as may be necessary or appropriate to protect the public health, safety, or welfare or the environment.

(5) (a) A person who violates or fails or refuses to comply with an order issued under 75-10-707 or this section may, in an action brought to enforce the order, be assessed a civil penalty of not more than $10,000 for each day in which a violation occurs or a failure or refusal to comply continues. In determining the amount of any penalty assessed, the court may take into account:

(i) the nature, circumstances, extent, and gravity of the noncompliance;

(ii) with respect to the porson liable under 75-10-715(1):

(A) the person's ability to pay;

(B) any prior history of violations;

(C) the degree of culpability; and

(D) the economic benefit or savings, if any, resulting from the noncompliance; and

(iii) any other mattors as justice may require.

(b) Civil penalties collected under subsection (5)(a) must be deposited into the environmental quality protection fund established in 75-10-704.

(6) A court has jurisdiction to review an order issued under 75-10-707 or this section only in the following actions:

(a) an action under 75-10-715 to recover remedial action costs or penalties or for contribution;

(c) an action to recover a civil penalty for violation of or failure to comply with an order issued under 75-10-707 or this section; or

(d) an action by a person to whom an order has been issued to determine the validity of the order, only if the person has heen in compliance and continues in compliance with the order pending a decision of the court.

(7) In considering objections raised in a judicial action regarding orders issued under this part, the court shall uphold and enforce an order issued by the department unless the objecting party can demonstrate, on the administrative record, that the department's decision to issue the order was arbitrary and capricious or otherwise not in accordance with law.

(8) Instead of issuing a notification or an order under this section, the department may hring an action for legal or equitable relief in the district court of the county where the release or threatened release occurred or in the first judicial district as may be necessary to abate any imminent and substantial endangerment to the public health, safety, or welfare or the environment resulting from the release or threatened release.

(9) The department may take remedial action pursuant to subsection (1) at a site that is regulated under the federal Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980, Public Law 96-510, if the department determines that remedial action is necessary to carry out the purposes of this part."

The agreement must contain terms and conditions that the department in its discretion determines to be appropriate.

(2) Whenever the department enters into an ~~agreement~~ administrative order on consent under this section for remedial action or for assessment or payment of natural resource damages, ~~the agreement must be filed in an appropriate district court as a consent decree and~~ that administrative order on consent must be available for public comment for at least 30 days.

(3) A decision of the department to enter into or not enter into agreements or administrative orders on consent under this section is not subject to judicial review."

Section 3. Section 75-10-732, MCA, is amended to read:

"75-10-732. (Temporary) Eligibility. (1) A facility where there has been a release or threatened release of a hazardous or deleterious substance that may present an imminent and suhstantial endangerment to the public health, safety, or welfare or the environment may be eligible for voluntary cleanup procedures under this part, except for facilities that meet one of the following criteria at the time of application for a voluntary cleanup plan:

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3212 1997

(a) a facility that is listed or proposed for listing on the national priorities list pursuant to 42 U.S.C. 9601, et seq.;

(b) a facility for which an order has been issued or consent decree has been entered into pursuant to this part;

(c) a facility that is the subject of an agency order or an action filed in district court by any state agency that addresses the release or threatened release of a hazardous or deleterious substance; or

(d) a facility where the release or threatened release of a hazardous or deleterious substance is regulated by the Montana Hazardous Waste and Underground Storage Tank Act and regulations under that act; or

(e) a facility that is the subject of pending action under this part because the facility has been issued a notice commencing a specified period of negotiations on an administrative order on consent.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (1)(b) through (1)(e), the department may agree to accept and may approve an application for a voluntary cleanup plan for a facility.

(3) The department may determine that a facility that is potentially eligible for voluntary cleanup exhibits complexities regarding protection of public health, safety, and welfare and the environment and that the complexities should be addressed under an administrative order or consent decree pursuant to this part. This determination may be made only after consultation with any person desiring to conduct a voluntary cleanup at the facility.

(4) If an applicant ~~that~~ who submits an application for a voluntary cleanup plan disagrees with the department's decision to reject the filing of the application under subsection (1) or (3)~~,~~ or disagrees with the department's decision to disapprove the voluntary cleanup plan submitted pursuant to 75-10-736, the applicant may, within 30 days of receipt of the department's written decision pursuant to 75-10-736, submit a written request for a hearing before the board of environmental review. In reviewing a department decision to reject an application under subsection (1) or (3) or to disapprove a voluntary cleanup plan submitted pursuant to 75-10-736, the board shall apply the standards of review specified in 2-4-704. The hearing must be held within 2 months at the regular meeting of the board or at the time mutually agreed te by the board, the department, and the applicant. The hearing and any appeals must be conducted in accordance with the contested case proceedings pursuant to Title 2, chapter 4, parts 6 and 7. A hearing before the board may not be requested regarding a decision of the department made pursuant to subsection (2). (Terminates January 1, 2001—sec. 27, Ch. 584, L. 1995.)"

Section 4. Section 75-10-736, MCA, is amended to read:

"75-10-736. (Temporary) Approval of voluntary cleanup plan — time limits — content of notice — expiration of approval. (1) The department shall review for completeness, including adequacy and accuracy, an application for a voluntary cleanup plan and shall provide a written completeness notice to the applicant within 30 days after receipt of ~~the~~ an application for a plan that would take 24 months or less to complete and within 60 days for a plan that would take more than 24 months to complete. The completeness notice must note all deficiencies identified in the information submitted.

(2) For a voluntary cleanup plan that is considered complete by the department pursuant to subsection (1), the department shall provide formal written notification that the voluntary cleanup plan has been approved or disapproved no more than 60 days for a plan that would take 24 months or less to complete and within 75 days for a plan that would take more than 24 months to complete after the department's determination that an application is complete, unless the applicant and the department agree to an extension of the review to a date certain. The review must be limited to a review of the materials submitted by the applicant, public comments, and documents or information readily available to the department. The department shall communicate with the applicant during the review period to ensure that the applicant has the opportunity to address the public comments.

(3) (a) If the department receives five applications for review of a voluntary cleanup plan in a calendar month, including applications deferred from prior months, the department may notify any additional applicants in that month that their plans must be reviewed in the order received. The 30-day period for department completeness review of deferred applications pursuant to subsection (1) must begin on the first day of the subsequent month that each plan is eligible for review.

(b) The department shall discontinue accepting voluntary cleanup applications when 15 applications are pending and are being reviewed by the department. The department shall establish a waiting list for applications and shall consider the applications in order of submittal.

(c) If the department has received multiple cleanup applications for a voluntary cleanup at the same facility, the department shall notify all of the applicants and offer them the opportunity to submit a joint application.

(4) Consistent with the provisions of 75-10-707, the department may access the facility during review of the application and implementation of the voluntary cleanup plan to confirm information provided by the applicant and verify that the cleanup is being conducted consistent with the approved plan.

(5) The department shall approve a voluntary cleanup plan if the department concludes that the plan meets the requirements specified in 75-10-734 and will attain a degree of cleanup and control of hazardous or deleterious substances that complies with the requirements of 75-10-721. Except for the period necessary for the operation and maintenance of the approved remediation proposal, the department may not approve a voluntary remediation proposal that would take longer than ~~24~~ 60 months after department approval to complete.

(6) If a voluntary cleanup plan is not approved by the department, the department shall promptly provide the applicant with a written statement of the reasons for denial. The denial may be appealed to the board of environmental review in accordance with the provisions of 75-10-732(4).

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3214 1997

(7) The approval of a voluntary cleanup plan by the department applies only to conditions at the facility that are known to the department at the time of department approval. If a voluntary remediation proposal is not initiated within 12 months and, except for the period necessary for the operation and maintenance of the approved remediation proposal, is not completed within ~~24~~ 60 months after approval by the department, the department's approval lapses. However, the department may grant an extension of the time limit for completion of the voluntary cleanup plan.

(8) If reasonably unforeseeable conditions are discovered during implementation of a voluntary cleanup plan that substantially affect the risk to public health, safety, or welfare or the environment or substantially change the scope of the approved plan, the applicant shall promptly notify the department. The department may require the applicant to submit an amendment to the approved plan to address the unforeseen conditions or may determine that a voluntary cleanup plan is no longer appropriate pursuant to 75-10-732(3).

(9) Written notification by the department that a voluntary cleanup plan is not approved must state the basis for disapproval of the voluntary cleanup plan.

(10) (a) Failure of the applicant or the applicant's agents to materially comply with the voluntary cleanup plan approved by the department pursuant to this section renders the approval void.

(b) Submission of materially misleading information by the applicant or the applicant's agents in the application or during implementation of the voluntary cleanup plan renders the department approval void.

(11) Within 60 days after completion of the approved remediation proposal described in the voluntary cleanup plan approved by the department, the applicant shall provide to the department a certification from a qualified environmental professional that the plan has been fully implemented, including all documentation necessary to demonstrate the successful implementation of the plan, such as confirmation sampling, if necessary.

(12) Except as provided in 75-10-738(2)(b), the department may not require financial assurance under this part for voluntary cleanup plans approved under this section.

(13) If a person who would otherwise not be a liable person under 75-10-715(1) elects to undertake an approved voluntary cleanup plan, the person may not become a liable person under 75-10-715(1) by undertaking a voluntary cleanup if the person materially complies with the voluntary cleanup plan approved by the department pursuant to this section.

(14) Immunity from liability under this section does not apply to a release that is caused by conduct that is negligent or grossly negligent or that constitutes intentional misconduct. (Terminates January 1, 2001—sec. 27, Ch. 584, L. 1995.)"

Section 5. Rulemaking authority. The department shall adopt, amend, or repeal rules that allow for the joint selection of remedial action contractors acceptable to the department and any person liable for remedial action under 75-10-715.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3215 1997

Section 6. Codifieation instruction. [Section 5] is intended to be codified as an integral part of Title 75, chapter 10, part 7, and the provisions of Title 75, chapter 10, part 7, apply to [section 5].

Section 7. Applicability. [This act] does not apply to any facility for which an administrative order has been issued pursuant to 75-10-711 prior to [the effective date of this act] or to any facility for which the department of environmental quality and a liable or potentially liable person have, prior to [the effective date of this act], entered into an agreement regarding the performance of remedial action for that facility.

Section 2. Purpose. Consistent with the policy established in 75-5-101(2) to provide a comprehensive program for the prevention, abatement, and control of water pollution, the purpose of [sections 2 through 6] is to further direct the department to monitor state waters to accurately assess their quality and, when required, to develop total maximum daily loads for those water bodies identified as threatened or impaired.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3232 1997

Section 3. Monitoring — water quality assessment listing. (1) The department shall monitor state waters to assess the quality of those waters and to identify surface water bodies or segments of surface water hodies that are threatened or impaired. The department shall use the monitoring results to revise the list of water bodies that are identified as threatened or impaired and to establish a priority ranking for TMDL development for those waters in accordance with subsections (4) and (7).

(2) In revising the list prepared pursuant to this section, the department shall use all currently available data, including information or data obtained from federal, state, and local agencies, private entities, or individuals with an interest in water quality protection. Except as provided in subsection (6), the department may modify the list only if there is sufficient credible data to support the modification. Prior to publishing a final list, the department shall provide public notice and allow 60 days for public comment on the draft list. The department shall make available for public review, upon request, documentation used in the determination to list or delist a particular water body, including, at a minimum, a description of the information, data, and methodology used. The department may charge a reasonable fee for the documentation, commensurate with the cost of providing the documentation to the requestor.

(3) A person may request that the department add or remove a water body or reprioritize a water body on a draft or published list by providing the data or information necessary to support the request. The department shall review the data within 60 days from its submittal. If the department determines that there is sufficient credible data to grant the request, the department shall provide public notice of its intended action and allow 60 days for public comment prior to taking action on the request. A person aggrieved by the department's decision to grant or deny the request may appeal the department's decision to the board.

(4) The department shall, in consultation with local conservation districts and watershed advisory groups pursuant to [section 5], review and revise the list and priority rankings of water bodies identified as threatened or impaired. The department shall review and revise the list at intervals not to exceed 5 years. The department shall make available for public review the data and information used in making any changes in its list of threatened or impaired water bodies that is developed and maintained pursuant to this section.

(5) By October 1, 1999, the department shall develop and maintain a data management system that can be used to assess the validity and reliability of the data used in the listing and priority ranking process. The department shall make available to the public, upon request, data from its data management system. The department may charge a reasonable fee for the data, commensurate with its cost of providing the data to the requestor.

(6) By October 1, 1999, the department shall use the data management system developod and maintained pursuant to subsection (5) to revise the list and to remove any water body that lacks sufficient credible data to support its listing. If the department removes a water body because there is a lack of sufficient credible data to support its listing, the department shall monitor and assess that water body during the next field season or as soon as possible thereafter to determine whether it is a threatened water hody or an impaired water body.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3233 1997

(7) In prioritizing water bodies for TMDL development, the department shall, in consultation with the statewide TMDL advisory group established pursuant to subsection (9), take into consideration the following:

(a) the beneficial uses established for a water body;

(b) the extent that natural factors over which humans have no control are contributing to any impairment;

(c) the impacts to human health and aquatic life;

(d) the degree of public interest and support;

(e) the character of the pollutant and the severity and magnitude of water quality standard noncompliance;

(f) whether the water body is an important high-quality resource in an early stage of degradation;

(g) the size of the water body not achieving standards;

(h) immediate programmatic needs such as waste load allocations for new permits or permit renewals and load allocations for new nonpoint sources;

(i) court orders and decisions relating to water quality;

(j) state policies and priorities, including the protection and restoration of native fish when appropriate;

(k) the availability of technology and resources to correct the problems;

(l) whether actions or voluntary programs that are likely to correct the impairment of a particular water body are currently in place; and

(m) the recreational, economic, and aesthetic importance of a particular water body.

(8) The department shall, in consultation with the statewide TMDL advisory group, develop a method of rating water bodies according to the criteria and considerations described in subsection (7) in order to rank the listed water bodies as high priority, moderate priority, or low priority for TMDL development. The department may not rank a water body as a high priority under this section without first validating the data necessary to support the ranking.

(9) (a) The department shall establish a statewide TMDL advisory group to serve in the consultation capacity set forth in [section 5(2)(a)] and subsections (7) and (8) of this section. Fourteen members must be appointed by the director, based upon one nomination from each of the following interests:

(i) livestock-oriented agriculture;

(ii) farming-oriented agriculture;

(iii) conservation or environmental interests;

(iv) water-based recreationists;

(v) the forestry industry;

(vi) municipalities;

(vii) point source dischargers;

(viii) mining;

(ix) federal land management agencies;

(x) state trust land management agencies;

(xi) supervisors of soil and water conservation districts for counties east of the continental divide;

(xii) supervisors of soil and water conservation districts for counties west of the continental divide;

(xiii) the hydroelectric industry; and

(xiv) fishing-related businesses.

(b) If the director receives more than one nomination from a particular interest, the director shall notify the respective nominators and request that they agree on one nominee.

(10) The department shall provide public notice of meetings of the statewide TMDL advisory group and shall solicit, document, and consider public comments provided during the deliberations of the advisory group.

Section 4. Development and implementation of total maximum daily loads. (1) The department shall, in consultation with local conservation districts and watershed advisory groups, develop total maximum daily loads or TMDLs for threatened or impaired water bodies or segments of water bodies in order of the priority ranking established by the department under [section 3]. Each TMDL must be established at a level that will achieve compliance with applicable water quality standards and must include a reasonable margin of safety that takes into account any lack of knowledge concerning the relationship between the TMDL and water quality standards. The department shall consider applicable guidance from the federal environmental protection agency, as well as the environmental, economic, and social costs and benefits of developing and implementing a TMDL.

(2) In establishing TMDLs under subsection (1), the department may establish waste load allocations for point sources, and load allocations for nonpoint sources as set forth in subsection (8), and may allow for effluent trading. The department shall, in consultation with local conservation districts and watershed advisory groups, develop reasonable land, soil, and water conservation practices specifically recognizing established practices and programs for nonpoint sources.

(3) Within 10 years from [the effective date of this act], the department shall develop TMDLs for all water bodies on the list of waters that are threatened or impaired, as that list reads on [the effective date of this act]. This provision does not apply to water bodies that are subsequently added or removed from the list according to the provisions of [section 3]. Within 1 year from [the effective date of this act], the department shall establish a schedule for completing the TMDLs within the 10-year period established by this subsection. The schedule must also provide a reasonable timeframe for TMDL development for impaired and threatened water bodies that are listed subsequent to [the effective date of this act] and are prioritized as set forth in [section 3].

(4) The department shall provide guidance for TMDL development on any threatened or impaired water body, regardless of its priority ranking, if the necessary funding and resources from sources outside the department are available to develop the TMDL and to monitor the effectiveness of implementation efforts. The department shall review the TMDL and either approve or disapprove the TMDL. If the TMDL is approved by the department, the department shall ensure implementation of the TMDL according to the provisions of subsections (6) through (8).

(5) For water bodies listed under [section 3], the department shall provide assistance and support to landowners, local conservation districts, and watershed advisory groups for interim measures that may restore water quality and remove the need to establish a TMDL, such as informational programs regarding control of nonpoint source pollution and voluntary measures designed to correct impairments. When a source implements voluntary measures to reduce pollutants prior to development of a TMDL, those measures, whether or not reflected in subsequently issued waste discharge permits, must be recognized in development of the TMDL in a way that gives credit for the pollution reduction efforts.

(6) After development of a TMDL and upon approval of the TMDL, the department shall:

(a) incorporate the TMDL into its current continuing planning process;

(b) incorporate the waste load allocation developed for point sources during the TMDL process into appropriate water discharge permits; and

(c) assist and inform landowners regarding the application of a voluntary program of reasonable land, soil, and water conservation practices developed pursuant to subsection (2).

(7) Once the control measures identified in subsection (6) have been implemented, the department shall develop a monitoring program to assess the waters that are subject to the TMDL to determine whether compliance with water quality standards has been attained for a particular water body or whether the water body is no longer threatened. The monitoring program must be designed based on the specific impairments or pollution sources. The department's monitoring program must include long-term monitoring efforts for the analysis of the effectiveness of the control measures developed.

(8) The department shall support a voluntary program of reasonable land, soil, and water conservation practices to achieve compliance with water quality standards for nonpoint source activities for water bodies that are subject to a TMDL developed and implemented pursuant to this section.

(9) If the monitoring program provided under subsection (7) demonstrates that the TMDL is not achieving compliance with applicable water quality standards within 5 years after approval of a TMDL, the department shall conduct a formal evaluation of progress in restoring water quality and the status of reasonable land, soil, and water conservation practice implementation to determine if:

(a) the implementation of a new or improved phase of voluntary reasonable land, soil, and water conservation practice is necessary;

(b) water quality is improving but a specified time is needed for compliance with water quality standards; or

(c) revisions to the TMDL are necessary to achieve applicable water quality standards.

(10) Pending completion of a TMDL on a water body listed pursuant to [section 3]:

(a) point source discharges to a listed water body may commence or continue, provided that:

(i) the discharge is in conformance with a discharge permit that reflects, in the manner and to the extent applicable for the particular discharge, the provisions of 75-5-303;

(ii) the discharge will not cause a decline in water quality for parameters by which the water body is impaired; and

(iii) minimum treatment requirements adopted pursuant to 75-5-305 are met;

(b) the issuance of a discharge permit may not be precluded because a TMDL is pending;

(c) new or expanded nonpoint source activities affecting a listed water body may commence and continue their activities provided those activities are conducted in accordance with reasonable land, soil, and water conservation practices;

(d) for existing nonpoint source activities, the department shall continue to utilize educational nonpoint source control programs and voluntary measures as provided in subsections (5) and (6).

(11) This section may not be construed to prevent a person from filing an application or petition under 75-5-302, 75-5-310, or 75-5-312.

Section 5. Watershed advisory groups. (1) In implementing the consultation requirements under [sections 3(4) and 4(1) and (2)], the department shall request the participation of representatives of the following interest groups to work in an advisory capacity with the local conservation districts and the department:

(a) livestock-oriented agriculture;

(b) farming-oriented agriculture;

(c) conservation or environmental interests;

(d) water-based recreationists;

(e) the forestry industry;

(f) municipalities;

(g) affected or potentially affected point source dischargers;

(h) mining;

(i) existing local watershed groups;

(j) federal land management agencies;

(k) state trust land management agencies;

(l) the tourism industry;

(m) the hydroelectric industry, if applicable; and

(n) fishing-related businesses.

(2) In implementing the consultation requirements of [sections 3 and 4], the department shall:

(a) prior to consultation with the statewide TMDL advisory group pursuant to [section 2(7) and (8)], schedule meetings with appropriate local conservation districts and the watershed advisory groups at a location within their affected geographic area to review and revise the list of water bodies provided for in [section 3]; and

(b) at a meeting held pursuant to subsection (2)(a), request whether there is new information that may affect the listing or priority ranking on water bodies within the affected area and solicit comments on revising the list.

(3) Based upon the information provided pursuant to subsection (2)(b), the department shall revise the list according to [section 3].

(4) Prior to and during the development of a TMDL within a particular watershed or basin, the department shall schedule a meeting or meetings witb appropriate local conservation districts and watershed advisory groups at a location within the affected geographic area in order to solicit comments on developing the TMDL and information on sources that may be contributing to water quality impairment.

Section 6. Nonimpairment of water rights. Nothing in [this act] may be construed to divest, impair, or diminish any water right recognized pursuant to Title 85.

Section 7. Codification instruction. [Sections 2 through 6] are intended to be codified as an integral part of Title 75, chapter 5, part 7, and the provisions of Title 75, chapter 5, part 7, apply to [sections 2 through 6].

Section 8. Effective date. [This act] is effective on passage and approval.

Section 4. Section 15-38-202, MCA, is amended to read:

"15-38-202. Investment of resource indemnity trust fund — expenditure — minimum balance. (1) All money paid into the resource indemnity trust fund, including money payable into the fund under the provisions of 15-36-324 and 15-37-117, must be invested at the discretion of the board of investments. All the net earnings accruing to the resource indemnity trust fund must annually be added to the trust fund until it has reached the sum of $10 million. (3) A shareholder of a DISC that is exempt from the corporation license tax under 15-31-102(1)(l) shall include in the shareholder's adjusted gross income the earnings and profits of the DISC in the same manner as provided by section 995 of the Internal Revenue Code for all periods for which the DISC election is effective.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3253 1997

(4) A taxpayer who, in determining federal adjusted gross income, has reduced the taxpayer's business deductions by an amount for wages and salaries for which a federal tax credit was elected under section 44B of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954, as that section may be labeled or amended, is allowed to deduct the amount of the wages and salaries paid regardless of the credit taken. The deduction must be made in the year the wages and salaries were used to compute the credit. In the case of a partnership or small business corporation, the deduction must be made to determine the amount of income or loss of the partnership or small business corporation.

(5) Married taxpayers filing a joint federal return who are required to include part of their social security benefits or part of their tier 1 railroad retirement benefits in federal adjusted gross income may split the federal base used in calculation of federal taxable social security benefits or federal taxable tier 1 railroad retirement benefits when they file separate Montana income tax returns. If the adjusted gross income before this exclusion and before application of the two-earner married couple deduction exceeds $15,000, the excess reduces the exclusion by an equal amount. This limitation affects the amount of exclusion, but not the taxpayer's eligibility for the exclusion. If eligible, married individuals shall apply the exclusion separately, but the limitation for income exceeding $15,000 is determined with respect to the spouses on their combined adjusted gross income. For the purpose of this subsection, permanently and totally disabled means unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity by reason of any medically determined physical or mental impairment lasting or expected to last at least 12 months. (Subsection (2)(f) terminates on occurrence of contingency—sec. 3, Ch. 634, L. 1983.)"

(b) The amount of the credit allowed for a tax year is 25% of the amount of the credit determined under 26 U.S.C. 47(a)(2) or as that section may be renumbered or amended.

(2) The credit allowed by this section may not be refunded if the taxpayer has a tax liability less than the amount of the credit. If the sum of credit carryovers from the credit, if any, and the amount of credit allowed by this section for the tax year exceeds the taxpayer's tax liability for the current tax year, the excess attributable to the current tax year's credit is a credit carryover to the 7 succeeding tax years. The entire amount of unused credit must be carried forward to the earliest of the succeeding years, and the oldest available unused credit must be used first.

(3) If the credit under this section is claimed by a small business corporation, as defined in 15-31-201, or a partnership, the credit must be attributed to shareholders or partners, using the same proportion used to report the corporation's or partnership's income or loss for Montana income tax purposes.

Section 2. Credit for preservation of historic buildings. (1) There is allowed as a credit against the taxes imposed by 15-30-103 a percentage of the credit allowed for qualified rehabilitation expenditures with respect to any certified historic building located in Montana as provided in [section 1].

(2) The credit may not be allocated between spouses unless the property is used by a small business corporation or a partnership in which they are shareholders or partners.

Section 3. Codification instruction. (1) [Section 1] is intended to be codified as an integral part of Title 15, chapter 31, and the provisions of Title 15, chapter 31, apply to [section 1].

(2) [Section 2] is intended to be codified as an integral part of Title 15, chapter 30, and the provisions of Title 15, chapter 30, apply to [section 2].

Section 4. Applicability. [Sections 1 and 2] apply to tax years beginning after December 31, 1997.

AN ACT REMOVING THE CONFLICT BETWEEN ARTICLE X, SECTION 10, OF THE MONTANA CONSTITUTION AND STATUTORY LAW BY AUTHORIZING THE MONTANA UNIVERSITY SYSTEM TO RETAIN INVESTMENT EARNINGS ON ALL UNIVERSITY FUNDS; AMENDING SECTION 17-2-107, MCA; AND PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

WHEREAS, Article X, section 10, of the Montana Constitution provides in part that the interest from university funds must be devoted to the maintenance and perpetuation of the respective University System institutions; and

WHEREAS, section 17-2-107, MCA, currently requires some of the investment earnings from some university funds to be credited to the state general fund.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Section 17-2-107, MCA, is amended to read:

"17-2-107. Accurate accounting records and interentity loans. (1) The department of administration shall record receipts and disbursements for treasury funds and for accounting entities within treasury funds and shall maintain records in ~~such~~ a manner ~~as to reflect~~ that reflects the total cash and invested balance of each fund and each accounting entity. The department of administration shall adopt the necessary procedures to ensure that interdepartmental or intradepartmental transfers of money or loans do not result in inflation of figures reflecting total governmental costs and revenue.

(2) (a) When the expenditure of an appropriation from a fund designated in 17-2-102(1)(a) through (1)(c) is necessary and the cash balance in the accounting entity from which the appropriation was made is insufficient, the department of administration may authorize a temporary loan, bearing no interest, of unrestricted money from other accounting entities if there is reasonable evidence that the income will be sufficient to repay the loan within 1 calendar year and if the loan is recorded in the state accounting records. An accounting entity receiving a loan or an accounting entity from which a loan is made may not be so impaired that all proper demands on the accounting entity cannot be met even if the loan is extended.

(b) (i) When an expenditure from a fund or subfund designated in 17-2-102(1)(d)(i)(A) through (1)(d)(vi) is necessary and the cash balance in the fund or subfund from which the expenditure is to be made is insufficient, the commissioner of higher education may authorize a temporary loan, bearing interest as provided in subsection (4), of money from the agency's other funds or subfunds if there is reasonable evidence that the income will be sufficient to repay the loan within 1 calendar year and if the loan is recorded in the state accounting records. A fund or subfund receiving a loan or from which a loan is made may not be so impaired that all proper demands on the fund or subfund cannot be met even if the loan is extended.

(ii) One accounting entity within each fund or subfund designated in 17-2-102(1)(d)(i)(A) through (1)(d)(vi) must be established for the sole purpose of recording loans between the funds or subfunds. This accounting entity is the only accounting entity within each fund or subfund that may receive a loan or from which a loan may be made.

(c) A loan made under subsection (2)(a) or (2)(b) must be repaid within 1 calendar year of the date on which the loan is approved unless it is extended under subsection (3) or by specific legislative authorization.

(3) Under unusual circumstances, the director of the department of administration or the board of regents may grant one extension for up to 1 year for a loan made under subsection (2)(a) or (2)(b). The director or board shall prepare a written justification and proposed repayment plan for each loan extension authorized and shall furnish a copy of the written justification and proposed repayment plan to the house appropriations and senate finance and claims committees at the next legislative session.

(4) Any loan from the current unrestricted subfund to funds designated in 17-2-102(1)(d)(i)(D) and (1)(d)(ii) through (1)(d)(vi) must bear interest at a rate equivalent to the previous fiscal year's average rate of return on the board of investments' short-term investment pool. ~~Except for investment earnings on restricted donations, all designated and restricted subfund investment earnings, other than investment earnings on student activity fees used to support student governments at units of the university system, are credited to the state general fund.~~

(5) If for 2 consecutive fiscal yearends a loan or an extension of a loan has been authorized to the same accounting entity as provided in subsection (2) or (3), the department of administration or the commissioner of higher education shall submit to the legislative finance committee by September 1 of the following fiscal year a written report containing an explanation as to why the second loan or extension was made, an analysis of the solvency of the accounting entity or accounting entities within the university fund or subfund, and a plan for repaying the loans.

(6) If for 2 consecutive fiscal yearends an accounting entity in a fund or subfund designated in 17-2-102(1)(d)(i) through (1)(d)(vi) has a negative cash balance, the commissioner of higher education shall submit to the legislative finance committee by September 1 of the following fiscal year a written report containing an explanation as to why the accounting entity has a negative cash balance, an analysis of the solvency of the accounting entity, and a plan to address any problems concerning the accounting entity's negative cash balance or solvency.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3259 1997

(7) (a) An accounting entity in a fund designated in 17-2-102(1)(a) through (1)(c) may not have a negative cash balance at fiscal yearend. The department of administration may, however, allow an accounting entity to carry a negative balance at any point during the fiscal year if the negative cash halance does not exist for more than 7 working days.

(h) (i) Except as provided in subsection (7)(b)(ii), a unit of the university system shall maintain a positive cash balance in the funds and subfunds designated in 17-2-102(1)(d)(i)(A) through (1)(d)(i)(D) and (1)(d)(ii) through (1)(d)(vi).

(ii) If a fund or subfund inadvertently has a negative cash balance, the department of administration may allow the fund or subfund to carry the negative cash balance for no more than 7 working days. If the negative cash balance exists for more than 7 working days, a transaction may not be processed through the statewide accounting system for that fund or subfund.

(8) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsections (2) through (4), the department of administration may authorize loans to accounting entities in the federal and state special revenue funds with long-term repayment whenever necessary because of the timing of the receipt of agreed upon reimbursements from federal, private, or other governmental entity sources for disbursements made. The department of administration may approve the loans if the requesting agency can demonstrate that the tetal loan balance does not exceed total receivables from federal, private, or other governmental entity sources and receivables have been billed on a timely basis. The loan must be repaid under terms and conditions as may be determined by the department of administration or by specific legislative authorization."

Section 2. Effective date. [This act] is effective July 1, 1997.

~~(c) notice in writing of the time, place, and purpose of the hearing is given to the youth, the youth's counsel, and the youth's parents, guardian, or custodian at least 10 days before the hearing; and~~

~~(d) the court finds upon the hearing of all relevant evidence that there is probable cause to believe that:~~

~~(i) the youth committed the delinquent act alleged;~~

~~(ii) the seriousness of the offense and the protection of the community require treatment of the youth beyond that afforded by juvenile facilities; and~~

~~(iii) the alleged offense was committed in an aggressive, violent, or premeditated manner.~~

~~(b) the record and previous history of the youth, including previous contacts with the youth court, law enforcement agencies, youth courts in other jurisdictions, prior periods of probation, and prior commitments to juvenile institutions. However, lack of a prior juvenile history with youth courts is not of itself grounds for denying the transfer.~~

~~(3) The court shall grant the motion to transfer if the youth was 16 years old or older at the time of the conduct alleged to be unlawful and the unlawful act would constitute deliberate homicide as defined in 45-5-102, mitigated deliberate homicide as defined in 45-5-103, or the attempt, as defined in 45-4-103, of either deliberate or mitigated deliberate homicide if the act had been committed by an adult.~~

~~(5)~~(4) The ~~transfer~~ filing of an information in district court terminates the jurisdiction of the youth court over the youth with respect to the acts alleged in the ~~petition~~ information. A case may be transferred to district court after prosecution as provided in 41-5-208 or 41-5-1105.

~~(6) Upon order of the youth court transferring the case to the district court under subsection (5), the county attorney shall file the information against the youth without unreasonable delay.~~ of appropriated placement funds. (3) The department may study the expenditures for placements for youth offenders for the fiscal years 1996, 1997, and 1998 and develop an incremental costs scale for the purposes of developing a system to charge each judicial district account with the costs of a placement and to credit a judicial district account for using the least restrictive placements and developing community-based programs. The proportional share allocated to each judicial district must be based on the types of youth, types of placements, youth population from 10 to 18 years of age, and a measure of the youth crime rate.

(4) If the department conducts a pilot program under this section, the department shall present a proposal to the 56th legislature that includes the following elements:

(a) The information gathered from the pilot program, as provided in subsections (2) and (3), must be used in the development of the incremental costs scale.

(b) There must be a recommendation for a method to return any balance remaining at the end of a fiscal year to the judicial districts for the explicit purposes of developing additional community programs for youth court purposes.

(c) The assumptions in subsection (5) must be incorporated as a part of the proposed incremental costs scale.

(3) A youth who is found to be suffering from a mental disorder, as defined in 53-21-102, and who meets the criteria in 53-21-126(1) after placement in or sentencing to a state youth correctional facility must be moved to a more appropriate placement in response to the youth's mental health needs and consistent with the disposition alternatives available in 53-21-127."

(2) If both Senate Bill No. 99 and this bill are passed and approved and if Senate Bill No. 99 includes a section that amends 41-5-206, then that section of Senate Bill No. 99 amending 41-5-206 is void and the amendments to 41-5-205 in this bill are void.

(3) If Senate Bill No. 110 and this bill are both passed and approved, then the sections amending 41-5-403 and 41-5-523 in Senate Bill No. 110 are void and [section 40] of the third reading copy of this bill must read:

"NEW SECTION. Section 40. Contribution for costs — order for contribution — exceptions — collection. (1) If a youth is placed in substitute care, a youth assessment center, or detention requiring payment by any state or local government agency or committed to the department, the court shall examine the financial ability of the youth's parents or guardians to pay a contribution covering all or part of the costs for the adjudication, disposition, attorney fees for the costs of prosecuting or defending the youth, costs of detention, supervision, care, custody, and treatment of the youth, including the costs of necessary medical, dental, and other health care.

(2) If the court determines that the youth's parents or guardians are financially able to pay a contribution for adjudication, disposition, attorney fees for the costs of prosecuting or defending the youth, costs of detention, or supervision as provided in subsection (1), the court shall order the youth's parents or guardians to pay a specified amount. The order must state to which state or local government agency all or a part of the contribution is due and in what order the payments must be made.

(3) If the court determines that the youth's parents or guardians are financially able to pay a contribution attributable to care, custody, and treatment as provided in subsection (1), the court shall order the youth's parents or guardians to pay a specified amount or an amount determined by the department of public health and human services. In either case, the amount must be based on the uniform child support guidelines adopted by the department of public health and human services pursuant to 40-5-209.

(4) A parent's or guardian's liability for contributions begins to accrue from the date the youth is removed from the home and continues until the youth is returned to the parent or guardian, the youth becomes emancipated, or the liability is terminated by order of the court.

(5) (a) A parent or guardian who is ordered to pay a contribution for a youth under subsection (3) assigns to the state agency all rights to a child support order for that youth that are not otherwise assigned under 53-2-613. The assignment of a child support obligation:

(i) is effective for both current and accrued support;

(ii) takes effect on the date the youth is placed in substitute care; and

(iii) remains in effect for as long as the youth lawfully remains in substitute care and until all arrears that are owed prior to the termination of substitute care are paid.

(b) The assigned child support obligation is in addition to the parent's or guardian's contribution determined under subsection (3) or (9), if applicable.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3345 1997

(c) The assigned child support obligation may be retained by the state agency with financial responsibility for the youth in an amount sufficient to reimburse the costs for the substitute care that remain after the obligation has been satisfied.

(6) (a) Except as provided in subsection (6)(b), contributions ordered under subsection (3) and each modification of an existing order are enforceable by immediate or delinquency income withholding, or both, under Title 40, chapter 5, part 4. An order for contribution that is inconsistent with this section is nevertheless subject to withholding for the payment of the contribution without need for an amendment of the support order or for any further action by the court.

(b) A court-ordered exception from contributions under this section must be in writing and must be included in the order. An exception from the immediate income withholding requirement may be granted if the court finds that there is:

(i) good cause not to require immediate income withholding; or

(ii) an alternative arrangement between the state agency and the person who is ordered to pay contributions.

(c) A finding of good cause not to require immediate income withholding must, at a minimum, be based upon:

(i) a written determination and explanation by the court of the reasons why the implementation of immediate income withholding is not in the best interests of the youth; and

(ii) proof of timely payment of previously ordered support in cases involving modification of contributions ordered under this section.

(d) An alternative arrangement must:

(i) provide sufficient security to ensure compliance with the arrangement;

(ii) be in writing and be signed by a representative of the department and the person required to make contributions; and

(iii) if approved by the court, be entered into the record of the proceeding.

(7) Upon a showing of a change in the financial ability of the youth's parent or guardian to pay, the court may modify its order for the payment of contributions required under subsection (2) or (3) or the parent or guardian may apply to the department of public health and human services for an administrative modification for the payment of a contribution required under subsection (3) as provided in Title 40, chapter 5, part 2. # CHAPTER NO. 551

[HB 2]

AN ACT APPROPRIATING MONEY TO VARIOUS STATE AGENCIES FOR THE BIENNIUM ENDING JUNE 30, 1999; AND PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

Be it enacted by the Legislature of the State of Montana:

Section 1. Short title. [This act] may be cited as "The General Appropriations Act of 1997".

Section 2. First level expenditures. The agency and program appropriation tables in the legislative fiscal analyst narrative accompanying this bill, showing first level expenditures and funding for the 1999 biennium, are adopted as legislative intent.

Section 3. Severability. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of [this act] is for any reason held unconstitutional, the decision does not affect the validity of the remaining portions of [this act].

Section 4. Legislative audit costs. Agencies shall reserve enough cash in each fund type to pay the costs of the legislative audit and shall, to the maximum extent allowable under federal regulations, charge audit costs to federal funds.

Section 5. Appropriation control. An appropriation item designated as "Biennial" may be spent in either year of the biennium. An appropriation item designated "Restricted" may be used during the biennium only for the purpose designated by its title and as presented to the legislature. An appropriation item designated "One Time Only" or "OTO" may not be included in the present law base for the 2001 biennium. The office of budget and program planning shall establish a separate appropriation on the statewide budgeting and accounting system for any item designated as "Biennial", "Restricted", "One Time Only", or "OTO". The office of budget and program planning shall establish at least one appropriation on the statewide budgeting and accounting system for any appropriation that appears as a separato line item in [this act].

Section 6. Program definition. As used in [this act], "program" has the same meaning as defined in 17-7-102, is consistent with the management and accountability structure established on the statewide budgeting and accounting system, and is identified as a major subdivision of an agency ordinally numbered with an arabic numeral.

Section 7. Personal services funding — 2001 biennium. (1) Except as provided in subsection (2), present law and new proposal funding budget requests for the 2001 biennium submitted under Title 17, chapter 7, part 1, by each executive, judicial, and legislative branch agency must include funding of first level personal services separate from funding of other expenditures. The funding of first level personal services by accounting entity for each fiscal year must be shown for each control variable in the budget request for the 2001 biennium submitted by October 30 to the legislative fiscal analyst by the office of budget and program planning.

HeinOnline -- 1997 vol. III 3349 1997

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) do not apply to the Montana university system.

Section 8. Consumer price index changes. If the federal government reformulates the consumer price index, each state agency that uses the consumer price index as an integral part of any contract, grant, benefit, rate, reimbursement, payment, or negotiation shall use the reformulated index unless otherwise prohibited by law.

Section 9. Expanding technologies to reduce travel expenditures. It is the intent of the legislature to encourage state agencies to use expanding technologies to interface with out-of-state agencies and other entities in an attempt to reduce travel expenditures by 10% each biennium. The budget director shall report semiannually in August and February to the legislative finance committee as to the efforts of the agencies to meet the intent of the legislature.

Section 10. Reduced dues. It is the intent of the legislature to encourage state agencies to reduce dues paid to professional organizations by 10% each biennium. The budget director shall report semiannually in August and February to the legislative finance committee as to the efforts of the agencies to meet the intent of the legislature.

Section 11. Totals not appropriations. The totals shown in [this act] are for informational purposes only and are not appropriations.

Section 12. Coordination instruction. If House Bill No. 169 is passed and approved in a form that classifies the pension fund type as not part of the state treasury for appropriation purposes, then the appropriations for the public employees' retirement board and the teachers' retirement board are void.

Section 13. Effective date. [This act] is effective July 1, 1997.

Section 14. Appropriations. The following money is appropriated for the respective fiscal years:

If House Bill No. 170 is not passed and approved, the appropriation in item 1 is reduced by $175,012 in fiscal year 1998 and $174,981 in fiscal year 1999.

Item 1 includes a 10% reduction in equipment totaling $11,900 in fiscal year 1998 and $6,700 in fiscal year 1999. The supreme court may allocate this reduction among programs.

The law library should develop a procedure for collecting fees for electronic access services offered by the library.

The supreme court shall certify to the legislative fiscal division by July 1, 1997, that all district courts in Montana are in compliance with 45-9-208 and 45-10-108.

It is the intent of the legislature that the supreme court administrator coordinate development of the federal grant guidelines and coordinate applications for grants by the Montana judicial districts, pursuant to 42 U.S.C. 669B.

Because House Bill No. 169 requires that the state's contribution to the judges' pension trust fund for the chief water court judge be budgeted, item 5 has been increased by $25,102 in state special revenue in each fiscal year. If House Bill No. 169 is not passed and approved in a form that requires the contribution to be budgeted, then the state special revenue amounts in item 5 are reduced by $25,102 in each fiscal year. If House Bill No. 169 is passed and approved and if House Bill No. 170 is passed and approved in a form decreasing the percentage contribution to the pension of the chief water court judge to 25.81%, then the state special revenue appropriations in item 5 are reduced by $6,436 in each fiscal year.

The Montana consensus council is appropriated any additional state special revenue money, up to $66,000 in fiscal year 1998 and $66,000 in fiscal year 1999, over the amount of the state special revenue appropriation for the Montana consensus council contained in item 1. Any state special revenue funds received in excess of the appropriation contained in item 1 must cause a reversion of a like amount of general fund money.

If House Bill No. 188 is passed and approved and includes at least $500,000 for the Montana integrated budget system, the amount in item 4c may not be appropriated.

The appropriation provided for the citizens' advocate office is contingent upon funds being used to achicve program performance targets as outlined by the legislature in the general appropriations act for the 1999 biennium. The agency shall provide semiannual reports to the office of budget and program planning and the legislative fiscal division on progress toward achievement of these performance targets, with explanations for any significant variances.

The citizens' advocate office will achieve the following goal by meeting the specified performance targets:

Goal:

The goal of the citizens' advocate office is to provide accessibility to state government for Montana citizens. A toll-free number is provided to the public for this purpose.

Performance Measures:

(1) The office staff answer incoming phone calls, the volume of which is beyond the control of the office. However, by maintaining efficiency in answering the toll-free calls, the office will continue to answer at least 25,000 phone calls per year.

(2) Through increased efficiency, the citizens' advocate office staff will decrease the number of busy signals received by incoming callers, which is currently at about 35%. The performance target is to reduce the number of busy signals received to 25%.

SECRETARY OF STATE (3201)

The rates approved for the office of the secretary of state are contingent upon resultant revenue being used to achieve program targets and performance measures as outlined by the legislature in the general appropriations act for the 1999 biennium. The department shall provide semiannual reports to the office of budget and program planning and the legislative fiscal division on progress toward achievement of these targets and performance measures, with explanations of any significant variances.

The office of the secretary of state shall achieve the following goals by meeting the specified targets and performance measures:

Goals: Increase voter registration and provide open access to the election process.

| Target | Performance Measure |
|---|---|
| Maintain the percentage of eligible but nonregistered Montanans | Have 87.5% of the eligible population registered to vote. (The eligible population will be measured after each presidential election. The performance measure is subject to revision if the legislature brings the state of Montana into compliance with the current National Voter Registration Act of 1993 and amends the current purge procedure.) |
| Train election administrators | Have representatives from 50 of the 56 counties attend the biennial workshop |

It is the intent of the legislature that $1,318,000 in state special revenue funds augment the department's budgeted funding level for the secondary road system program in the 1999 biennium.

The rates approved for the state motor pool are contingent upon resultant revenue being used to achieve program performance targets as outlined by the legislature in the general appropriations act for the 1999 biennium. The department shall provide semiannual reports to the office of budget and program planning and the legislative fiscal division on progress toward achievement of these performance targets with explanations for any significant variances.

Goal 1: To provide cost-efficient and reliable vehicles to state employees conducting official business.

Objective 1: To implement a test to reduce 4-door passenger vehicle costs by 25% per mile by the end of the 1999 biennium.

Performance Measure: Test vehicles that achieved a 25% cost-per-mile reduction over the standard nontest vehicles.

Objective 2: To provide a motor pool or contracted vehicle to meet the basic transportation requirements in response to all requests made a minimum of 5 working days prior to need date.

Performance Measure: Number of requests unmet due to nonavailability of a motor pool or overflow contracted vehicle that meets the user's basic transportation needs.

| Requests unmet (by class) | FY 97 | FY 98 | FY 99 |
|---|---|---|---|
| (For each of the 4 classes) | (Total) | (A-E) | (A-E) |

(A) No motor pool vehicle available that meets basic transportation needs.

(B) Specific class reserved and refusal of other class.

(C) Specific class being serviced and refusal of other class.

(D) No overflow vehicle available.

(E) Refusal for medical reasons.

Objective 3: To provide and maintain out-stationed vehicles to meet the user requirements outside the Helena area.

Performance Measures:

(1) Purchased vehicles approved by OBPP and the legislature and provided to state agencies.

| Vehicle Classes | FY 98 | FY 99 |

Goal 2: To maintain a preventive maintenance program to ensure vehicles are serviced, safe, and reliable.

Objective: To maintain the fleet in accordance with the motor pool preventive maintenance program standards.

Performance Measures:

(1) Review the motor pool fleet to ensure that 90% of the vehicles are meeting level I or II preventive maintenance schedules.

(2) Perform a serviceability and safety inspection on 90% of all motor pool vehicles annually.

Goal 3: To conduct a fleet functional analysis to determine if the fleet is appropriately sized and is meeting agency and user expectations and requirements.

Objective: To review the daily use and leasing vehicle maintenance programs to ensure that vehicles are being utilized, serviced, and maintained and that the mix and number of vehicles are within standards.

Performance Measures:

(1) Conduct annual statistical fleet sizing analysis to determine basic fleet requirements, maintain the fleet within 10% of suggested statistical size, and implement changes in class sizes to maintain an optimum mix of vehicle types.

(2) Conduct a customer satisfaction survey during each biennium.

(3) Respond to customer written vehicle complaints within 10 working days.

Items 2 and 6 include a 10% reduction in equipment totaling $4,800 in fiscal year 1998 and $3,800 in fiscal year 1999. The department may allocate this reduction among programs.

The appropriation in item 2a may be used to match the federal special revenue appropriated in House Bill No. 5 for the construction of one regional correctional facility. If the appropriation is not expected to be expended by the end of the 1999 biennium, it may be reappropriated by the 1999 legislature.

If House Bill No. 14 is passed and approved, the appropriation in item 2a is void.

If House Bill No. 14 is not passed and approved, of the 1.3% of coal severance taxes allocated to the long-range building program fund in the debt service fund type, as provided in House Bill No. 5, 0.5% must be transferred to the general fund and 0.8% must be transferred to an account in the state special revenue fund for the purpose of the protection of works of art in the state capitol and for other cultural and aesthetic projects.

Because of the de-earmarking of emergency telecommunications administrative costs by House Bill No. 166, item 4a appropriates $112,636 in general fund money in each fiscal year as a restricted appropriation. If House Bill No. 166 is not passed and approved in a form that de-earmarks the administrative costs, then the general fund amounts in item 4a are reduced by $112,636 in each fiscal year and the state special revenue amounts are increased by the same amounts.

The appropriation from the capitol land grant fund of $250,000 for fiscal year 1998 and $250,000 for fiscal year 1999 for major maintenance repairs on buildings within the capitol complex is contingent upon availability of capitol land grant funds.

The rates approved for the mail and distribution program are contingent upon resultant revenue being used to achieve program performance targets as outlined by the legislature in the general appropriations act for the 1999 biennium. The department shall provide semiannual reports to the office of budget and program planning and the legislative fiscal division on progress toward achievement of these performance targets, with explanations for any significant variances.

The mail and distribution program will achieve the following goals by meeting the specified performance measures:

Goal 1: To develop a pricing structure that stabilizes the program cash flow and provides incentives for agencies to prepare automated mail.

Performance Measures:

(1) Retire all program interentity loans by the end of fiscal year 1999.

(2) Base mail processing rates on actual postage plus overhead charges that accurately reflect the processing costs.

(3) Increase the ratio of automated to nonautomated mail by 30% over the biennium through interagency coordination and agency training in mailing list management.

(4) Set deadhead mailing rates for the coming biennium to more accurately reflect agency usage and central mail handling costs.

Goal 2: To consistently achieve a high degree of customer satisfaction with the timeliness and quality of mail processing service.

Performance Measures:

(1) To increase the automation of incoming mail to improve the accuracy of delivery through interagency coordination and agency training.

(2) Achieve a 99% level of the following delivery standards based on quarterly mail test samples: incoming mail delivered same day received, deadhead mail delivered within 24 hours of receipt, and antomated outgoing mail delivered to the United States postal service the same day received unless hold requested by customer.

(3) Customer satisfaction ratings from surveys done two times per year must meet acceptable service standards.

Item 6a contains biennial appropriations that the department and the office of budget and program planning may combine and spend in either year to allocate to agencies (except for Montana university system instructional faculty and the legislative branch), subject to the process described below, for personal services if the agencies did not experience normal turnover in an amount necessary to provide full funding for personal services. The amounts may be adjusted among fund types, excluding the general fund, which may not be adjusted.

It is not the intention of the executive branch or the legislature to force vacancies among judges or in direct care positions. It is recognized that the workload of the judges is ongoing. It is recognized that the nature of direct care mandates 24-hour staff coverage, 7 days a week, in order to provide statutorily mandated services. It is further recognized that vacancies in direct care programs do not translate into empty positions, but, rather, result in an increase in overtime wages until the position is filled. Accordingly, the amounts set aside for personal services contingencies for the judiciary and for direct care programs in executive branch agencies must be partially allocated to the affected agencies by the office of budget and program planning for fiscal year 1998 and fiscal year 1999 first-day processing. Likewise, the salaries of elected officials will be restored to the full amount cited on the already-approved schedule for fiscal year 1998 and fiscal year 1999 first-day processing.

Agencies making any other requests for an allocation of these contingency funds shall document the request in the manner prescribed by the budget director to show that personal services expenditures will exceed program appropriations for personal services and the reasons for the deficit. The office of budget and program planning shall provide an annual report to the legislative finance committee showing the allocations of these personal services contingency funds.

If House Bill No. 169 is not passed and approved in a form that classifies the pension fund type as not part of the state treasury for appropriation purposes, then the pension funds appropriated in item 1 are increased by $1,321,851 in fiscal year 1998 and by $1,304,799 in fiscal year 1999, the pension funds appropriated in item 1a are increased by $55,074 in fiscal year 1998 and designated as restricted and biennial, and the pension funds appropriated in item 1b are increased by $12,500 in each fiscal year and designated as biennial and one-time only.

Item 1c is contingent upon passage and approval of House Bill No. 170.

If House Bill No. 169 is passed and approved, the item appropriating $78,500 in pension trust money and the language making the appropriation contingent upon passage and approval of House Bill No. 170 are void.

The department may add FTE instead of contracting for services if it certifios to the office of budget and program planning that FTE are more cost-effective than contracting. FTE added through this language may not be included in the 2001 biennium base budget.

The department shall prepare a unified budget for the interagency coordinating council on prevention of child abuse and neglect. The unified budget must identify services funded, expenditures by service in fiscal year 1998, and preliminary amounts budgeted for the 2001 biennium by service and fund type from the department, office of public instruction, board of crime control, and department of labor and industry. A preliminary budget must be presented to the joint oversight committee on children and families, the legislative finance committee, and the office of budget and program planning by September 1, 1998. The unified budget must bo published in the governor's budget request to the 56th legislature.

The current general fund medicaid growth rate is 5.19% for fiscal year 1998 and 1.43% for fiscal year 1999. The department may not go over 5.25% for fiscal year 1998 and 3.0% for fiscal year 1999 even if it has the money within its budget to do so.

If projected medicaid expenditures exceed appropriations in [this act] in either year of the biennium, the department shall implement 53-6-101(11) to determine priorities for the funds available. In determining those priorities, it is the intent of the legislature that the department first review and consider eligibility criteria as a means of reducing expenditures. If further reductions are necessary, the department shall then consider limiting or reducing services to remain within the appropriations.

The legislature recommends that the governor, legislative committees, and related committees of the department work together with the tribal governments of the state to develop specific recommendations that will increase economic development, income, and employment, which are beneficial to both tribal and nontribal individuals. The committee on Indian affairs shall organize and direct this statewide effort in consultetion with the office of state coordinator of Indian affairs and the department. These recommendations should include methods to reduce the department's and tha department of correction's budgetary expenditures as a result of increased employment and income and solutions to problems. Recommendations must be presented to the next legislature.

It is the intent of the legislature that the $2 million general fund across-the-board operating expense reduction each year of the 1999 biennium not come from the child and family services division, the senior and long-term care division, or the disability services division.

The legislative audit committee shall conduct a performance review and shall report on the rates of success and recidivism for the foster care, therapeutic foster care, and juvenile aftercare programs to the 56th legislature.

Benefits for TANF are set at 40.5% of the poverty rate for each year of the biennium.

At least four of the now FTEs added to the base budget of the child and family services division must be adult protective services workers. The legislature directs the department to continue to pursue the transfer of the adult protective services program to the senior and long-term care division and to report to the 1999 legislature on the progress of those efforts.

It is the intent of the legislature that the department provide the following information to the office of budget and program planning, the legislative finance committee, and the legislative joint oversight committee on children and families by November 1, 1998:

(1) the unduplicated total number of children in foster care in fiscal year 1998;

(2) the average number of placements per child in the foster care system during fiscal year 1998;

(3) the average cost per service per child in the foster care system in fiscal year 1998;

(4) the unduplicated total number of families served by the department's foster care prevention programs during fiscal year 1998 and the number of foster care placements prevented during fiscal year 1998;

(5) the unduplicated number of children in foster care in fiscal year 1998 who have been in foster care 2 years or longer; and

(6) the number of permanent homes found for children in foster care in fiscal year 1998.

The department shall expend the minimum federally required funds for the following child care activities: provider recruitment and education; grants and loans to child care providers to assist them in meeting state and local standards and in expanding and improving other child care operations; compliance monitoring for licensing and regulatory requirements; training and technical assistance; activities to improve compensation for child care providers; and comprehensive consumer education. The department may spend no more than $821,369 on these activities in fiscal year 1998 and no more than $864,347 in fiscal year 1999.

The department shall provide the following information for fiscal year 1998 to the 56th legislature: the total amount of funds expended on child care; the amount of funds spent on administrative costs for child care; the total amount of funds spent for resource and referral agencies; and the total amount of funds spent on direct child care services. The department shall also provide a breakdown of the types of clients served, separately identifying clients who were eligible for services as participants in the families achieving independence in Montana program (FAIM) or as recipients who were income-eligible and participated in the cost of child care on a sliding fee scale.

The department shall redesign the child care sliding fee scale for the working poor families. The amount of the copayment required by the sliding fee scale should not contain huge cliffs for families, either within the income categories for the scale or when the families' income increases enough so that they lose eligibility.

As FAIM families move from FAIM, with its required participation in work or work-related activities, into employment, the child care expenditure focus should move with them. There needs to be funding available to serve low-income families that are not or that are no longer FAIM participants.

The provider rate increase provided for child care should not be equally divided across all providers.

The department should implement such a new system at the same time that the department is implementing the new welfare reform and child block grant programs.

The legislature recognizes that parties who are not required to participate in the IV-D program are choosing to use program services. The legislature intends that these parties help defray the costs associated with provision of services. If the child support enforcement division (CSED) projects that state special revenue may be insufficient to fund appropriations, the CSED shall implement a plan to charge fees and recover costs from parties who receive CSED services.

The appropriation provided for the CSED is contingent upon funds being used to achieve program performance targets as outlined by the legislature in the general appropriations act for the 1999 biennium. The appropriations for legislative contract authority are subject to the following provisions:

(1) Legislative contract authority applies only to federal funds.

(2) Expenditures must be reported on state accounting records and kept separate from present law operations. In preparing the 2001 biennium budget for legislative consideration, the office of budget and program planning may not include the expenditures from this item in the present law base.

(3) A report must be submitted by the department to the legislative fiscal analyst following the end of each fiscal year of the biennium. The report must include a listing of projects with the related amount of expenditures and FTE for each project.

Item 1c was approved for development of an automated licensing system. Subsequent legislatures should examine the system carefully for costs, savings, and savings from lowering license agents' commissions. Costs to complete and operate the system in the 2001 biennium are expected to be $1,007,000 for development and $1,880,000 for operations. Savings of 3 FTE and $392,000 and additional interest earnings of $100,000 are expected to phase in toward the end of fiscal year 2000. The department shall submit up-to-date cost estimates, cost savings estimates, and any request for additional funding to the 1999 legislature.

The appropriation provided for the law enforcement division is contingent upon funds being used to achieve program performance targets set by the legislature in the general appropriations act for the 1999 biennium. The department shall provide semiannual reports to the office of budget and program planning and the legislative fiscal division on progress toward achievement of these performance targets, with explanations for any significant variances.

The proposed law enforcement division goals and associated performance targets for each year to the 1999 biennium are as follows:

Goal 1: Fish and Wildlife Compliance - Provide protection for fish, wildlife, and habitat resources through regulation and education ensuring equitable outdoor recreational opportunities by maintaining present level of compliance of fish and wildlife regulations.

Performance Measures/Targets:

(1) Contact at least 20% of license holders for compliance: 112,000 in fiscal year 1998 and 116,000 in fiscal year 1999.

(2) Contact 9,800 landowners in each fiscal year.

(3) 95% conviction rate in prosecutions: 3,135 convictions in fiscal year 1998 and 3,230 in fiscal year 1999.

(4) Have 11 specialized programs.

Goal 2: State Parks Compliance - Protect the state's natural, historic, cultural, and recreational resources through regulation and education, providing a safe and enjoyable experience for users.

Performance Measures/Targets:

(1) Contact 2,000 park users each fiscal year.

(2) Conduct 40 investigations each fiscal year.

(3) 95% conviction rate in prosecutions: 95 convictions in each fiscal year.

Goal 3: Recreational Conveyance Compliance - Protect public safety and enjoyment of boat and water recreation and snowmobile and off-highway vehicle use through education and regulation.

Performance Measures/Targets:

(2) Participate in at least 30 water safety programs each year.

(3) 95% conviction rate in prosecutions: 703 convictions in fiscal year 1998 and 741 in fiscal year 1999.

The department shall reduce the federal appropriation in item 5e and increase the state special revenue appropriation by a like amount if federal funds are not available. The department shall provide an evaluation of this new proposal to the 1999 natural resources and commerce appropriation subcommittee.

The legislature directs the department to document that operation and maintenance at existing state parks are adequately funded in [this act] before the department submits any capital requests to spend park fees, lodging facility use taxes, or coal severance tax revenue. The legislature directs the department to prioritize its parks capital project requests in House Bill No. 5, subject to the continuing general operations and maintenance funded in [this act].

In this biennium, the department should move toward financing the Montana outdoors magazine with 75% of earned revenue and, to that extent, reduce the money spent from hunting and fishing license fees,

Item 6 includes a 10% reduction in equipment totaling $93,000 in fiscal year 1998 and $68,000 in fiscal year 1999. The department may allocate this reduction among programs.

If House Bill No. 156 is not passed and approved, items 1c through 1e are void.

Because of the addition of the state lands equalization statutory appropriation by House Bill No. 166, item 2 has been reduced by $571,117 in general fund money in fiscal year 1998 and by $500,586 in general fund money in fiscal year 1999. If House Bill No. 166 is not passed and approved in a form that adds the statutory appropriation, then the general fund amounts in item 2 are increased by $571,117 in fiscal year 1998 and by $600,586 in fiscal year 1999.

The department is appropriated up to $700,000 for the biennium from the account established in 76-14-112 for rangeland loans during the 1999 biennium.

All funds held in the state special revenue fund in accordance with 76-16-106(2) are appropriated to the department for administration of grazing district activities in an amount of up to $15,000 a year for the 1999 biennium.

The department is appropriated up to $400,000 for the biennium from the state special revenue account established in 85-1-604 for the purchase of prior liens on property held as loan security as required by 85-1-618.

The department is authorized to decrease state special revenue money in item 3a and increase federal special revenue money by a like amount if federal EPA funds become available. Any federal special revenue funds are to be spent before state special revenue funds.

The department shall reduce the appropriation in item 5a and increase the federal appropriation by a like amount if federal funds become available.

Because of the elimination of the statutory appropriation for water well contractor administrative costs by House Bill No. 166, item 5d appropriates $16,000 in state special revenue in fiscal year 1998 as a restricted and biennial appropriation. If House Bill No. 166 is not passed and approved in a form that eliminates the statutory appropriation for administrative costs, then item 5d is eliminated.

During the 1999 biennium, up to $20,000 of interest earned on the Broadwater water users account is appropriated to the department for the purpose of repair, improvement, or rehabilitation of the Broadwater-Missouri diversion project.

During the 1999 biennium, up to $1 million of funds currently in or to be deposited in the Broadwater replacement and renewal account are appropriated to the department for repairing or replacing equipment at the Broadwater hydropower facility.

Up to $20,000 each year of fines collected under the provisions of Title 85, chapter 2, and deposited in the water right appropriation account in accordance with 85-2-318 are appropriated to the department to carry out the enforcement functions required under 85-2-114.

During the 1999 biennium, up to $500,000 of funds currently in or to be deposited in the state project hydropower earnings account are appropriated for the purpose of repairing, improving, or rehabilitating department state water projects.

The appropriation provided for the Montana state nursery is contingent upon funds being used to achieve the program objectives of becoming self-supporting by 2001 and maintaining a fund balance. The department shall provide semiannual reports to the office of budget and program planning and the legislative fiscal division on progress toward achievement of this objective.

Because of de-earmarking of forest resources stewardship fines by House Bill No. 166, item 7 has been reduced by $9,443 in state special revenue in each fiscal year and general fund amounts have been increased by the same amounts. If House Bill No. 166 is not passed and approved in a form that de-earmarks the state special revenue, then the general fund amounts in item 7 are reduced by $9,443 in each fiscal year and the state special revenue amounts are increased by the same amounts.

Item 7 includes a 10% reduction in equipment totaling $102,000 in fiscal year 1998 and $93,000 in fiscal year 1999. The department may allocate this reduction among programs.

Item 7c are those funds received from federal agencies for the use of department personnel and equipment to assist them in managing emergency incidents, such as fire suppression activities. Only those federal funds received as reimbursement of personnel expenses credited against the department's state forestry operational budget or those funds received as payment under equipment use agreements are considered federal fire reimbursement funds. All other federal funds received must be deposited in the general fund. It is the intent of the legislature that funds reimbursed for the use of department equipment be expended for the repair, maintenance, and replacement of equipment that supports the state-county cooperative fire program. The department shall report federal fire reimbursement expenditures on state accounting records, and the records must be separate from present law operations.

In determining the base amount for the general fund transfer to the air operations proprietary account to be included in the 2001 biennium executive budget request, the office of budget and program planning shall use $335,000.

For the purposes of 17-2-108, the approving authority is directed to decrease the general fund appropriation in the fire program within the forestry division by the amount of money received from fire protection assessments in excess of the appropriation and to increase the appropriation of the fire protection assessments by a like amount.

Federal funding provided to the department under 33 U.S.C. 1329 must be used to address water quality impaired streams.

The department is authorized to transfer the retirement contributions provided in 19-6-404 and 61-5-121(1)(a) in fiscal years 1998 and 1999 from the highway patrol retirement clearing account in the state special revenue fund to the Montana highway patrol officers' retirement pension fund. An appropriation must be established each year in the amount required to be transferred up to the amount of $700,000.

Revenue from tuition charged for participation in the DARE training program may be used to match federal dollars should they become available for the DARE program.

The department is directed to study the issue of privatization of driver licensing services and report to the 1999 legislature. The department shall negotiate with communities, alternative vendors, and other governmental agencies to achieve cost reductions and improved access to driver's license examination services for the 1999 biennium. By June 30, 1998, the department must have in place at least one privatized driver's licensing examination station.

The legislature recognizes that the costs associated with litigation in which the legal services division is required to provide representation to the state of Montana may exceed the appropriation provided. In that event, the department will need to request a supplemental appropriation from the 1999 legislature to adequately represent the state.

The amount of $20,000 in general fund money is appropriated to the department each year from the unexpended portion of House Bill No. 1, following adjournment of the 55th legislature. The funds are to be used to implement House Bill No. 222, habeas corpus reforms.

Item 1c is centingent upon passage and approval of House Bill No. 222.

Item 2b is contingent upon passage and approval of Senate Bill No. 354.

The legislature has not appropriated funds to house inmates in a private correctional facility in accordance with House Bill No. 83. However, it is the intent of the legislature that the department issue a request for proposals and enter into a contract with a private vendor during the 1999 biennium for the construction of a correctional facility of approximately 500 beds and the housing of inmates in the facility.

If House Bill No. 14 is not passed and approved, the department may issue a request for proposals and enter into a contract with a private vendor during the 1999 biennium for the construction of a correctional facility of approximately 700 beds and the houring of inmates in the facility.

The appropriation in item 1c is for costs associated with the legislative corrections oversight committee established in House Joint Resolution No. 19.

Item 2 includes $494,892 in general fund money each year of the 1999 biennium and is contingent upon passage and approval of House Bill No. 104.

Item 3 includes a 10% reduction in equipment totaling $146,000 in fiscal year 1998 and $120,000 in fiscal year 1999. The department may allocate this reduction among programs.

The appropriation provided for the wage and hour unit of the labor standards bureau is contingent upon funds being used to achieve program performance targets as outlined by the legislature in the general appropriations act for the 1999 biennium. The department shall provide semiannual reports to the office of budget and program planning and the legislative fiscal division ou progress toward achievement of these performance targets, with explanations for any significant variances.

Goal: The goal of the wage and hour unit is to provide a forum for the prevention and resolution of workplace disputes involving wages and their payment in Montana.

(1) Objective/output measure: For the biennium, wage and hour compliance specialists will improve by 2% each year the percentage of determinations issued within 55 days of the receipt of the wage complaint.

Baseline measures for this objective will be established by the percentage of determinations issued by compliance staff in fiscal year July 1, 1996, to June 30, 1997.

Outcome measure: Fewer complaints from customers about how long it takes to process a claim.

Baseline measures for this outcome will be established by the number of written and verbal complaints received in fiscal year July 1, 1996, to June 30, 1997.

Quality measure: Fewer clerical mistakes on determinatious issued and less amended determinations issued.

Baseline measures will be established by the number of amended determinations thet were issued in fiscal year July 1, 1996, to June 30, 1997.

(2) Objective/output measure: For fiscal year 1998 and fiscal year 1999, the wage and hour unit will handle 90% of the cases filed in that year without need of an administrative hearing.

Baseline measures for this objective will be established by the percentage of cases requiring an administrative hearing in fiscal year July 1, 1996, to June 30, 1997.

Outcome measure: Fewer verbal and written customer complaints regarding the length of time that a claim can linger without closure.

Baseline measures for this outcome will be established through the number of complaints in fiscal year July 1, 1996, to June 30, 1997.

Quality measure: Determinations issued by compliance specialists more complete and comprehensive to customers.

Baseline measures will be established through a survey of customers when a decision is issued in fiscal year July 1, 1996, to June 30, 1997.

Item 2 includes a 10% reduction in equipment totaling $56,000 in fiscal year 1998 and $53,000 in fiscal year 1999. The department may allocate this reduction among programs.

If Senate Bill No. 349 is not passed and approved, the appropriation in item 4 is decreased by $184,859 in state special revenue and $1,738 in proprietary funds in fiscal year 1998 and increased by $6,346 in state special revenue in fiscal year 1999.

The appropriation in item 4h is contingent upon passage and approval of Senate Bill No. 67.

The appropriation in item 4d is contingent upon passage and approval of Senate Bill No. 290.

It is legislative intent that the centralized services functions of the department be provided to the department's programs. Because 67% of the department's funding is from federal funds and pursuant to 17-3-111, it is also legislative intent that the rates charged by the centralized functions of the department be the rates agreed upon by the United States department of labor federal negotiator. The rate, as submitted for fiscal year 1998, is 7.73% of the programs' actual personal services costs incurred; and the estimated rate for fiscal year 1999 may not exceed 8.65% of the programs' actual personal services costs incurred.

It is legislative intent that the input/output control operations functions continue to provide the services to department users. Charge per hour to the users must be $39 an hour or less for the 1999 hiennium. This rate must be analyzed throughout the hiennium, and particular consideration must be given to the time spent providing this function to the customers and to the cash balance of the fund.

It is legislative intent that the Montana career information system (MCIS) maintain a fee structure to cover the costs of software development and dissemination. The MCIS rates for the 1999 biennium are the rates determined by the state occupational information coordinating council. For fiscal year 1998, the rates are to be no more than $1,500 for larger schools, with discounts available for smaller schools. If the national software fee to the MCIS increases and if the state occupational information coordinating council reviews the increase and sets new rates, it is legislative intent that the fee increase be concomitant with the national career information system increase.

Because of de-earmarking of resources and assessments by House Bill No. 166, item 1 has been reduced by $525 in state special revenue in each fiscal year and general fund amounts have been increased by the same amounts. If House Bill No. 166 is not passed and approved in a form that de-earmarks the state special revenue, then the general fund amounts in item 1 are reduced by $525 in each fiscal year and the state special revenue amounts are increased by the same amounts.

Item 1a is for increases in salaries and benefits paid to office of public instruction education program representatives in the event that a classification review, performed under the direction of the department of administration personnel division, finds that the increases are appropriate.

It is the intent of the legislature that the office of public instruction fill the vocational/technology, trades, and industrial education specialist and vocational/agriculture education specialist positions at a salary above entry level. The legislature has included funding for these positions at a level sufficient to pay the additional salaries for fiscal years 1998 and 1999.

Additionally, it is the intent of the legislature that the office of public instruction have the option of contracting with the departments of agriculture and education within the college of agriculture at Montana state university-Bozeman for the duties and responsibilities of the vocational/agriculture education specialist.

Item 1c is for the lease and occupation costs associated with the office of public instruction's building located at 1227 11th avenue.

The office of public instruction shall prepare and submit to the office of budget and program planning and legislative fiscal division revised goals and objectives for the improving Montana schools program commensurate with the amount appropriated. The appropriation provided for in item 1d is contingent upon funds being used to achieve program performance targets as outlined in the budget for the 1999 biennium. The office of public instruction shall provids semiannual reports to the office of budget and program planning and the legislative fiscal division on progress toward achievement of these performance targets, with explanations for any significant variances.

Goal I: Promote challenging academic standards and effective delivery systems for teaching and learning for K-12 education to meet the challenges of today and tomorrow.

Objective 1: By October 1, 1998, with assistance and advice from educators, parents, and the public, the office of public instruction will review the 1989 program area standards and will recommend revisions to the model learner goals associated with the Montana accreditation standards. Model learner goals to integrate instructional technology across the curriculum will be recommended. Technology will be used as the primary tool to maintain effective communication with educators and the public across Montana.

Objective 2: By January 1999, an increased number of Montana schools will link their educational reform efforts with workforce development and ecouomic development by engaging community members, business, labor, parents, and schools in designing a comprehensive, integrated system of education and workforce preparation that reflects local needs and that is available to all students.

Performance measures:

Revised learner goals are integrated into locally developed curriculum models in all program areas over the 4 years, fiscal years 1998 through 2001.

Long term - local assessments are developed to measure student performance and district progress toward achieving model learner goals. Assessment data will assist in the establishment of indicators and benchmarks for the Montana education profile.

Long term - effectiveness will be measured by the number of schools demonstrating an increased number of students who are proficient in core academic subjects.

The number of sustained, intensive professioual development opportunities for educators is increased by 30% by fiscal year 2001. Baseline data will be collected for the 1997-98 school year.

By fiscal year 2001, 30% of the school districts in Montana will have adopted state-of-the-art models for the improvement of curriculum, assessment, instruction, and integrated technology. Baseline data will be collected for the 1997-98 school year.

The number of schools that integrate school-to-work opportunities into existing educational reform initiatives and existing vocational education programs is increased by 30% by fiscal year 2001. Baseline data will be collected in the 1997-98 school year.

The number of students with significant involvement in school-to-work programs is increased. Baseline data will be collected in the 1997-98 school year.

The office of public instruction will identify model curricula and training in applied academics and work-based learning and will increase access to these models to improve its programs and increase workplace experiences linked to the classroom.

The number of students who have opportunities to integrate academic and occupational learning through school-to-work, applied learning opportunities, vocational education, or work-based learning will increase by 30% by fiscal year 2001. Baseline data will be collected in the 1997-98 school year.

Goal II: Provide the public with a means of assessing the quality and achievements of the K-12 education system in Montana.

Objective 1: By February 1999, the office of public instruction will develop and disseminate a Montana education profile to the Montana public. The profile will be developed with assistance and advice from educators, parents, and the public and will contain indicators and measures of the effectiveness of Montana's K-12 system in the areas of students, staff, academic achievement, finance, and educational programs. Technology will be used as the primary tool to maintain effective communication with educators and the public across Montana.

Objective 2: During fiscal years 1999 and 2000, the office of public instruction will provide technical assistance to districts and communities to assist with the development of local profiles of school and program effectiveness. Technology will provide the primary means of communication.

Performance measures:

The first Montana educational profile will be completed by February 1999. The profile will report the status and achievements of schools or districts in peer groupings and provide a state and national context for comparison.

By July 2000, 20% of Montana's 469 school districts will voluntarily participate in a pilot project to develop, publish, and distribute local school profiles. All districts will complete, publish, and distribute local profiles by July 2001.

A survey of state and local policymakers, educators, and community members will indicate that the education profile is accessible, meaningful, and valuable as a tool for school improvement at the local level.

A survey will indicate that the public is able to identify and draw conclusions from the indicators of educational quality and perceive that it can be actively engaged in the school improvement process.

Goal III: Promote the effective use of technology resources for expanding K-12 educational opportunities.

Objective 1: By July 1, 1999, the office of public instruction will have increased the use of electronic communication technologies to disseminate information on school improvement, professional development opportunities, and education-related data.

Performance measures:

By July 1997, the office of public instruction will add two additional toll-free lines to the MSTNET bulletin board system. By October 1997, user logins via the toll-free lines will increase by 600 calls each day, thereby doubling the number of logins to the bulletin board system.

In the 1997-98 school year, baseline survey data will be gathered to measure the integration of technology into the classroom. In subsequent years, survey data will measure the advances in this area.

By January 1999, user participation in educational conferences on METNET will increase by 50%. The 1996-97 school year will provide baseline data.

Goal IV: Improve access to and management of information and data related to K-12 education.

Objective 1: By October 1998, the office of public instruction will expand and improve data collection and management, electronic transmission of data, analysis procedures, and dissemination processes. Improved data collection and management procedures will ensure the accuracy and timeliness of data necessary for reporting indicators and measures to the Montana public.

Objective 3: By January 1999, the data identified for the first statewide Montana education profile will be produced by the office of public instruction in a timely, accurate, comparable, and cost-effective manner.

Objective 3: The process developed by the office of public instruction for gathering and managing education data will decrease processing time and increase access to elementary and secondary school data for educational decisionmaking.

Performance measures:

By July 1998, common definitions, standards, and procedures will be identified and disseminated to ensure accuracy of data collections and cost-effective data-gathering decisions.

Processing time will improve for data currently collected by districts and the office of public instruction. The 1996-97 school year will serve as a baseline for comparison.

Education-related data and information will be available to the public in a variety of standard formats (both electronic and printed) and in a variety of locations, including the METNET bulletin board system, libraries, and schools.

Surveys will indicate that policymakers, educators, and the general public recognize that the data provided assists in public decisions.

The office of public instruction may distribute amounts required from the appropriation in item 2c to public school districts for the purpose of providing education costs in day-treatment services.

Items 2b-h are biennial appropriations.

Item 2a is for school technology as provided in 20-9-534. The amount expended may not exceed the amount paid into the general fund under the provisions of 20-9-343(3)(a)(ii).

If House Bill No. 104 fails, item 2g is increased by $933,759 each year.
